SUSPECT ARRESTED AT BUFFALO

Detective Miller Admits Being Completely Baffled in the Case.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 27. - Provincial Detective Miller, who arrived in the city this morning to investigate the Who Was Brutally Murdered at Hammurder of Miss Ethel Kinrade, has so far failed to find a starting point. The officer admits that he is baffled, and points out that the lack of a definite clue may lead to no developments. He says that the girl's description of the murderer is faulty, and possibly inac curate, and that there are thousands of similar-appearing men in the country. The lack of motive is also another point which is puzzling the provincial Apparently the Men of London officer, for the tramp—if he was a tramp—had been handed all the money he wanted, and yet ruthlessly shot the girl. The officer says he cannot con-ceive of a tramp committing such an act. At the same time, he has started out on a thorough investigation, although at the outset he met the first obstacle this morning, when Miss Flor-

YUKON IS THE LAND OF GOLD

Climate Is Not So Bad As Has Been Stated.

MR. CONGDON'S BRIGHT ADDRESS

Some Very Interesting Facts and Figures of an Interesting

A very interesting lecture was given in Hyman Hall last evening on Yukon," by Mr. F. Congdon, M. P. for that constituency. There was a good attendance, and the address was much enjoyed. Br. Congdon told many wonderful things of the Yukon, and showed its great possibilities. Mr. George S Gibbons, president of the club, presideded.

In opening his address Mr. Congdon declared that he was glad to come to London, and he congratulated the club

The Address.

It has been the custom of Canadians to state that Canada was much larger than the United States without Alaska. That was true, but it was generally added that the north half of the coun try did not amount to very much, that it would add little either to the history or the wealth of the country. This was not true. The north country was rich in mining, timber and fishing-how rich no person yet knew. If an irregular line were drawn from the 51st parallel on the coast of Labrador, to When the Lake Superior, north from there to the 54th, and west through British Columbia to the west coast, it would show that practically all the land north of The ministers as a that was unexplored. The agricultural possibilities of the country were great, and there was no doubt that grazing could be successfully carried on. There were thousands age premises this morning about of caribou and moose in that country, and the largest flock of mountain sheep in the world was to be found there. The contest is young yet, and although some of the contestants have quite a large vote, it is not one that should in anyway discourage the friends of those, who are not so fortunate. It is more difficult to make the fortieth thousand than the first, and it is a good deal easier for the candidate who is near the foot of the list to make large gains, than is for the one at the head. Nobody is in anyway hopelessly distanced. There is plenty of time, a great field for operation, and all that is necessary to change the face of the situation is to
