

prayer the Rev. Mr. Kent was introduced in a short and appropriate speech, by the Rev. Dr. Richey, and delivered a most animated and powerful address, which was received with marked attention and apparent delight by all present. A few observations were made by the Rev. Mr. Murdoch and others, and the meeting closed. Many regrets were expressed that the notice had been so short, and the meeting in consequence so small.

On the following day (the 21st) we drove to Newport; but here a heavier rain interposed to lessen the attendance. A few, however, from Avondale, who had to come two miles, and others around the place of meeting at Oakland, were profited and delighted with the heart-stirring address of the Rev. Mr. Kent. About noon we left for Lower Horton, and arrived in good time to attend the meeting. Here also the notice was imperfect and the meeting small, but as interesting as the others, and as highly appreciated. The Rev. Dr. Richey, Rev. Dr. Crawley, Rev. F. Smallwood, and others, took part in the proceedings, though a much greater portion of the time was occupied by the address of the Rev. Mr. Kent.

On Monday, the 24th, a much larger audience assembled at the Baptist church in Wolfville, notice having been given on the Sabbath. The Rev. Dr. Cramp, Rev. Dr. Crawley, and several other ministers and influential persons were present, some of whom took part in the proceedings, and gave a cheering and hearty welcome to the Rev. Mr. Kent, who, in return gave an affectionate expression of his appreciation of the respect and kindness shown to him, here as elsewhere, both personally and in his official capacity. In his address he exhibited the British and Foreign Bible Society and its operations in their most striking light; and by calculations and facts of thrilling interest, showed its magnitude and importance, and the beneficial effects which have resulted, and must result, from labours so unparalleled and disinterested, directed to an object so noble and so comprehensive. At the close, I was desired by the Rev. Dr.
