Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic is a fit for treason, stratagems and spoils. The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder. A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

ST. PETER'S MISSION

Hundreds of Men Hear Father Scully Preach on Moral Sin

Another large male congregation filled St. Peter's church last evening at the end of the special services in the mission for the men of the parish. The attendance thus far at both morning and evening services has been most gratifying. This evening two separate services will be conducted, both beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The main body of the church the married men's service will be held, while downstairs in the chapel the single men will convene.

The sermon last evening by Rev. Edward Scully, C.S.B., was a masterful, eloquent discourse on "Moral Sin." He commanded the instant attention of his large body of listeners and retained it throughout. The speaker defined moral sin as "any grievous offense or transgression against the law of God, in thought, word, deed or omission," and then dealt with each in detail, dwelling at some length upon sins of impure thinking, blasphemy, drunkenness, improper or other wrongful actions, and with neglect of religious duties. He spoke of the hatred of Jesus for mortal sin, and urged frequent communion to avoid sin and the occasions of sin. In dealing terms he denounced the drunkard and his actions, describing him as a loathsome creature, disgusting in the eyes of God and man, abusing the graces bestowed upon him by the Lord, and rendering his home and family impoverished, and conducting himself in manner degrading the lowest basest of the field. For the sake of a glass of liquor he would forsake his God, who had given up his life on Calvary's cross to redeem and save him. For the sake of that one taste of liquor he would sell his immortal soul. For just one glass of the drinker's favorite brand he would forget his Creator, give himself to the care of the devil, and send himself and his immortal soul for all eternity to Hell. And it was the same with the man who sinned against the holy virtue of purity, he who for a momentary indulgence in his passionate desires would allow his soul to be stained with mortal sin and thus rendered unfit for entrance to the realms of God.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET TO NEW PHYSICAL INSTRUCTOR

C. D. Howard, the new physical director of the Y. M. C. A., was the guest of a banquet in Bond's restaurant last night when more than forty members and officials of the association, present to give him a hearty welcome. The banquet was conducted under the management of the Senior League, Committee, F. F. Falkins as president and R. A. Penlington, secretary.

The president of the association, W. C. Cross, was in the chair and among those present were G. E. Harbour, W. S. Fisher, J. A. Dykeman, J. T. McKeown, and A. W. Robb, and D. D. Milligan, secretary of the association. A toast to the king was responded to by the chairman, F. A. Dykeman proposed a toast to the new physical director, C. D. Howard, to which the latter replied by thanking the members for the pleasant welcome they had accorded him. He spoke of the work of the institution and particularly of the branch of the work, and asked the co-operation and support of all members. A toast to the new boys' secretary proposed by R. A. Penlington met with very hearty applause. Mr. Howard thanked the boys for their thoughtfulfulness and spoke of his particular department in the association. Mr. Howard is only recently taken the position in the Y. M. C. A. here and so far has made many friends.

The remainder of the programme was carried out as follows: Piano solo, D. D. Milligan; mandolin duet, H. E. McCoy and W. McDonald; toast, Our Association, proposed by W. S. Fisher and responded to by G. E. Harbour and A. W. Robb; mandolin duet, H. E. McCoy and W. McDonald.

Mr. Howard has been in the city but a short time and has thus far made a splendid impression on the boys of the association. He will begin his work tomorrow when he will conduct his first class here.

HOW TO DO IT

A "Man Doctor" unconditionally declares that women do everything rather less perfectly than men. They don't cook so well, they don't make dresses quite so well, they don't (so we have heard, though the medical adviser is dumb on this point), trim hats quite so well as a man who sets himself to millinery.

If you have a feeling that your wife doesn't cook so excellently as she ought just you take home a bottle of H. P. Sauce tonight. Suggest to her in the most possible manner, that you like H. P. with cold meats, that its good with eggs and bacon, delicious with crust of bread and cheese—unparalleled as a flavoring to insipid gravies, ragouts or made up dishes. In this, as in most other domestic matters, a grain of help is worth a bushel of fault-finding. But you should be quite sure that it is H. P. Sauce that you take home with you.

The chief telephone operator at Sagou was recently called up by a subscriber who wished to know if she were a good speller. She said she felt fairly proficient in that line, whereupon the subscriber asked her to spell "delicately," explaining, that he wanted to paint a sign and did not know how to spell the word.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease. It cures Catarrh in its various stages, and gives the patient strength by building up the constitution. The proposition here is much more than a cure. It is a cure that it falls to cure. FORTUNE HUNTER IS GOOD PLAY AND WELL PRESENTED

First Time in St. John of Recent New York Success and it is Enjoyed in Opera House

The Fortune Hunter, a four act play from the pen of Winchell Smith, was presented with much success at the Opera House last night before a fair audience.

The play is one of those which has had a long Broadway success, and is excellent in every detail. It tells of a young man, down in life, who takes work like poison, and who on the advice of his chum leaves New York and goes to Redville, Pa., in the hope that there he may be successful and marry a girl worth at least a million.

