

STARTS WORK IN A WEEK

Toronto Man Signs Contract for Ottawa Avenue Main Sewer.

Mr. C. W. Dill, of Toronto, the contractor whose tender was accepted for the Ottawa Avenue main sewer, in the city of Ottawa, has signed the contract, and the Advertiser stated that he will commence work about Wednesday next.

Mr. Dill fears a shortage of men, however, and expects that he will have to bring a number of laborers from Toronto.

Mr. Dill is not afraid of that part of the sewer which gave so much trouble to Beckett & Wade. He says that he considered the matter carefully, and while the work may be slow he will accomplish it.

ARTISTIC RECITAL

Mr. J. Parnell Morris and Assisting Talent at Dundas Center Church.

The recital in Dundas Center Church last evening given by J. P. Morris, organist, assisted by Miss Annie Bell, soprano; Miss Alice M. Hall, contralto; and Mr. Arthur Ostler, violinist, of Hamilton, was most artistic.

Mr. Morris presented a varied and difficult programme, and showed that he is one of the best exponents of the legitimate school of organ playing. He has a well-developed technique and shows special ability in registration. Compositions were given by Gullmott, Dabola, Dabola, Lemare, Vincent, Bartlett and Mozart.

Miss Bell's beautiful soprano voice was never heard to better advantage than in Adams' "The Pilgrim," and she was compelled to respond to an encore.

Miss Alice Hall sang "The Violin Player" (with obligato), by Horne, and her rich contralto voice showed to the greatest advantage. In response to the continued applause, she repeated the song.

Mr. Arthur Ostler, violinist, is an artist of exceptional ability. He plays with much grace, and is possessed of fine temperament. He played "Romance" by Svendsen; "Adoration" by Borowski, and as an encore, "Song of Sunset" by Manning.

REDLEAF RELEASED

Couldn't Furnish Sureties, But Judge Allowed Him To Go.

Louis Redleaf, the young man who was recently fined $20 by Magistrate Love for assaulting a young lady in the Chinese Cafe, appeared before Judge Elliott this morning, and declared that he could not furnish the $400 sureties to keep the peace, which were required by the magistrate.

The young woman who had been assaulted was present, and stated that she did not want to see Redleaf kept in jail, and had no objections to his being freed, providing he did not molest her.

Judge Elliott decided to allow Redleaf to go on his own recognizance.

THE CIGARETTE HABIT

Topic of Discussion by the W. C. T. U.—Some Startling Statements.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held yesterday in Somerset Hall, President Mrs. D. A. McDermid in the chair. After the usual opening exercises Rev. James Livingstone, of Wellington Street Methodist Church, gave a most interesting and cheering discourse from Luke v. 4, to 11.

A vote of thanks was passed for the kind services rendered to the union when the members entertained the Normal students, by Mr. Ora Newton and Miss Lancelotti with their delightful music, and by Rev. E. R. Black, Mr. D. A. McDermid and the two Masters Edwards, in aiding with the decorations.

Several ladies read short papers on the topic of the day, "Cigarettes." From these the following extracts will prove interesting.

"Moral insanity" is the scientific name given the contagion said to be responsible for the shocking crimes of the many boy criminals who are crowding our prisons and reform schools. In many cases with this habit of tobacco-using, especially when in the form of cigarettes. When a boy begins using them he tries to deceive his parents. When the habit becomes fixed, he steals, if necessary, to satisfy his desire, and adds this sin of disobedience and deception. Such a boy loses his ambition and self-respect. In school work he becomes sullen and boorish, and untidiness of dress and person is early apparent. Soul and body-destroying practices generally flourish in groups. One seldom meets a victim of the liquor habit who is not also a slave of the tobacco habit. The absolute inability of cigarette smokers to tell the truth is frequently observed by teachers and others.

W. G. Franches, superintendent of U. S. Essex County truant school at Lawrence, says: "Seventy-three per cent of a total of 74 boys now in this institution were cigarette smokers before coming here, and I believe the cigarette is the worst evil a boy has to contend with."

