Mr. Meeson's Will.

CHAPTER XVII. (Continued) About seven years ago I had a humor break ont upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringy orm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No tess than tweive st the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failled. I will not give you a list of their hames, but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France, and all of the failure of the city, and had not will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France, and it had give you have had an opportunity of bed g smong good ductors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June, I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be the season.
