Provincial Parliament.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

His Excellency, the Governor General, atten ded by a numerous Staff, proceeded to the Chamber of the Legislative Council yesterday at two o'clock, and having commanded the attendance of the members of the Legislative Assembly, he delivered the following SPEECH.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislativ Council, and Gentlemen of the Legislative Asembly :

I have called you together at the earliest period after the dissolution of the last parliament, in order that I may avail myself of your advice and assistance in the adminis tration of the affairs of the Province.

During the recess I made an extensive tour through the province, and I have much eatisfaction in informing you, that I met with the most gratifying indication of general prosperity and contentment in all the districts which I visited.

With the view of maturing a plan for placing the Post Office in British North America on an improved footing, Commissioners from the several provi. ces assem bled lately at my suggestion in Montreal. I trust that it will be in my power before the close of the Session, to bring under your consideration a measure for effecting this important object.

The correspondence which I have received enables me to state that a good and practicable line of railway between Quebec and diseased and helpless persons in the province, without, however, checking the healthy emigration, which so powerfully contributes to its advancement.

Numerous projects for the construction of railways introduced into the Legislature last session, render it expedient, with a view to uniformity of legislation and protection of public and private interests, that an enactment should be passed embodying the provisions generally applicable to such undertakings. I commend this subject to your consideration. On this and other important matters, I shall lay before you comunications which have been addressed to me by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonics,

The constitution of the University of The constitution of the University of King's College, a more equitable mode of assessment in Western Canada, and the im-provement of the system of Judicature in both sections of the Province, are subjects both sections of the Province way attention which will probably engage your attention. Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly :

I shall direct the public accounts, with fitted up, well filled-and contained a goodly por tion of the beauty and respectability of the place. And considering that we live at the leaping of place, we must say that with the exception of a few slips the performance as a whole was creditable. We are aware that comparions are sometimes inviduous, and therefore, we will not particularise farther than, just to remark that in the scene from Richard the Third, Mr Marelton's little daughter in the character of the Prince of Wales gave great satisfaction. The representatives of Hamlet and the Queen of Den-mark were successful. Mr. Miles is a genuine Major Galbraith without an effort. And Mr. Savage is qualified to appear as a Niger in the most fashionable Circus. The entertainment with some variations will be renewed this even ing:

THE BELLVILLE INTELLIGENCER of the 19th ult., says "We should like the 'Signal' to in form us of the true meaning, according to Radi cal phraseology, of the words uncharit calparaseology, of the words uncharitableness, vituperation and scurrility." The word "Bil-lingsgate" we believe is expressive of the com-bination of the three, and if the "Intelligencer" is at a loss for the meaning of that word he can just read over in the same paper his own two columns on the "Victoria Chronicle," and then he will have a very detailed and practical illustration of Billingsgate.

enables me to state that a good and practi-cable line of railway between Quebec and Halifax, has been discovered by the officers to whom the exploration was confided. The distress and suffering by which last year's emigration to the Province, was at-tended, have occasioned me the deepest concern. Her Majesty's Government have bestowed on the subject the most anxivos consideration, with a view to the introduction of such provisions into the Imperial Pas-sengers Act, as may afford a security against a recurrence of the disasters. It will be for you to determine whether it will not be advisable to pass some pro-vincial enactment, which shall have the effect of discouraging the introduction of diseased and helpless persons in the province, the secure of the province, be had, no incentive to the secure of the dissouraging the introduction of diseased and helpless persons in the province, the secure of the device of the province, the secure of the province, the secure of the secure o Fortunately the Home Government is at was every thing, and the people nothing. Montesquieu relates of a Pope, that he raised (like Sir Francis) an infinite number of difficulties against his election, from a through conviction of his incapacity. At length he was prevailed on to accept the length he was prevailed on to accept the pontificate, and resigned the administration entirely to his nephew. He was soon struck with surprise, and said, "I should never have thought that these things wore so easy "The same may be said of Military Governors, who, being bred up with some-thing more than contempt of the eivil law, are picked out and placed over important Colonies. They are at first dazzled, and in a sad way as to how they are to bear their blushing honours, but soon come to that sad resource of despots,—to abandon their Government to a favourite. Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly. You may rely on my disposition to cooperate with you in all measures calculated to promote the public welfare.

Canada possesses in singular abundance the elements of prosperity and social hap piness-great natural capabilities, an enter prising intelligent and rapidly increasing population. Institutions fitted to reconcile liberty with order, and the blessing of peace secured under Providence, by the patriotism of her sons, and her connexion with the state which is both just and powerful.

The duty of turning these advantages to account, in so far as this object can be effected, by proper legislation, devolves upor Parliament.

God grant that we may acquit ourselves of the responsibility with fidelity and suc-Cess.

The Legislative Council met, pro forma this afternoon, at half-past two o'clock, and has adjourned till to-morrow at 3 P. M.

The House to-day was chiefly engaged in routine business, notices of motions, &c.

The House adjourned at 12 minutes pas 6 P. M.

sighing for the good old times of irresponsi-bility,—instead of opposing our present form of Government, thereby leading the people to believe that it is not compatible with their connexion to the Mother Coun try,-should advance with the train of think ing men, and strive to turn the spirit of the age, now in full activity, in the most useful direction. As to the extent of Responsibility, they need not be at all alarmed. It has been defined, and permanently settled in the British House of Commons. This Mr. Baldwin admitted to the Electors of the Fourth Riding,-stating that it would form no part of future discussion in our House of Assembly.

Skeptical inquiry has gone far enough already; if you continue it, the active princi-ple within you will become dormant. In grasping at the shadow, you will loss the substance. Labour is the inheritance of man, and fuming and frotting about abstruse questions in politics is, by no mease, turn-ing labour to good account. We hope and beitevo, that people are becoming conscious of this fact. *When they arrive altogether at it, then will cease that whirlpool of poli-tics which has circulated in endless vorti-cees, swallowing up much of the good and noble which has unheedingly ventured with-in its baleful influence. When the time comes, and we pray that it may not tarry ready ; if you continue it, the active princi comes, and we pray that it may not tarry long, that all parties join for the good of the country, and make public utility the cry,— then and not till then, will we arrive at the dignity of reasonable beings. And that Press which shall much longer continue to oppose the onward progress, so far from be-ing directors in the great movement of gov ernment, will not be permitted to turr even one of the inferior wheels in the machine. We do not say that this move ment will be started by circumstances,-that it does not in a great measure depend on the thinking men; on the contrary, we believe that it does depend on the Press, and that the time is rapidly coming when they will leave their suicidal cavillings, their rush-light logic, and give fearless ex-pression to the voice which is within them.
