There are practical difficulties involved in the use of natural gas. A devout servant in Indiana informed her mistress the other day that she "wouldn't cook God's meat over hell fire." "What's the matter with the fire being God's, too?" questioned the mistress; but all in vain. The idea was "again the theology" of the girl, and she promptly gave warning.

Mrs. Taylor, of Onacock, Va., poisoned her husband, and the jury convicted her of murder in the second degree. As the law of Virginia provides that killing by poison is murder in the first degree, the court decides that the verdict was erroneous. It also points out that a person cannot be put on trial for a Ligher grade of crime than that of which he has been convicted for the same offense. Consequently Mrs. Taylor walks out of jail and is a candidate for matrimony instead of the gallows.

Dr. Just, of Coral, Mich., thinks that he has one of the oldest horses in the United States. Twenty-four years ago he bought him off Dan Rice, the showman, and then horse was said to be 22 years old. Undoubtedly he was all of that, for horses ages are seldom overstated up to 25 years. The other day State Veterinarian Grange made a careful examination of the 46-year-old, and pronounced him perfectly sound of body, wind and limb, and apparently good for twenty years more. Dr. Just uses the old fellow daily in his practice, and he shows not the slightest signs of his great age.

If any sea captain has had a more uneventful and successful life than Capt. Nathaniel H. Falker, of Biddeford, Me., let him say so. Capt. Falker, who the other day sold his last vessel, the schooner Messenger, and retired from bushees, was born 69 years ago. Sendinavam competition having almost mitiely destroyed the business of shipping ice from Boston to England, which was once very profitable. Ice is sold in London from 38 to 31 cents per hundred-weight.

R. P. Shillaber (Mrs. Partington) is tied up in a complicated knot of rheumatism, but his chesrful disposition stands by him still. To a friend he recently spoke of himself as sitting "from year's end to year's end, armed with pen, paper, pipe, pills and patience."

Mrs. Amelie Rives-Chanler, who is with her husband in London, intends to take apartments in Paris, and enter the art school of Cols. Rossi and study. At present she is writing a book about the children amployed in mills. She may stay abroad for several years.
