A first-class Magazine in every respect.
Lippincott's Magazine.
A Popular Monthly of General Literature.

With the issue for January, 1886, important changes will be made in the literary character and typographical appearance of Lippincott's Magazine, which, while more than maintaining the former standards of excellence, will, it is expected, materially increase its popularity and widen its sphere of usefulness. The distinctive features of Lippincott's for the coming year will be as follows:—

It will be a live periodical, interesting itself in all the current topics of the day, literary, artistic, political and social, and enlisting in their discussion the ablest pens in England and America. A fair hearing will be accorded to all sides of a controversy, though the magazine will strictly preserve its own neutrality.

It will be especially strong in fiction. A new novel entitled "Hope," by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," "No New Thing," etc., who is perhaps the newest of the rising authors of England, will run through the year, accompanied by brilliant serials, dealing with the literary and dramatic life of New York City, from the pen of a writer who prefers to keep his name a secret, but whose every touch reveals an intimate acquaintance with the scenes which he describes.

It will be rich in short stories, poems and sketches.

By special arrangement it will be the authorized medium through which the latest utterances of the most eminent transatlantic writers will reach the American public simultaneously with their appearance abroad.

It will number among its American contributors such writers as Gail Hamilton, Julian Hawthorne, Harriet Prescott Spofford, John Bach McMaster, "J. S. of Dale," J. Brander Matthews, etc., etc.

It will be the cheapest first-class magazine issued in America. Recognizing the needs of the time for good literature at moderate prices, the publishers have decided to lower the subscription price, commencing with the new volume, to a sum that will place Lippincott's Magazine within the reach of all.
