

DOCTORS COULD NOT HELP MY KIDNEYS

"Fruit-a-Lives" Cured Me

CHERRYVILLE, Ont., Jan. 25th, 1911

"For over twenty years, I have been troubled with Kidney Disease and the doctors said they could do me no good. I tried every advertised remedy, but there was none that suited my case. Nearly a year ago, I tried 'Fruit-a-Lives', I have been using them nearly all the time since, and am glad to say that I am cured. I have no trouble now with my kidneys and I give 'Fruit-a-Lives' the credit of doing what the doctors said was impossible. I am seventy-six years old and am in first class health."

GEO. W. BARKLEY, 500 a box, 6 for $2.50, retail price 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

The Tempter and His Victim.

O list to me, and I will tell
A tale to be remembered well,
Once written in the olden time,
And written now in English rhyme.

Satan, the prince of darkness, went
A walk one day, on mischief bent,
And soon a young man he espied,
And quick as thought was at his side.

'Young sir,' said he, 'I bring you word,
And all in fear the young man heard,
'Seven sins there are that may be done,
And out of them you must choose
—one.'

And then with cruel, mocking grin,
He slowly named each dreadful sin,
And from them all the young man
shook.

Except the one of getting drunk,
'Oh! no!' said he, 'that's not so bad,
Forgetting it would make him mad;
And so—just what the Devil meant—
To this sad sin did he consent.

And when the wine had fired his brain,
Fassien broke loose from reason's rein,
And ere the setting of the sun,
The other six sins all were done!

Then when he woke to consciousness,
His breast was torn with deep distress,
And scratching up the murderous knave,
He took away his wretched life.

And Satan, as he saw him die,
Rejoicing said, 'This plan I'll try
With more young men and women too.

In hopes that they the same will do,
They think with horror from the end,
But if strong drink they make a friend.

Despite their virtue or their wit,
The sins I choose they will commit,
So ends the tale. Let British youth
Draw from this important truth—
That drinking is an evil thing,
And every other ill may bring.

'Tough not Strong Drink!' be then our cry!

And many a sorrow we shall fly;
And when we're tempted to our neck
His help who loves to help the weak.

TWO WOMEN TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their Own Statements Follow.

Halliburton, P.E.I.:—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars."

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. G. COLEMAN, Halliburton, Lot 7, P.E.I.

Read What This Woman Says: New Moorefield, Ohio:—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a mail. As long as I had on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. You can use this letter."—Mrs. CAROL LLOYD, New Moorefield, Clark Co., Ohio.

When I go shopping, I take an old lady, if I have it and it's suitable, and I feel inclined to buy it, and it's cheap and can't be got for less, I most often takes it without lapping all day as some persons do.

Wire Wounds.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly injured and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MICHARD'S LINIMENT, diluted with water. The stronger the sores began to heal, and after three weeks, the sores had healed and out of all the hair growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in wire wounds.

"ENGLISH" PAINT

SAID THE FARMER:—"I never took for bargains in paint—and I wouldn't buy any other paint. My time is worth money to me, so I use BRANDAM'S 'ENGLISH' Paint whenever I have a job of painting to do. I find 'ENGLISH' Paint spreads easier than cheap paint—I can do my painting quicker with it. And too that it holds its color longer—so I don't have to paint so often. All in all, therefore, 'ENGLISH' is the cheapest of all the paints I have used."

PORT WILLIAMS, N. S.

THE drawing was made from a photograph of the root-cellar with which D. A. Purdy, of Lumsden, Sask., won a cash prize in last year's contest. In that last contest there were 36 prizes. There will be three times as many prizes (108) in the 1912 FARMERS' PRIZE CONTEST.

THUS you will have three times as many chances of winning a cash prize. You do not have to use any certain amount of Canada Cement to win a prize. There are absolutely no "strings" to this offer.

There are twelve prizes for each Province (three of $10; three of $5; three of $1; and three of 50c) and you compete only with other farmers in your own Province and not with those all over Canada.

A SEPTUAGENARIAN HERO

Old Man Climbed Down Steep Cliffs Swam Half Mile to Wreck and Swam Back

Frank Pearson, a septuagenarian seaman of Scarborough, England, has received from the Hon. T. H. W. P. Ham, C.B., one of the assistant secretaries in the Marine Department of the Board of Trade, an intimation that the King has personally expressed a desire to see him at Buckingham Palace and to decorate him with the Albert Medal for gallantry at sea.

Pearson lives near the precipitous cliffs of Bampton. Early one morning he heard a signal gun or distress fired by a vessel at sea. The old man got out of bed, dressed himself and made his way to the headland, where he saw a steamboat hard and fast on a rock half-mile from the shore. The spot is known to mariners as being particularly dangerous.

Pearson slid down the face of the cliffs in the dark, and then, notwithstanding the fact that it was very cold he undressed on a ledge of rock and jumped into the sea. Despite his age he swam the half-mile shouting "man overboard" to the crew that help was coming. By this time he could see the wreck watching him through their glasses.

