

In that sense, we are all heirs and trustees of the democratic traditions of the Americas.

We are all the spiritual descendants of those people indigenous to the Americas as well as those intrepid explorers who made their way across an ocean, seeking the Indian subcontinent, and found the Western hemisphere instead.

And we are all still seeking a new and a better world.

Thank you.