THE MINERS' STRIKE.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 18.—Representatives of all the big coal mining companies met here this afternoon, and decided to insist on a decrease in the price of powder being computed as part of the increase in wages to as part of the increase in wages to contract miners. District President Nichols, of the United Mine Workers, says the mine workers' officers were directed to get a straight advance and that another miners' convention will be necessary before the strike can be declared off, even though the officers were disposed to accede to the condition that powder should figure in the present negotiations.

GREAT MEN AND UNGRATEFUL CONSTITUENTS.

There is constant complaint in every part of the country that the best men are not in public life. If they happen to be elected for a time, their constituents, with som? exceptions, do not appreciate genuine ability sufficiently to keep them in office. In casting about for reasons, the people blame every one and every fact but themselves. The most popular explanation is that public life does not offer the financial rewards of a private career. But this does not explain. Money is not everything; it is not even the most of things, and with all men of great ability there is a special appreciation of the larger rewards which come from loyal and high-minded service for the country. When such men as former Senator Edmunds and former Speaker Reed among the Republicans, and former Senator Hill and former Congressman William L. Wilson among the Democrats, step out of Congress the loss to the nation is great. Whatever the party discussions may become, if the men themselves are able, they are pushing the nation to a higher plane in all their efforts. Our public life rises to the character of our public men and not above it. There is constant complaint piration of sixty days, when it will be accepted by the city if it meets with the requirements.

The plant is an experiment, being the first one of the kind erected in the country. In the thirty days it has been tested, more than 200 tons of garbage have been cremated and only four tons of residue remain. One ton of coal incinerates ten tons of garbage. The guaranteed capacity of the plant is twelve tons everytwenty-four hours. During the test twelve tons were consumed in eleven hours, with the furnace filled to three-fifths its capacity. It required only 3.400 pounds of coal to incinerate the twelve tons of garbage.

The furnace is so constructed that all obnoxious gases arising from the damp garbage are reconveyed into the furnace. This prevents the gases from escaping, and it is so successful that there is no perceptible odor about the plant. Commissioner Moore thinks that if the test proves satisfactory the plant will be a good investment upon an economical standpoint as well as enabling the city to get rid of the old garbage dump, which has long been disagreeable and a menace to the health of the people of Evanston.

WATER FOR COWS. — The cow needs water to digest her food, to keep the body in running order, to wash the products of digestion and for the milk supply, and if all these are to be kept in their normal condition water must be supplied or the milk flow suffers, says "Hoard's Dairyman."

ABOUT DAIRY PRODUCTS.

If the question be askedl what are the principal requisites for success in manufacture of dairy products? garded as the foremost living author-I should answer, "Cleanliness first, ast and all the time," says a writer more than any of his contemporaries in the "Country Gentleman." A neat, clean, tasteful appearance goes a long way in securing a customer; then if the inside is satisfactory, there is not much danger but that person will be looking for your goods, and at a good fair price. We often see articles written by successful butter or cheese-makers-in which we are told that if we only ripen our cream in a certain way, or do so and so with our curd, we shall be sure to have a fancy product. It is all true, probably, from the writer's standpoint, but might not apply in every case. But if they had said that every farmer who furnished milk to their manufacturing plant was scrupulously clean and neat with everything pertaining to the milk delivered, and as a result the maker had no trouble in producing a first-class article every time, every one that saw the statement, that was at all conversant with the handing of milk, would believe him. It is one of the most difficult things in the whole business to convince most farmers that it is reglly necessary for them to be so extremely careful; that the dust and cohwebs overhead in the barn where the milking is done should be swept down, so that there is no collection of bacteria to be stirred up at every gust of wind and drop down on the animals, and so get in the milk to start it on the road to putrefaction; that the ventilation of the stable should be as near perfect as it can be made, in order to remove the foul air and bad smells, so that the animals will be healthier from having pure air to breathe, and the milk in better condition to make a first-class product; that the man who does the milking must always be cleanly in his habits and way of doing his work, and the milk utensils be as clean as boiling hot water can make them, are difficult propositions for the person who has not had experience in manufacturing the milk to understand. He admits they are all good things to do, but that it is impossible to secure the finest product except as those things are done, is hard to be lieve. It is nevertheless true, while it is possible to overcome these neglects to an extent by skillful

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

The famous professor of jurisprudence, Senator Pessina, who is reity in Italy upon criminal law, did, to secure the total abolition of capital punishment in his fatherland. But the renowned scholar has been so deeply moved by the recent succession of Italian assassins of kings and rulers that he has .ust published a "recantation" of his former opposition to the death punishment in all cases, and advises that it should be adopted in the case of "political murderers."
