TERRIBLE INDIAN MASSACRE

Reported From Sorrow Island, British Columbia—An Insuit to a Girl the Cause.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 22.—Stanley Smith, who arrived here from Bellaccola a few days ago, brings word that rumors are in circulation in that district of a terrible Indian massacre that took place a few weeks ago on Sorrow Island. Some Rivers Inlet Indians went there to hunt otter, and on the island were some of the Kitkatatas tribe further north, also hunting. The atory is that a Rider's Inlet man molested a Kitkatatas girl. Her tribe avenged the insuit by killing the offending man. A general fight ensued and the Rivers Inlet men were vanquished. All were killed with the exception of three chiefs, who were spared because of their rank and imprisoned in a hut.

A Thamesville Robbery.

THAMESVILLE, Ont., Feb. 22.—Last night Mr. Jesse Lawrence, living about three miles from this village, and who had drawn $650 from Mayhew & Harmer's Bank here, was on his way home, and when opposite Aldis Mayhew's farm about one mile out he was seized, masked, robbed and thrown down into the snow by unknown parties. He then came back, found a police constable and a search for tracks was made, but no clue has been discovered as yet.

WAITING.

Yes. Jennie, your uncle Ephraim's gone; He was aifin' for weeks you know, But som how it allors seemed to mo That I'd be the first to go.

And I believe he kinder thought so too.

For I remember a hear ag him say
As how lonely t'would be in the old how?

When I should be took away.

And I'd allers had a hope, Jennie, That when it came to the worst, And Ephraim and me was parted That the Lord would call me first.

I know t'was a selfish feeling, child— Seifish and, therefore, wrong: But I thought I couldn't live alone I had lived with him so long. Yes, I had lived with him so long, Jennie,
"Twill be three score years come May
Since I cressed that threshold as his bride
Upon our wedding day.

We were married at the old home place, The red house on the hill, You can see it from that window there, For it is standing still.

Ahl the weddin's they had in them days. Dear me! how times do change; All these new-fangled notions Seem to me so very strange.

No printed invitations then, No presents like you have now;

And a few of the neighbors just dropped in, when Ephriam and me were wed, For they wanted to see the knot tied, And wish us joy, they said. There was a cousin, Susan, and her man,
Tabitha and Abram a ce.
Father, mother and Jonathan,
And they re all gone now but me.

Yes, they're all gone now but me, Jennie, And I ain't got long 10 stay, But the good Lord knows I'm willin' He should call me any day.

Why do you look so strange, child, And open your blue eyes so? Do you think if they all had left you That you would be loth to go?

Your life is just in its morning, And all looks fair and bright, But mine is nearing its close, dear, It reaches into the night.

The nothing to do but wait
The nothing to do but wait
For the Father above to call me
And open the "Pearly Gate."
