I'm sitting at my desk, George;
Before me, on the floor,
There lies a worn-out font of type,
Full twenty thousand score;
And many months have passed, George,
Since they were bright and new.
And many are the tales they've told—
The false, the strange, the true.

Their beauty has all gone, George, You scarcely now may trace Upon the snowy medium. The likeness of their face. They mind me of a man, George, Whose morn of life was full Of promise, but at evening's close Was desolate and dull.

Of earthquakes and of suicides;
Of failing crops of cotton;
Of bank defaulters, broken banks,
And banking systems rotten;
Of builers bursting—steam-boats snagged;
Of riots, due is fought;
Of riots with their prey escaped;
Of theeves with booty caught;

Of land-slides and of water-spouts;
Of ants and allignors;
Of screens in the briny deep;
Of gints sweet polatices;
Of children lost and children found;
Finances in disorder;
Of fights among the firemen,
And troubles on the border.

They've told us of a n-tion, George,
Bent sorrowing in the dust,
For one whom she had called to fill
Her highest, dearest trust;
Of sparkling crowns for youthful brows;
Of Royal coronations;
Of plans to rid the earth of kings;
Of temp'rance reformations.

Of flood, and fire, and accident,
Those worn-out types have told;
And how the postulence has swept.
The youthful and the old;
Of marriages, of births and deaths;
Of things to please or vex us;
Of one man's jumping overboard,
Another gone to Texas!

They've told how long sweet Summer days
Have laded from our view;
How Autumn's chilling wind hath swept
The leaf-crowned forest through;
How Winter's reign hath come and gone—
Dark reign of storm and strife;
And how the smiling Spring hath warmed
The pale flowers back to life.

I can't pretend to mention half
My linky friends have told,
Since, shining, bright, and beautiful,
They issued from the modid;—
How unto some they joy have brought,
To others grief and tears!
Yet faithfully they record kept
Of fast-receding years!

SUMDIARY OF AFFIDATAT.

Wen. BROOKE, Messenger, of 2. Union street.

Southwark, London, maketh oaib and saith, that he (this deponent) was efficied with FIFTEEN RUNNING ULCEUR to it is left any, and ulcerated sores and wounds on both legs, for which deponent was admitted an ent-door patient at the hietocoliton Hospital, in April, 1841, where he continued for nearly four weeks. Unable to receive cure there, the deponent sught relief at the time following hospitals:—King College Irospital in May, for five weeks—at Guy's Hospital in July, for six weeks; and at Charing Cross Hospital at the end of August, for some more weeks which deponent left, being in a far worse conditions than when he had quitted Guy's, where Sir BRANSIY COOPER, and other medical offerrs of the establishment had told deponent that the only chance of saving his life was ta LOSE HIS ARM! The deponent netweepon called up on Dr. Bright, chief pkysician of Guy's, who, on viewing deponent's condition, kindly and liberally said, 'I am utterly at a less what to do for you! hat here is half a Somergen's got to Mr. HOLLOWAY, and try what effect his care. You can let me see you again." This umprejidiced advice was followed by the deponent, and a perfect care effected in three weeks, by the use alone of HOLLOWAY'S FILLS and ONTMEET, after four Hespitals had failed! When Dr. Bright was shown by the deponent, the result of his advice and charity, he said, "I om hoth astonished and end delighted for I thought that if I ever saw you again, and it is that the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was that Hanson-house of the City of London, this was that Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, this was the Hanson-house of the City of London, the Hanson house of the City of London, the Hanson house of Piles; the Pills, in all the above cases, ought to be used with the Ointment; as by this means cures will be effected with a much greater certainty, and in half the time that it would require by using the Ointment alone. The Ointment is proved to be a certain remarked to the bites of moschettes, Sand-files, Chiegofoot, Yaws, and Coro-hay.

The PILLS are not only the finest remedy known when used with the Ointment, but as a General Medicine there is nothing equal to them. In acrown affections they will be found of the greatest service. These Pills are, without exception, the finest Puillery Robert of the Blood ever discovered, and GHOUT to be USED BY ALL!!!
