AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

—Samples of new Manitoba wheat and barley shown at the Board of Trade.
—A Nebraska tornado blew a cow's tail bald without injuring the animal.
—Estimates place the wine production of California for this year at about 21,000,000 gallons.
—London bakers have increased the price of bread on account of the shortage in the British wheat crop.
—Wild flowers will keep fresh for several days or perhaps two weeks in vases filled with clean sand and water.
—A Georgia farmer has not seen the bottom of his corn crib for more than twenty years, and is now taking from it grain grown in 1876.
—A Dairy Farmer's conference is to be held in the dairy tent of the Provincial Exhibition Ground, Kingston, Ontario, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 12 and 13.
—It is estimated that there are 10,000 florists in the United States, with one thousand acres entirely covered with glass, in the shape of green-houses, devoted to flowers.
—The Dominion Department of Agriculture has received information from the best and unadulterated sources that the Manitoba crop is the richest and best in the history of the province.
—A large number of heavy Canadian horses which have been at work on the Canadian Pacific railroad, are being sold off, their owners having finished their contracts. They are said to be a fine lot of horses.
—At Minneapolis the output of the large Pillsbury mills is stated as being 8,000 barrels of flour per day, and this fact has been much advertised. There are four members in the above firm. It is a pleasing fact to state, says the Montreal Gazette, that the firm of A. W. Ogilvie & Co. has an output of 5,000 barrels of flour per day, and there is only one member.
—According to Bradstreet's there will be required 65,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels in the European wheat market this year to supply which the reserves in the United States, Russia and India will be drawn upon to that extent. It is estimated that the Northwest will have a surplus 20,000,000 bushels available for export this year, and as the Northwest wheat cannot be exported in quality the demand, the anticipated rise in price will prove a bonanza to the country, especially if the facilities for moving the crops are better than last year.

A Tremendous Blunder.

(St. Paul Pioneer Press.)
On her second thought even his closest friends must admit that he has fallen into irreparable error. That he is not actuated by a desire to preserve and defend the dignity of the nation and the rights of his people appears from the willingness to sanction a treaty that ignored those purposes. That he seeks now as eagerly to pick a quarrel with Canada as he did a short time ago to placate her by surrender is shown in his long references to exact tolls, a matter already under consideration, and one in which the Canadian Government has prepared to do what is fair and honorable. His arguments lead simply to this dilemma: either what he says of Canadian inselence, aggression and denial of the first principles of international comity is false, or, if true, he was guilty of unpardonable treason to American interests in attempting to close with such people a treaty agreement which guaranteed us no protection. The message received only Mr. Cleveland's personal quarrel; and it is a quarrel not with the Dominion, but with the United States senate and the Republican party, for assistance in which he would commit the nation to a policy unapproved by the people, and terminable only by open rupture.
—The New York Sun says that there is a probability good ground for the claim of the Prohibitionists that they will poll a heavier vote in this year's election than they have ever polled in a Presidential year. They have a host of orators, legions of women crusaders, the active support of many clergymen, and they also appear to have plenty of money. If all these things would count at their face value General Fisk ought to be elected President of the United States.
—The Fall Mail Gazette denounces the Standard for its violent utterances on the fisheries question and charges that paper with outraging that good feeling which ought to exist between Great Britain and the United States.
—The managing editor of a Boston daily wishes to know what has occasioned the alarming increase of crime in Maine. The fact that thirty-seven bean heads have recently been organized in the State ought to satisfactorily solve the mystery.
—The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes that Cleveland's reticent bill will meet with very little opposition in Congress.
—A man in Galveston ate twenty-three eggs at one meal. The jury had been tried from over-feeding.

GENERAL NEWS.