According to the rules laid down, he is given up smoking, drinking and using bad language, so to speak every Sunday, and in fact leads the life of a model young man until he lands in prison. He is to wear good clothes and be the village swell. He takes the advice, and with the aid of his chum goes to Redville. There he enters into partnership with the owner of a drug store, and is very successful. His partner in the drug business is also an inventor, and one of his inventions nets him more than $50,000. The "Fortune Hunter" in the meantime has fallen in love with his partner's daughter. The engagement with the banker's daughter is broken off at the last moment, and he then transfers his affections to his partner's daughter. Happily, the "Hunter" coming into a lot of money by the newly made match.

The weight of the production falls up on Nathaniel Duncan, the Fortune Hunter, better known to his friends as Nat. In this role John Meehan was all that could be desired. His portrayal of the easy city chap, down in luck and feeling rather blue, and then of the hustling business man, and likewise cheerful, was excellent. The part is a difficult one to play, it is easily overdone, but in the hands of Mr. Meehan it received full justice.

Mr. Meehan is supported by an excellent company, helping to make the production a success. Henry Kellogg, a rising young financier and Nat's best friend, found a champion in Russell Randall. He has a fine stage appearance, being a big, well built fellow, and he plays the part of the broker and right hand man to Nat in a manner true to life.

C. N. Covert as Sam Graham, the old village druggist and later a partner with Nat in the drug business, also did excellent work. He played the part with much ease and naturalness. Miss Marion Johnson as Miss Bettie Graham, the druggist's daughter, is a charming little actress with a splendid stage appearance, and in a little work she had to do showed herself to be capable

GENERAL OROZCO'S DAUGHTER APPEALS TO PRESIDENT TAFT TO SAVE GRANDFATHER'S LIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—Fearful lest the fortunes of war toss her father into the hands of the United States as it has her grandfather, Elena, the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of General Pascual Orozco, who is living with her mother, brothers and sisters in temporary exile in Los Angeles, laboriously penned a pathetic letter to President Taft, in which she begged for her grandfather's life and told the chief executive of this nation that her father was a soldier fighting for his country and not a murderer. The letter was written on the front steps of her home at Twenty-seventh street and Grand avenue. Her brother Daniel sat beside her. Elena's letter was turned to the president in Spanish, for it is in her native tongue that she can best express herself on paper, although she speaks the English language almost fluently. "Dear Mr. President," she wrote, "my papa is not a murderer. He is a brave soldier fighting for his country. Please don't let the American soldiers give my grandpapa, to Mr. Madero, for Mr. Madero would shoot him, and that would kill poor grandpa."

of a much better part. The role of Josie Lookwood, the banker's daughter, in love with Nat, was played by Miss Evelyn Silver, and she brought everything out of the part that was possible. There are fourteen characters in the play, but most of the work is entrusted to the principals. However, those who played the minor parts played them well and helped materially in the success of the production. The stage settings are very good, not very elaborate but true to life, the drug store scene in the third act being especially good. The store contains everything from gum to diamond dyes, and is equipped with an up-to-date soda fountain. The settings for the other acts are also good. Taken all in all the play is a good one, and is deserving of a larger patronage. It will be presented tonight and tomorrow night with a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN: WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER

LYRIC.

"Those guys can certainly move their feet some." The above expression was heard from a youngster leaving the Lyric Theatre yesterday afternoon and referred to the efforts of the Six Imperial Dancers. In these few words the work of the sextette is well described, they certainly do know how to move their feet, and as dances they excel. It's been some time since a more pleasing attraction and one that is bound to find favor with all classes has been presented here, and the pleasure of the audience yesterday manifested their appreciation to no small degree.

Attracted in many ways and by character the entire six open the act with a classic and novel step to the tune of a rag time melody, which they also sing exceedingly well. A buck dance is next offered, closely followed by a grotesque number, while the closing item, a fast moving clog, set off in costume of Terodors is not only rich in execution but somewhat of a distinct treat. The clever work of the boys make them well worthy of the name they bear "Imperial."

The pictures presented yesterday were most interesting and included a two-part Reliance western drama, at Cripple Creek.

AUTO OWNERS WILL REPAIR THE ROADS

Vigorous protests against the bad condition of the provincial roads were registered at the meeting of the New Brunswick Automobile Association. Members told of having to make repairs to the roads before they could proceed. The association decided to place guide and warning signs on all roads leading into the city.

NEWS OF MONCTON

Moncton, Sept. 30.—About 250 delegates are expected to attend the annual meeting of the United Baptists of the maritime provinces which meets in the First Baptist church, Moncton, Saturday, Oct. 13. The ministerial institute will be held on the day prior to the meeting of the general conference. The sessions are expected to last four or five days.

Moncton Division, Sons of Temperance, celebrated the seventh anniversary of the order tonight. Among the speakers were Rev. G. A. Lawson, past worshipful patriarch of British North America; McCarthy, E. B. Hicks and Fred G. Moore (Hopedale). An interesting programme was carried out.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL

At a special meeting of the board of school trustees last evening the matter of the establishment of technical schools in the city was discussed and a special committee consisting of R. B. Emerson and Dr. H. S. Bridges was appointed to go to Halifax and get information on the technical school there. It is likely that this committee will report at the next regular meeting of the board, when it is probable that some definite action will be taken toward the opening of a school here.
