Morris Men Despondent.

After keeping silent since Monday, the Daily News breaks out again this morning with a series of opinions. The story told by us yesterday is characterized as a silly season one. As the editor of the Daily News seeks consolation from his opinion, he is welcome to it. But it proves nothing beyond Mr. Robinson's dislike of it. In return we will give him another about the difficulty his party is finding in getting a third man to face Trinity. A well known business man of Trinity declines to stand for them on the ground it is useless for any one to enter the fight and face the P.P.U. opposition in Trinity, where Sir Robert Bond leading the Liberal Party. Mr. Robinson can put that in his pipe and extract what consolation he can from it. He tells us too that the P.P.U. petitions for an election last fall was a fake one. The P.P.U. men will make it clear to him in a way he cannot fail to grasp within a few months. All that detraction proves is Mr. Robinson's resentment of the attitude of the petitioners. He has no liking for petitions anyway. He signed a deal in 1898 against which many thousands petitioned. There was the same disparagement of these petitions and petitioners. Tories declared that the petitioners had been misled and that the petitions were fakes. But what happened when the people had a chance of recording their votes? Robert Bond was returned by the largest majority which a leader ever secured. Thirty-two Liberals were returned and only four Tories, and out of these four only two had supported the deal. No wonder Mr. Robinson dislikes petitions, particularly when they show a disposition in the petitioners to turn out a Tory Government.

On Saturday we mentioned a number of the settlements in the northern districts which had returned Morris men from which these petitions came. Among them were Indian Arm, Salvage Bay, Bonaville, Clarke's Beach, Freshwater, Catalina, Selby's Cove, Fox Harbor, New Melburn, New man's Cove, Musgrave Town, St. Brendan's, Brooklyn, Northern Arm, Newtown, Wesleyville, Sea Harbor, King's Cove, Heart's Ease, Chaires, New's, English Harbor, Elliston, Bonaville, Hatchett's Cove, Trinity, East Long Beach, Snook's Harbor, Scilly Cove, Old Perican, Valleyfield, Trinity, White Rock, Greenspond, Flat Islands.

The charge of faking is a charge against the P.P.U. and its members for the Supreme Council has clearly put on record that "the contents and form" of these petitions had already received the sanction of the Supreme Council before they were circulated for signatures, and that body also endorsed the contents of the petitions and all that was done in connection with them and called upon members and sympathizers to "fight to oust the present Government this fall." The Daily News expresses also the opinion that our cry against Sir Edward is a parrot cry. Some years ago a Robinson paper expressed this opinion of Sir Edward Morris: "It is long since the tribune of the West End became transformed into the courtier of King Plutos. . . . But what wonder! Sir Edward has more than one illustrious example, wealth not infrequently transforming the Socialist into a reactionary of the bluest tint." Was that a parrot cry against Sir Edward Morris? Or is the opinion that Sir Edward is the legitimate successor of Sir William William Whiteway, whom Mr. Robinson never had a good word for when Sir William was Premier, a parrot cry? Or is Mr. Robinson's opinion that Sir Robert Bond is impossible as a successful leader of a party a parrot cry, given expression to out of disgust that the leader whom they were ready to crown with a halo on his retirement, has not retired as they wished? Mr. Robinson is no more happy in his other opinions. He tells his readers that we have discarded Mr. Coaker and suffered a "last moment conversion" to the folly of Sir Robert Bond. The wish is impossible as the thought. The thought however is astray. We have a long and close relationship of touch with Sir Robert Bond, both by correspondence and conference, and our relations have been of the closest and most confidential character.

Nor have we discarded Mr. Coaker as our defence of him against the charge of faking failed petitioning prove. On the contrary we are in touch with his work north. We know of his cordial reception at Cape Cove on Monday and of the flotilla of motor boats dressed with blinding and loaded with men carrying guns, who greeted him with ringing cheers and volleys of musketry at Cat Harbour the same day. How the men gave up fishing at Seal Cove to receive him and of his successful meetings at night, we know of the big demonstration on Tuesday, how the women laid down mats and carpets for 500 yards, how the men built an arch, and the women presented mats and cushions to Mr. Coaker for the P. P. U. motor boat. We know that Mr. Coaker was well received at Dotting Cove and Seldom yesterday and left for Coakerville.

It is such facts as these that make Morris men desperate. They are sour because Sir Robert Bond has not retired and they are disgusted that Coaker has not been discarded. The Morris men are a disgruntled and peevish crowd, and the Bond men are rejoicing at their discomfiture. The whole circumstances of the case show that there is a great deal of feeling in respect of Morris.

That is why the Robinson and McGrath are attacking Sir Robert Bond. McGrath yesterday affects to prophesy that Sir Robert Bond cannot win any way. Both are dejected at the outlook. Their sound and fury are but beatings of the air, and will not remove the doom that hangs over them. The suggested pictures of Lloyd at the Nickel would not be half as funny as the spectacle of the antics of Robinson and McGrath after Morris's defeat in the fall, nor anything like so acceptable.

Sadly Disappointed.

Several parties of young ladies and gentlemen who were attending St. Mary's picnic at Mt. Pearl yesterday, and after the school children returned to town, waited for the excursion train. A train passed along but did not stop and the picnicers thinking it was the train, had for train, had to "shank's mare" it for Bowring Park with the intention to give the "mare" a rest and use the bus, but were in luck when the bus was on its way, the bus had made its last run for the day, so the only thing to be done was to use the same "mare" for town. But to make matters worse, on reaching the Cross Roads the excursion train came along down the track and the supposition brought about that it was the regular shore train that passed them at Mt. Pearl.

Valuable Stallion Breaks Its Leg.

Yesterday afternoon whilst Mr. Joseph Judge was taking his stallion (Bison Chief) out of the stable, in some way the animal's leg got caught and the bone broke off above the knee. The animal had to be destroyed. This is a very heavy loss to Mr. Judge as he only had the stallion a short while, having bought him at a large figure a few months ago. Bison Chief was one of the finest animals seen here for years.

Rossley Star Theatre.

Last night there was a big crowd at Rossley's Theatre and a very amusing act was enjoyed by all present. Jack and Marie Rossley had the house in rars while the old favorites Orth and Burkhardt came in for a good share of the laughs and applause. There is another funny comedy for to-night. There are also some fine pictures and latest Graphic and Pathé Weekly's together with the Star orchestra, making a pleasant evening's entertainment.
