The Man In The Street

A city man's dream of uttermost happiness includes enough street cars to carry the crowd at rush hours on a wet day, but he should reflect that it's generally the opposite of the dream that comes true.

Countrymen's prophecies say that berries will be scarce this year; we are looking forward to a good season on the prune market.

CAMP SUSSEX TIME IS NEAR

Three Thousand Men in Tented City Two Weeks Hence

MAKE-UP OF THE CAMP

Few Changes in Officers in Command of Units—Growth of the Signaling Corps—The Contracts For Supplies

Two weeks from Tuesday 8,000 or more men will move on Camp Sussex. They will take up their quarters there to remain from June 28 until July 10, training in military tactics and general manoeuvres of war.

With the exception of the Corps of Guides, who will march from Canterbury to Edmonstone instead of going to Sussex, this year's camp will be made up on about the same lines as in other years.

The units which will encamp at Sussex will be as follows: 8th Princess Louise Hussars, commanded by Colonel McDougall; 28th N. B. Dragoons, under Colonel H. H. McLean; 10th Field Battery, Colonel W. C. Good; 12th Field Battery, Major R. Crocker; 19th Field Battery, Major Anderson; Engineers, Major W. W. McKeen; Army Medical Corps, Colonel T. D. Walker; Army Service Corps, Major McKeen; Signaling Corps, Major Leavitt; and the Infantry Brigade, under Colonel J. D. B. F. McKean, composed of the 67th regiment, Colonel G. D. Perkins; Colonel H. F. McLeod; 7th Colonel G. W. Meservey; and 74th regiment, Colonel D. W. Wetmore.

It will be noticed that there are a few changes in the command of the units under canvas also, a section of the Signaling Corps from Charlottetown, P. E. I. It will be noticed that there are a few changes in the command of the units under canvas also, a section of the Signaling Corps from Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Supplies The contracts for supplies are an important feature at Camp Sussex, for with 8,000 or more men under canvas the figures run well up on the dollar sign. For the 1914 camp the contracts have been awarded as follows: Flour, J. A. McArthur; meat, G. B. Fenwick; forage, W. H. Culbert; fuel, T. H. Brown; and groceries, provisions, etc., J. A. McArthur.

FAIRVILLE BUTCHERS ARE THE FIRST TO AGREE

Plan of One Night a Week Closing—Some Things Needing Attention

The committee endeavoring to have the stores close one night a week have already interviewed the butchers and have secured their consent, which is a good start. On Monday other merchants will be visited and a hearty response from all lines is looked for.

The Christian Endeavor Society of St. Columba Presbyterian church was visited by one of the sister societies from St. John last evening and an enjoyable time spent. Refreshments were served.

It was reported that the board of trade at the meeting just closed was to have taken up the matter of bringing the needs of a watering cart before the highway board and also directing the attention of the county member in the legislature to the fact that residents of this section would like to have the work on the bridge pushed more energetically in order that the job be completed before next winter.

Reports of the meeting do not mention either of these items of business but it is hoped by the public that these important measures will not be overlooked.

The amateur theatrical show which was to be presented this week by the Glee Club connected with the Church of the Good Shepherd has been postponed owing to the illness of one of the principals.

MARRIAGES AND BIRTHS During the week eleven marriages and the birth of seven infants, four boys and three girls, have been reported to Registrar John B. Jones.

THE BASEBALL OUTLOOK BETTER

Here Is Halifax Looking For Games With St. John

OTHER VISITING TEAMS

Brocton Blues Negotiating For a Tour of Provinces—May Be Nine Games Here; So The Situation is Brighter

The local baseball situation is beginning to shape up along the lines originally planned and before the season is much farther advanced, baseball of high order is anticipated for the city.

When the negotiations were in progress for the formation of the Maritime League, much enthusiasm was worked up over the prospects of having St. John and Halifax teams pitted against one another. It was whispered by those who were on the inside that, even when the original league was knocked in the head, the interest of Halifax was aroused and their enthusiasm would not be easily cooled.

And so it comes to pass that, St. John's reputation having gone abroad, Halifax is anxious to try conclusions with one of the local teams. A telegram from Halifax was received last evening by the local management asking if games could be arranged in the sister city between St. John and Halifax teams for June 12 and 13.

Halifax must be prepared to put a good snappy team on the field and it is not necessary to say that they will not be able to take a fall out of the St. John players with any degree of ease.

Following upon the announcement yesterday that the Brocton Blues were negotiating for a tour of the Maritime Provinces, comes the word that we will have other fast pro. and semi-pro. teams during the season. The St. John executive is now dealing with a communication from John B. Colton, of the camp yards, Portsmouth, N. H., who is planning on gathering together an aggregation of players, including some of the best players, and touring the provinces with them. Although no definite arrangements have yet been made, it is supposed that a deal will be completed with Mr. Colton whereby his team will meet an aggregation of local stars. If the matter is brought to a satisfactory conclusion, good baseball is assured.

Plans for the visit of the Brocton club are now under consideration. It has been suggested that the team might be entertained at nine games here, in three series of three each. This might be played on the arrival of the aggregation in the city, three more on return after a trip to the western section of Nova Brunswick and east of Maine, and a third after playing in Nova Scotia.

The baseball outlook certainly promises to exceed the previous expectations both of the fans and those who are behind the game here and if everything goes without a hitch, it is yet hoped that there will be a good season even in spite of the disappointment felt over the failure of the Maritime League.

THANKS, VERY MUCH When the members of the Thompson-Woods Stock Company and the local newspaper writers decided to play a series of three baseball games, there was a supper as a consideration for the winners of two. But the games were so drawn out that it became impossible owing to the end of the actors' engagement to have the supper, much to the regret of both sides. The winners, however, have received from their opponents on the diamond a tidy remembrance in cigars which are acknowledged with thanks, and are a cause for many pleasant reminiscences.