—St. John is determined to have an Opera House.
—Pure water is being reached by artesian borings 3000 feet beneath the salt water of New York bay, 100 feet from shore. A dock company is sinking a 12-inch well.
—It is proposed to supply Paris with water from Lake Nenschatel, 312 miles away. Of this distance 22 miles would be tunnel. The estimated cost is nearly $100,000,000.
—The other day a railroad was finished in Turkey which will make it possible to reach Constantinople from Bagdad in sixteen days. Phineas Fogg's once celebrated journey around the world in eighty days was a slow trip.
—A funny election bet has been entered into between a democrat and a republican in Washburn, Aroostook county, Me. Whoever loses in the pending Presidential contest by the defeat of his candidate, must take, at one dose, two cures of castor oil.
—The richest mine in Australia, and perhaps in the world, is in the Mount Morgan of Rockhampton, Queensland. Its value has been variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $200,000,000. The gold taken from the mine is almost pure.
—Princess Sophie of Prussia, sister of Emperor William, has been betrothed to Prince Constantine, Crown Prince of Greece. The couple are respectively 18 and 20 years of age. The betrothal is one of the results of the Emperor's visit to Copenhagen, Prince Constantine being grandson of the king of Denmark.
—A butcher in Liverpool, England, was recently summoned before a magistrate on the charge of selling horseflesh for beef. He was fined fifty shillings, not for selling the horseflesh, but because it was found that the magistrate said that he knew of nothing to prevent a butcher from selling such meat provided it were good and sound.
—The Ottawa Journal says the enormous development of Toronto during the last few years has been the subject of national surprise. Ten years ago Toronto's population was 65,000. The new Toronto city directory estimates its population today at 160,000. All things considered, no record of civic growth on the continent surpasses this.
—Steamer Navarro, from Havana and Matanzas, at Boston, brought 29,000 bags of centrifugal sugar weighing 3,500,000 pounds, or 4,650 net tons, to the Boston Sugar Refining Company. This is probably the largest and most valuable cargo ever brought to the United States, its value being nearly $600,000, of which duties will be about $200,000.
—The report of the British Postmaster-General shows that the number of letters posted in England last year equals forty-one letters per head of population. There was a large increase in the number of telegrams, so that the newly introduced twelve-cent message is likely to be a success after all, in spite of the official foreboding. The number of messages sent was fifty-three millions, an increase of fourteen millions compared with two years ago, when the minimum rate was 24 cents.
—The divorce trial of Queen Natalie, of Serbia, and King Milan opened last Friday, before the Consistory of Belgrade. Queen Natalie's former apartments at the palace at Belgrade have, by King Milan's orders, been turned into smoking saloons, billiard rooms, etc. The costly furniture that the rooms contained when she was their occupant, and her personal effects are lying in confusion in the court-yards of the palace, the King having thus turned her out bag and baggage. Queen Natalie has gone to Bucharest.
—A terrible affair occurred last week in the neighborhood of Guide Rock, a small town just over the Nebraska line. John Baker, while feeding a threshing machine on the farm of a man named Weeks, was accidentally cut on the hand by the hand cutter. In a rage he grasped the boy and deliberately fed him into the machine, feet first. The boy's screams attracted the attention of the other hands, but before they could interfere the boy's body had half disappeared in the machine. The enraged man seized Baker and hanged him to the straw cutter.
—Prosecutions of foreign fishermen for violation of the three-mile limit are not uncommon in England. In the beginning of last month the master of a Boulogne fishing boat was charged at the Folkestone Police court with illegally fishing within the limit in Rye bay. The captain of a revenue cutter testified that he saw the boat there with her nets down on the 31st ult. On being perceived he cut her net adrift and sailed off. The cutter chased her for more than an hour, and had to fire forty rounds from a revolver rifle and seven-pounder before he succeeded in bringing her to. The strange vessel was then boarded and three men left on her. Permitted to go after her nets, she was again lost sight of and not found again for some days. The captain, who had been fined for a similar offence some weeks before, was ordered to pay £20, and in default of payment his vessel was detained.

I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of Rickets and Marasmus of long standing. In every case the improvement was marked. —J. M. MAIN M. D., New York. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Belle Hamlin's Great Feat.

Belle Hamlin performed a wonderful feat at the Buffalo Driving on Tuesday morning. She trotted a half mile in 1.023—a 2.05 gait. No such time has ever been made by a trotting horse before. Mand S. recently went a half mile in 1.04, but that was down grade on the Fleetwood track. The test was made in the presence of a number of prominent horsemen. Horace Brown warmed up the mare with a slow half mile, and then let her out for the rest of the mile. Belle fairly flew over the track and never made a break. Horace Hunt, of Hornellsville, C. F. Dunbar, of Buffalo, Mr. Kerr, of Lewis & Co., C. J. Hamlin and others held watches, and every one of the tickets registered 1.023, or better. Some made it 1.02. The last quarter was made in 31 seconds.
Mr. Hamlin said the Belle would soon be set to beat her record of 2.13, and he confidently expects that she will succeed. Many horsemen believe that Belle will come close to Mand S.'s record of 2.08. It behooves Bonner and other horsemen to keep their eyes open.

The Awful Court.

