FROM ONE TO ANOTHER. Far overhead
An amber heaven fades to faintest gray;
Sky stoops to sea, sea rises gray to sky;
Wave rolls on wave, forever, sigh on sigh—
The death of day.

Art though too dead?
The sea that rolls between, is that death's sea May no hands touch, no solemn echoes fall,
None answering cry if one to other call
From land or sea?

Cans't thou forget?
Wandering forever on some unknown shere,
Living or dead, obliving or most bles.—
Perchance thy feet at last have found a rest
For evermore?

Living or dead.

Star-eyed and pale thy face seems ever near;
Remembering, Love, in life one hour, one day,
Call once from out the dark, then turn away—
One heart may bear.

Hast th u not heard
Passionate moan of waves that break in tears
Break on, and die, and still may not forget
That infinite perfection of regret—
These werry years. NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES Judge Daly of New York has decided, in a suit involving certain questions of domestic economy, that a son-in-law not only has the right but was bound to support his mother-in-law. Judge Larremore, in the same suit, a short time ago, held the very opposite to be the law, and declared that when a man committed matrimony he did not marry a whole family. Coal in England. England is in the midst of a crisis, produced by a sudden and alarming rise in this vital commodity in the depth of the winter, and under conditions calculated to excite serious apprehensions. Coal has risen eight shillings in the ton, and that which was a comfort has become a luxury. Nor, even at the extravagant prices now demanded and obtained, is a sufficiency of coal forthcoming to supply the market. The principal cause of the dearth is the refusal of the miners to work without increased wages, and the consequent stoppage of mining in many localities of the west and south. It is even as-
