

The Little Home-Window. It has just four panes—and one's cracked down the middle!

And, often at dusk, when the baby is asleep, like the ocean, throbs fathomless free.

It frames the old picture of "Somebody Watching" That little Home-Window that looks out to sea!

And "Somebody-Else," as he draws near the haven, Says, smiling, "I know where there's welcome for me!"

As, dangers forgotten, his heart goes a-seeking That little Home-Window that looks out to sea!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. F. E. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 25. CONFESSING CHRIST. (May be used with missionary applications.)

GOLDEN TEXT—Whoever shall confess me before men, him shall the son of man also confess before the angels of God.—Luke 12:8.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Psalm 145:1-3; Mark 8:30; John 1:40-45; Acts 4:13; 1 Peter 2:15.

Importance of Confessing Christ (Luke 12:8-12). To confess Christ is not easy; it has never been easy. To do so means exposure to ridicule, contempt and persecution.

1. Christ will confess his Lord. 2. Christ will deny before the angels of God those who confess him before men (v. 8). The true disciple will not be ashamed to let all men know that he knows, loves, and serves Christ.

3. Christ will deny before the angels of God those who deny him before men (v. 9). To deny Christ before men may get one a little of human applause, but will surely bring one to loss of heaven and to the sufferings of hell forever.

4. The unrepentant testimony is unparagonable (v. 10). This testimony is the expression of a heart utterly perverse, attributing the mighty works of the Holy Spirit as wrought by Christ to the devil (Matt. 12:32; Mark 3:29).

The unpardonable sin will only be committed by one whose heart is incurably bad, one whose moral nature is so corrupt that he falls to discern between God and the devil—a reprobate.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST. 44 George Street. Service, Sunday 11 a.m. Subject, Sunday, Aug. 25th, 1918, "Mind."

SHOOTING. (Continued from Page One.) On Dalhousie street, punctuating his threats of vengeance with bullets from a large and perfectly capable revolver. Ponnis escaped unharmed, although fanned by the flying bullets, and Bimont is now in the hands of the police.

The affray is the outcome of a feud between the two foreigners, who board together. Bimont had frequently accused Ponnis of theft, and this morning, meeting him on Dalhousie street, renewed the charges, threatening to call the police unless Ponnis made restitution. The latter, instead, took to his heels, with his Nemesis in close pursuit. As they were nearing George street, Bimont pulled a revolver, and fired two shots, which served but to accelerate Ponnis' flight, he scrambling over the high wooden fence with as great celerity as a Canadian soldier would show.

Several men, two of them returned soldiers, meanwhile had grabbed Bimont, and held him until the arrival of the police. Upon being taken to the station, the Italian told the story of his wrongs in voluble patois. The police are still looking for Ponnis, who may have reached Italy or some equally distant port by now, judging by the speed with which he succeeded in taking care. It is not believed that he was hit by either of the bullets fired. Bimont will be arraigned as a witness.

ALLIED FORCES. (Continued from Page One.) Further ground east of Bagnone and west of Crecy-au-Mont toward the Soissons-Chouy road. Any advance here adds to the vulnerability of the German line eastward from Soissons. Fires are reported burning behind the German position north of the Vesle and it is believed the enemy may be preparing to retire. Infantry and transports have been ordered moving northward from the Vesle in the last few days. "Everything is going well. We have begun our action and we shall continue." These are the words of Marshal Foch, whose strategy has placed the Germans in their present unenviable position. For five weeks now Marshal Foch had held the initiative and the Germans have suffered probably the most severe set back since they lost more ground in that time than in any like period since 1916 on the western front. The sixth week has begun auspiciously with the German line from Arras to Soissons wavering under the Allied blow and unable to retreat without inviting disaster. In the last week more than 20,000 prisoners, not counting Friday's captures, have been taken, more than 10 towns and villages regained, and the Allies have pressed on unchecked. Minor fighting is going on in northern France. North of Bapaume the Italians have taken some ground in the Brenta valley. In Central Albania the Austrians have been repulsed in an attack against the Italian lines.

SITUATION. By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Aug. 24.—The Associated Press to-day issues the following: British troops along the northern sectors of the battle line in Picardy and Arras are advancing at a comparatively rapid rate. Their attack this morning.

According to unofficial reports from the field the British have reached the village of Hehin on the Gojval River, five miles southeast of Arras. They have advanced further to the south and are in the outskirts of the town of St. Leger. Advancing Britons appear to be closing in on Bapaume, the reputedly the batteries of heavy guns have been taken from the enemy. South of the Somme and between the Oise and the Aisne artillery duels are reported.

French patrols operating in Lorrairie have penetrated German trenches at many points.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA. The incongruity of the Bible with the age of its birth; its freedom from earthly mixtures; its original, unadorned, solitary greatness; the suddenness with which it broke forth amidst the general gloom; these to me are strong indications of its divine descent. I cannot reconcile them with a human origin.—Channing. When it is Hard to Pray. It is hard for a man to pray according to God's will if he is not living according to it.
