OWEN SOUND HOTELS RAISE THEIR RATES

First Effects of Local Option Passing, According to Hotel Proprietors.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Owen Sound, Jan. 26 .- One of the first changes noticeable here since local option carried is the raising of hotel rates. All prices advance short-

Immediately on the carrying of local option several weeks ago cense Inspector Matthew C. Beckett visited each hotel and warned the hotelmen that since it was to be local option for three years longer, he purposed using every means at his disposal to insure the enforcement of the law. It was to be war to the hilt if the hotelmen would not meet the requirements of the law. To the oblections of some that the business would not pay, the inspector urged that all the hotelmen meet and strike a schedule of such rates as would insure them a comfortable margin over expenses. None of the hotelmen was willing to take the initiative, to say nothing of the fact that there were two avowedly temperance hotels. Thereupon the inspector himself called the meeting, and the hotelmen attended, and a day or so ago another meeting was held, at which a schedule of prices was arranged to suit the accommodation afforded by the various hotels here. The new scale represents an increase over the prevcharged for similar accommodation in towns of corresponding size. The act of the license inspector in connection with the matter is being commented upon favorably by citizens generally, and it is felt that the il legal sale of liquor by the hotels will probably cease entirely. In fact, during the past three weeks it has be come a matter of comment locally that the town has never been so "dry and the conviction is growing that this state of affairs has come to stay.

IN ULSTER HALL

Churchill Writes Saying He and Redmond Will Use Some Other Building.

LESSENS CHANCE OF ROW

But Likelihood of Trouble and Bloodshed in Belfast on Feb. 8 Still Remains,

London, Jan. 25.-The danger of a clash in Belfast on Feb. 8 between the Ulster Unionists and the supporters of home rule on the occasion of the meeting at which Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty; John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, and others are to speak, has been considerably lessened by the action of Mr. Churchill in writing a letter to the Marquis of Londonderry, chairman of the Belfast Unionist council, in which he agrees not to speak in Ulster Hall. which has been the Mecca of Orangemen for years, on the occasion referred to. The Orangemen have held all their great meetings in this particular hall, and they have declared for weeks past that it should not be DIED IN CHICAGO for weeks past that it should not be profaned on the night in question by home rule demonstration.

Churchill's Letter.

Mr. Churchill says, however, that he will speak in Belfast on that night, but in some other hall. He adds that if there should be any rioting on the occasion in question. the responsibility for it will rest on Lord Londonderry.

Mr. Churchill says in his letter: "It is my auty to keep my promise to the Ulster Liberal Association, and assert the right of free speech in a public meeting. But as the main objections appear to be directed against the holding of the meeting in Ulster Hall, I shall ask the Irish Liberal Association to accede to your wish. There will thus be no necessity for your friends to endure the hardships of a vigil or sustain the anxieties of a siege. Neither will it be necessary for you to break the law in an attempt to deprive us forcibly of the use of property to which we are lawfully entitled.

"It is not a point of any importance to me whether I speak in Belfast. On the contrary, I desire to choose whatever hall or place is least likely to cause ill-feling to the Orange

The letter concludes: "It has, however, become of importance to public liberties that meeting should take place at Belfast on Feb. 8, and I intend to of elementary rights of citizenship." The harbor commissioners of Belfast, by informing Mr. Churchill that Feb. 9 would be an inconvenient day for his proposed visit of inspection, gave strong support to the Liberals made a formal demand to be placed in possession of Ulster Hall on the morning of Feb. 8, with a view of defeating the Unionist tactics.

At this point, as a result of the conference held in London yesterday, Mr. Churchill volunteered to accept a change in the place of meet-

Ulster Still Seething. excitement in Ulster over the coming meeting was added to this week by the action of the Unionists in hiring Ulster Hall for the night of with the intention o holding it by force of numbers on the next day and keeping the supporters of home rule out. Everything pointed to a tremendous assemblage of the two factions and serious trou-Mr. Churchill, as already stated, has quieted these fears to a great extent though the likelihood of trouble and bloodshed still remains. The English Unionist newspaper and politicians were at first disposed to deprecate the action of the Orange men, but this week they have switched about and are now approving

London, Jan. 26 -Winston Spence Churchill's action in giving up his intention to speak in Ulster Hall, Belfast, on Feb. 8, is commented on favorably in today's newspapers. Only the bitteres opponents of the first lord of the admiralty chide him with retreating from a boot and shoe stock in Berlin and has position which he should never have

The home rule meeting in Belfast wil now probably be held in St. Mary's Hall, which is right in the Nationalist quarter Dispatches from Ireland today express the fear that it will be difficult to pre vent trouble in Belfast on the day of the meeting. The Unionists may find that they have created a force which they wil be unable to control. Some of the Irish newspapers now advise Win-Unionist ston Churchill to cancel his visit entirely.