"In the United States alone 220,000 boys and young men under twenty-one years of age, were sent to the prisons and reformatories last year, and still legislators fear to do anything to save the rising generation, lest it interfere with the great manufacturing interest of making these paper-covered coffin nails." An article in Pearson's Magazine, of July, states that "Over a hundred million cigarettes are sold weekly in the United Kingdom in penny packets alone. When the Boer war broke out, in the Manchester district alone, 11,000 volunteered to fight for their country. Eight thousand were at once rejected as physically unfit, and only 1,200 finally passed the doctors. The chief cause of unfitness was proved to be smoking as boys and young men. A breeder of cattle, who got only 1,200 physically well-developed animals out of 11,000, reared to full age, would call a halt, and begin to think, and this is what the British nation must do or go to pieces."

MAJOR MILLS

REFUSED GRANT

pay the expenses of entertaining the soldiers, the expenditure of the fund to be under the supervision of the civic committee.

Major Mills indignantly refused the offer. He declared he would not be a party to any such grant.

Ald. Stevely explained to the major that as the estimates for the year had been decided upon, the committee would have grave difficulty in putting a large grant through the council. He thought $300 could be secured when a larger grant would be defeated.

Hot Shot.

Major Mills retorted that the city should be ashamed to propose such a grant. It might mean the securing of a few more votes, he said, but so far as he was concerned, he would have nothing to do with such a paltry amount. He declared he would rather go ahead and run the programme without any civic assistance whatever.

Ald. Beattie pointed out that when the visit of the Forty-eighth was broached, the council was given to understand that the city would not be called upon to pay anything toward the cost of entertaining the troops. Consequently, nothing had been placed in the estimates for such a purpose, and whatever sum was now granted would have to come out of the incidental fund. He considered the case had been misrepresented to the city, and under the circumstances he felt the grant of $300 to be a very reasonable one.

Still Dissatisfied.

Major Mills still hung out for a larger grant. He said the militiamen were not asking the council to make a grant. They were simply allowing the council to do something toward the cause if it saw fit. In the past, the council had done nothing toward such purposes, and he felt it was time they loosened up.

Capt. Campbell was of the opinion that the city should make a larger grant. In view of the fact that on which would keep the people at home and give Londoners a gala day, the city should be willing, if necessary, to pay the whole shot. Capt. Becher differed with the previous speaker. He said he thought the city was doing well to offer $300. If any one was to blame, it was Major Mills for his failure to lay the facts before the council previous to the striking of the tax rate. Had he intimated that the city would be called upon to pay anything toward the cost of the visit, the council would have provided a sum for the purpose in its estimates.

Not a Square Deal.

Ald. Saunders pointed out that the council should have had a clear understanding on the matter. He didn't think Major Mills had given the city a square deal by coming in at the last minute and asking for a large grant after the estimates had gone through.

Ald. Garratt thought the city should make a grant of $500 toward the cost of entertaining the regiment. It would pay the city to be liberal, because Londoners would be kept at home on the 24th, and large numbers of visitors to the city.

The militiamen then retired and the committee discussed the matter among themselves.

A Personal Glorification.

Ald. Matthews declared that as he understood the affair, it would prove more or less of a personal glorification of Major Mills, and he warmly resented the remarks made by the latter regarding the city's penuriousness. He declared it looked like an attempt to hold the city up in case things did not go as Major Mills desired.

Mayor Judd and other members of the committee talked in a similar strain, and finally an adjournment was made until more information on the subject of the Highlanders' visit can be secured.

PUBLIC SCHOOL DRAWING

Winners in Grades 1, 2 and 3 To Be Announced on Saturday.

Ten of the public schools of the city have submitted drawings to The Advertiser in the competition for Grades I, II, and III. Much of the work is admirable. The six best drawings will be published on Saturday.

The drawings for all the other grades should be handed in this week. The lessons were given in last Saturday's Advertiser, the subject for Grades IV, V, and VI, being a bird, and for Grades VII, and VIII, a teapot.