The late Captain James M. Armstrong, of Texas, an honest and patriotic man ever lived in any age or country, emigrated from Kentucky to Texas immediately after the Republic had been organized. Soon after his arrival at Nacogdoches, he found out that the refugees from "the States," who were then quite numerous, were in the habit of holding from time to time what they called "The Awful Court." Every new-comer was arrested, was brought before the "court," which sat with an imposing array of officers and spectators in a secluded room, was arraigned, and asked, "What made you come to Texas?" If in his reply he did not admit that he came as a refugee, the judge would order him to be whipped until he confessed, and when he had confessed, he was sentenced to treat the crowd. No new-comer was permitted to claim that he was innocent, or came of his own free will. He was arrested however, answered promptly, stating some crime that he had committed before leaving "the States," and giving time, place, and circumstances, he was at once discharged without costs.
"The Awful Court" was generally presided over by gentlemen who were known to have robbed a gold mining company, which was the immediate cause of his leaving Georgia. One day in conversation he observed to young Armstrong, "Young man, we will shortly have you up before our Awful Court."
Armstrong, with an air of surprise and diffidence, said he hoped not, and passed on.
On the night of that very day he was arrested, and led through various ways to where The Awful Court was sitting. Although late, the dimly lighted courtroom was thronged. In a few moments the presiding judge ordered him to stand up, and asked him the following question: "Young man, what made you come to Texas?" Armstrong, replied, hesitatingly, with an air of embarrassment, "I was such a mean little thing that I don't want to tell about it."
The question was calmly put a second time, and received the same answer.
Thereupon the judge sternly remarked, "I now ask you for the third time, what made you come to Texas?"
Armstrong responded, with apparent confusion: "If I must tell, I must. I stole a sheep!"
"Stole a sheep?" exclaimed the presiding judge, in real amazement. "Stole a sheep! Men, did you ever hear the like! Young man, what made you steal a sheep?"
Armstrong dryly replied, "Because who who came to Texas ahead of me left nothing else in the criminal line to do."
The prisoner, discharged, and the judge adjourned, said the judge.
"Men, it's my treat,"—EDITOR'S DRAWER, in Harper's Magazine for September.

An Alcott Anecdote.

My acquaintance with the late Miss Louisa Alcott was begun in no novel a fashion that I feel impelled to tell about it for the amusement of the Wide Awake readers. I had come from a pretty Vermont town to Boston, just as Little Women was published, and having its first wonderful success. I was in one of Boston's largest circulating libraries, beginning to earn my own bread and butter. The furor for the new book was entirely unprecedented, and we had over two hundred copies of it, one of which was even given to me. The order book was filled with calls for it, and as fast as a copy came in it was sent out again. One day, when I had been about a week in the library, a lady came in, whose face I liked very much, and asked me for something "delightfully funny and nice" to read. By the merest chance I had in my hand a copy of Little Women that had just been returned to the library, and that I was about to do up to send again. With a sudden impulse I handed it to the lady, saying, "I'm sure this will please you."
She took it, looked at it a moment inside and out, then threw it aside.
"I was astonished to see the cherished book treated with disdain, but I managed to ask, 'Have you read it?'"
"I've seen it," was the curt reply.
"Don't you like it?" I again ventured.
"It's a ridiculous thing," was the answer.
This was too much for me, and I proceeded then and there to give a most eloquent defence of the book, mingled with a little satire at the taste that could find nothing but what was ridiculous in it.
The lady listened to me without replying, then turned away and sought the proprietor of the library, and was soon engaged in earnest conversation with him. I saw her glance around at me, and his eyes followed her glance. She was no doubt complaining of my impetuosity, and I was sure of it, possibly dismissed. Suddenly the proprietor burst into a hearty peal of laughter, in which the lady joined. I don't know why it was, but I felt a little reassured, and just then I was called to the receiving-desk.
"Do you know," he said, "I give notice that they call in for redemption Debentures Numbers three, four and five, of the Town of Newbury, issued by virtue of the Act of the General Assembly, Chap. 52, passed on the 10th day of April, A. D. 1875."
"What, the one talking with Mr. Loring?"
"Yes."
"No, I'm sure I don't," I answered.
"Well, it was the mother of Little Women."
"What! not Miss Alcott?"
"Yes, certainly, Miss Alcott."
"O, dear! and I've just been abusing her because she wouldn't take her own book?"
And that was just what I had been doing; but it was such an unconscious tribute to her story that Miss Alcott regarded it as a compliment, and it is perhaps needless to say, neither of us ever forgot our first meeting. —S. J. W. WHITE, in SUPP. WIDE AWAKE.
