Lost His Leg
Daniel Collins was again in the police court Saturday and was charged with drunkenness. Policeman Armstrong told of the arrest. Collins, it seems, had a wooden leg but kicked this off when arrested and had to be hauled to the lockup. His wooden leg was still missing Saturday morning. He was remanded until today when other witnesses will be called.

Miss Doherty Honored
At an official court held by their majesties King George and Queen Mary, in Buckingham Palace, London, last week, Miss Agatha Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Doherty of Abbey Court, Eglinton, Toronto, was present upon a commendation invitation. The young lady who had this honor bestowed upon her is a sister of Manning W. Doherty of St. John, and will visit her brother here upon her return to Canada. She graduated recently with triple degrees in the medical profession after a course of study in London, and is the third lady to achieve this distinction.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Alexander Warren
The death of Mrs. Alexander Warren took place yesterday morning at her home, 131 Main street. Mrs. Warren had suffered for some time from the effects of a broken hip. She leaves besides her husband, three daughters, Mrs. George Connor, West St. John, and the Misses Minnie and Hazel at home.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from her late residence.

A REFINED DISTINCTION.
Many fox-stock propositions are being placed on the market today and the prospective purchaser should use caution in selecting. There is a refined distinction between the prospective hope-to-make-good offering and that of the successful going concern, with a splendid record of big profits. One notable fact is, that the Eureka Fox Company, Limited, is admitted by all other companies to be a big profit producer and they take pleasure in printing its record in their literature. J. S. Currie in his recent tour of inspection of the industry selected the Eureka as the safest and best, but like all "best" things, this stock is being rapidly taken up and all orders should be mailed in promptly to ensure delivery. The greater portion of the present issue is expected to be taken up by present shareholders. This company will maintain its policy of honestly dividing the net profits with its shareholders. The shares are selling at fifty dollars per value. Further information may be obtained from J. S. Currie, Box 50, St. John, N. B., where all orders should be submitted.

Now is the time to buy your petticoat at a good low price than the regular price. F. A. Dykeman & Co. are showing a splendid assortment of silk and satin petticoats at tremendous reductions. The silk ones are shown in Paddy green, cerise, shot and black; priced from $2.64 and $2.95. The satin ones, in blue, royal, tango, purple, Paddy green and cerise; priced from $1.60 up to $2.55.

PRISON SYSTEM IS A FAILURE, SAYS PREACHER

Rev. Ralph Haughton makes a strong appeal for old fashioned religion—Its power necessary.

An interesting appeal for the revival of old-fashioned religion was made by Rev. Ralph Haughton in a sermon delivered in the Congregational church last evening. "We are overlooking the parable of the Good Samaritan; we are making too much of the Golden Rule," he said. "There is an old saying that it does not matter what a man believes so long as he acts right. That is a false and pernicious doctrine. What a man thinketh in his heart so is he. If a man's conception of God was wrong he would have a wrong conception of life."

The preacher remarked that great attention was being given to the matter of social imprisonment. There was a great social movement in progress; great efforts were being made to reform institutions and people to improve housing conditions, and prevent crime and white slavery. But if we confined our attention to the material aspects of these things we would miss our mark. What was wanted was old-fashioned religion.

Believed in Miracles.
The preacher said the greatest agency in the world for uplifting men was the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He was sufficiently old-fashioned to believe in miracles, and in the ability of Christ to effect a sudden conversion by repentance and the remission of sins.

The preacher said a report appeared in the papers during the week that one man had been in jail over 100 times and others numerous times. This showed that as a preventive of crime our prison system was a failure.

He believed in social work, but the politician and reformer could not uplift men. Only the power of religion could solve the problems which are troubling humanity today.

CHARLES MYERS SUICIDE IN LOCKUP CELL

Slashed his throat with small penknife after being arrested on suspicion of stealing—Removed to General Public Hospital—Condition not considered serious.

To break into a store, steal two or three boxes, be arrested, locked in a cell and then try to kill himself by cutting his throat all within fifteen minutes was the record made in the North End early yesterday morning by Charles Myers, a man about fifty years of age.

Shortly after half past four o'clock Sunday morning, Patrolman Linton was walking along Main street near Simonds street when he heard the crash of glass and running towards W. H. Pierce's store on Simonds street he was just in time to see Charles Myers in front of the store. As soon as Myers saw the policeman running towards him he tried to make his escape along Brooks street, but he had not gone very far before he was overtaken by the officer. The officer found a pane of glass in the store broken and two pairs of shoes missing. When placed under arrest Myers had shoes in his pockets.

