

INDEX

CHAPTER I.

| | PAGE. |
|--|-------|
| A young bridegroom—His fear that he has not duly considered his circumstances—A glance at his life—His fiancée—The wedding—Commencement of the wedding journey.. . . . | 9 |

CHAPTER II.

| | |
|---|----|
| The wedding journey continued in a waggon and through a new section of country and forest land—Tom Haggerty, stage proprietor and driver, entertains his passengers with wit and wisdom—An adventure with a bear and her two cubs.. . . . | 16 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER III.

| | |
|---|----|
| A new character—He is much astonished at a new business secured for him through the energy and ambition of his wife.. . . . | 23 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER IV.

| | |
|---|----|
| The Bethesda—A contract—trying ordeal.. . . . | 27 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER V.

| | |
|---|----|
| The Rev. Mr. Dawson introduces his bride to Mrs. Tiffson, his boarding mistress. She decides that he has been captivated by a pretty face—that his wife is incapable, and too proud to associate with his parishioners—Mrs. Dawson soon rises in his esteem.. . . . | 32 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER VI.

| | |
|--|----|
| Christmas—Christmas presents—Children of the Betheds.. . . . | 40 |
|--|----|

CHAPTER VII.

| | |
|---|----|
| A change in the management of the children—The effect surprises the directresses—The Annual meeting—Boys skilled in the art of self-defence—A street arah.. . . . | 46 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER VIII.

| | |
|--|----|
| A new contract—Customs at the Bethesda—Mark's troubles with the drains and sidewalks.. . . . | 52 |
|--|----|

CHAPTER IX.

| | |
|---|----|
| Mrs. Dawson's tact and judgment gain the respect and friendship of their parishioners—Her dread of getting in debt—A hungry visitor produces a famine in the household—John's two sisters visit him and May, and their experience and practical knowledge are of great assistance to May, at a time when it is much needed. | 59 |
|---|----|