The plan is for each teacher to select six best drawings in his or her class. All the drawings in any one school can be sent to this office in one parcel for convenience. In any school there are one or more Advertiser carrier boys, who can be entrusted with the delivery of the parcel. The next set of lessons will be published in Saturday's Advertiser.

MAY BE SECURED FOR FAIR.

Bennett's Vaudeville Theater was packed to the doors last night, Berzac's animal circus proving a great drawing card. The house laughed itself almost into a spasm when the famous mule act was put on. Berzac carries a number of people with him to help along the show by attempting to ride the mule, but last night a local man, Fred Johnston, took a chance to earn the prize. Berzac announced that he would give $10 a minute to anyone who would ride Maud, and $5 to the one who made the best attempt. Johnston succeeded in winning the $5. He was on the stage several minutes, and the audience had more fun in that time than they could have had in a column article. The act has proven such a tremendous hit that Secretary Hunt, of the Western Fair Board, is attempting to secure it for the big show here in the fall.

tralian squadron, namely, £200,000, may be applied in the form of a direct contribution by Australia of men and material and service. He denied any knowledge, privately or otherwise, of any intention or even suggestion to hold an unofficial conference of colonial premiers to draw up a preference scheme that the self-governing colonies would adopt towards one another, independent of their attitude to the mother country.

Mr. Deakin was a member of the colonial conference nearly twenty years ago, when Australia undertook to contribute towards the cost of the Australian squadron. Now, without creating an Australian navy, he thinks it better that this money should be spent directly on defense works and forces, so as to give it a distinctively Australian character.

THEY LEARNED THE LESSON

Haldane Tells Botha Britain Will Not Be Caught Napping Again.

London, April 24.—It is noticeable that Premier Laurier has observed complete silence during the discussion of plans for defense at the sittings of the Imperial Conference, every other member spoke on this subject. It is understood that Canada does not favor participation in the schemes for imperial defense. General Botha, when the question of naval defense arose, said he could only give a biased opinion since, on an historic occasion, Great Britain had barred the Transvaal's way to the sea.

The presence of General Botha continues to supply the conference with some dramatic moments, as on Saturday, when War Secretary Haldane, sitting opposite and looking straight into General Botha's eyes, confessed that Great Britain had entered upon the Boer war without adequate preparation, but that the lesson of preparation had been well learned since by both the late and present governments.

FREIGHT SHIP BURNED

Destroyed at Berth in New York at a Loss of $175,000.

New York, April 24.—The harbor men fired a hard fight today with a fire, which destroyed the freight steamer Pioneer, causing a loss of $175,000. The Pioneer arrived here last night from Newark, N. J., with a miscellaneous cargo of cotton, jute, red-lead, cylinders of oil, carbonyl of acid, and cylinders of carbonic acid gas for transhipment. The fire started when the steamer was lying at her pier in the North River. When the fire broke out, the steamer was almost entirely enveloped in flames. The fumes and dense black smoke which rolled up from the burning steamer made the firemen's work extremely difficult. They worked in relays, and several of them were overcome. The flames were prevented from spreading to the pier, and other adjoining property.

$1,000,000 FOR CHARITY.

Pittsburg, April 24.—Dying in the belief that he had bequeathed about $1,500,000 to charity, John Porterfield, the Allegheny banker, really left about $1,000,000 for philanthropic purposes. When Mr. Porterfield made his will in 1904 he estimated his estate at $400,000. After his death a few months ago his executor discovered that the boom in stocks, bonds and real estate had increased the value of the estate to at least $1,000,000. Mr. Porterfield's only relative is a sister, for whom he provided by leaving $150,000 in trust.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Beecher, stockbroker, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Fraser & Carrington today:

New York, April 24.—Commission house business was again small. The bidding up of Union Pacific at the opening induced some heavy selling by professionals and a reaction was quite sudden, although about noon the same stock started in an upward movement again. Amalgamated Copper was heavy, owing to some liquidation in Boston copper stocks and a credence to excitement in copper manufacturing quarters. Crop damage from the west seems not to lesson, but show prospects of increase. There is a dearth of special news, and very little public interest in the market. Most attention is concentrated on the movements of Union Pacific.