It was nearly high water, and Pearson knew that with the turn of the tide all would be dashed off the rock. While still in the water he shouted his final instructions to the crew to lash themselves fast and secure for the inevitable event. The wrecked sailors then pulled the old man on the wreck almost in a state of collapse. In the meantime the coastguards had arrived after travelling miles with the rocky apparatus, and everyone was saved. By this time Pearson had revived, and to the astonishment of the whole party, he dived overboard again and swam back to the dingy, where he dressed, telling a man he met that it was time that he (Pearson) was off to his work. Before he could do this, however, he had to climb 450 feet to the top of the cliff. The circumstances have been vouched for in a report submitted to the King. In addition to the Albert Medal, the courageous veteran received an appreciable cheque from the owners of the steamer and a cheque from the Board of Trade.

OPERASINGER'S HAT BILL

The Result of Giving Orders Without Asking the Price

Miss Mary Garden, the famous opera singer, was sued by her Parisian milliner because she refused to pay a hat bill amounting to $1,000. She has, it appears, been in the habit of ordering her hats without troubling to ask the price, and was surprised when she received a bill containing among other items:

- One chinchilla toque, $150
- One hat in antique satin 100
- One evening dress, 150
- One toque with changing pearls, 150

JURY DARED NOT CONVICT

Young Paris Bandit Acquitted of a Crime to Which They Confessed

A storm of indignation has been raised in Paris by a verdict of acquittal given by a jury at the Paris Assize Court.

The prisoners were three young Apaches who were on trial for attempted murder with a view to robbery. There was not the least doubt about their guilt, which they themselves admitted, and yet the jury acquitted them.

The prisoners' ages were eighteen, nineteen, and twenty-one. They had learnt from a servant girl that a Mme. de Bury, a dead lady's widow, aged fifty-two, who resides alone in the rue de Picpus, always kept a certain amount of gold notes in her desk, and they resolved to kill her and steal the money.

One of them presented himself to the intended victim as a grocer's assistant. The next evening he and two young scoundrels forced open the door of the house and entered Mme. de Bury's bedroom. One of the scoundrels held her by the throat, while the other, who held a revolver, ordered her to get up and hold upon her. Then she seized a volute and ran into the garden. Here another of the Apaches seized her, but she succeeded in bringing a shout, frightening the youths, who fled. They were arrested shortly afterwards, and newspapers in circulating the news held they dared not convict the other bandits would avenge the death.

A VETERAN VESSEL

The Oldest Steamship on the Clyde to be Rebuilt

Henry Bell, Comet, the precursor of the present-day steamship and tug, has no more worthy or hardy offspring than the "Comet," which was built by him at his accustomed task of towing punts with dredging up and down the river Clyde.

Among pilots and skippers who regularly frequent the river she is known familiarly as "Nancy and Her Children," from the fact that she is invariably met towing a long train of punts. She is without exception the oldest steamer afloat on the river, having been built by Henderson and Gosline, shipbuilders, Renfrew and Glasgow, in the year 1811, and was one of the first steamships to be built for the regular service of the river.

It is worthy of note that previously the record for long service on the Clyde was held by the paddle steamer "Patience," which was built by Fyfe of Paisley in the year 1811, and was one of the first steamships to be built for the regular service of the river.

"A Great Character"

When Wm. Burke, inmate of Lough Liscannan Workhouse, was charged at the Assize with the murder of a woman, he was found guilty of a capital offence. He was sentenced to hang, but the judge, in a great character (laughter) "for sobriety" vented as his worship, "You sir, being a regular prisoner, and having received a nominal penalty."

Psoriasis Was Cured

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes—"I thought it my duty to tell you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors told me if any one offered to guarantee me a cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured."

"The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. The last in my supply read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment, a healer. I used 6 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 6c a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

HEAT WITHOUT FLAME

Economical System by Which a Tremendous Temperature is Attained

Professor W. A. Bone, professor of Chemistry at the University of Toronto, believes, may work a revolution in fuel economy and have very important industrial effects.

The new process has been put into practical operation in Leeds. Hot surfaces operate the combustion of gases in contact with them, and it is on this property that the process is based. An explosive mixture of gas and air in the proportion for complete combustion (or with the air in slight excess) is caused to burn without flame in contact with the surface of a red-hot porous substance such as a block made of particles of fire-brick bound together by some suitable means. All famous distillates, and there remains an intensely glowing surface—a wall of fire, but without flame—from which radiates a genial heat. The apparatus may be maintained at any temperature up to about 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit, according to the rate of supply of the gas.

In addition to "diaphragm heating," the process is adaptable to the heating of furnaces, the raising of steam in boilers, and the smelting of ores. A variety of combustible gases other than coal gas can be used in the process, including petrol-air gas, natural gas, and carbonized water-gas.

Professor Bone stated that the heating effect is economical and easy to control.