Myers was taken to the North End police station and locked up in one of the cells. He appeared to be ill after his run and the officer gave him a drink of water. A few minutes after the officer went to the cell to learn the prisoner's age and name. Myers was sitting with his head bent down and in an instant the policeman saw blood pouring from the prisoner's throat over his clothing and hands. He immediately unlocked the door of the cell

CELEBRATION OF THE PEACE CENTENARY

Features of the programme as outlined by the Canadian Peace Centenary Association.

The movement for celebrating the Hundred Years of Peace between the British Empire and the United States is, judging by a circular just issued by the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, taking rapid hold in Canada and Great Britain and the United States.

The general proposals contain four main features, (1) Monuments and other memorials, (2) Thanksgiving services in the churches, (3) Educational propaganda, (4) Festivities.

The circular enumerates various suggestions regarding the erection of monuments, and states that the matter has been referred to an international committee.

February 14, 1915, has been selected for thanksgiving services in all the churches of the British Empire and the United States. This date is the nearest Sunday to February 17, 1915, the centenary of the ratification of the Treaty of Ghent.

The educational propaganda includes several important features, among which may be mentioned the preparation of a series of pamphlets dealing with the various treaties which have made the long peace possible, which is intended to send to all the schools in Canada. Tableaux and masques are in course of preparation, which will also be sent to the schools for production upon a date to be hereafter arranged. A somewhat unique proposal is the writing of comparative essays on the writing of comparative essays on Anglo-American relations, and provision is being made for provincial and Dominion prizes.

About one hundred centres have been chosen for special celebrations in Canada and strong local committees have been arranged for in a majority of these.

The circular also reports the progress made in Great Britain and the United States and contains replies received last Christmas from world rulers to a message sent in connection with the celebration by the American committee.

The Dominion government has arranged for an appropriation to meet the preliminary organization expenses. In announcing this the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden said: "The cause which the Canadian Peace Centenary Association and the corresponding bodies in the United Kingdom and the United States have set before them is one with which we are warmly sympathetic. It is a triumph of humanity that during a century of rapid development, despite the existence of serious international differences and problems, the British Empire and the United States have found wiser and more humane methods of adjusting differences than the arbitration of war. We welcome the achievement of a century of peace, and hope that it will prove to be but the first century of peace the forerunner of a long series stretching into the future as far as human anticipation can trust itself."

FISHERS IN ALL NIGHT BIVOUAC

Citizen Soldiers have unique experience Saturday night—Bivouac in rain with makeshift shelters.

The men of the 62nd Regiment St. John Fusiliers spent Saturday night and yesterday morning in the open under the conditions that usually prevail on active service. The outing was unique in the annals of the local regiment and the men and officers all entered heartily into the idea of the scheme and the manoeuvres and bivouac proved quite pleasant.

One half of the battalion went out to the vicinity of Crescent Lake on the Sandy Point Road and took up a strong position in order to properly defend the district behind. This army was under Captain Sturdee. The attack was made by the other part of the regiment under Major Perley.

Colonel McAvity, Dawson and Lieutenant Stetchen acted as umpires. The result of the engagement will not be made known but the report of the manoeuvres will be sent to headquarters.

Blank cartridges were used and the different movements of the men were carried out under the same conditions as would prevail during war. After the engagement the men formed a bivouac on the open ground and remained there till yesterday morning.

Bivouac in Rain.
Rations were served immediately after the fight and blankets were spread just as a heavy rain started. This lasted about one hour but the men showed themselves to be in a class with seasoned campaigners and in a few minutes they had made shelters for themselves from the different materials at hand and lighted fires. No tents had been issued but the men remained in the open all night.

The men spent a restful night and breakfast was served at nine o'clock yesterday morning, after which the regiment fell in and marched to the city. The regimental band met the soldiers at the Golf Club house and played them to the barracks.

Their progress through the streets was witnessed by many citizens and there were many favorable comments on the good appearance of the regiment. The officers took the same chances as the men and slept under the same conditions.

At the barracks the men were drawn up and Colonel McAvity complimented them on the soldierly way in which they carried out the manoeuvres and did their part in connection with the bivouac. It was work such as this that was really beneficial and showed the worth of soldiers. Colonel McAvity announced that the annual inspection would take place Wednesday evening next when the regiment would be mustered in review order before Colonel Rutherford of Halifax.
