DARKTOWN SWELLS COMPANY. Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Darktown Swells Company will appear at the Grand, at popular prices. The show is of the style of the South before the war. It is brimful of fun and good singing and dancing. Prices for the matinee, 15 and 25 cents, with 15, 25, 35 and 50 cents for the evening.

MATHEWS & BULGER. It will certainly be "a hot time in the old town" when Mathews & Bulger, the real funny boys, present their rag-time opera, "By the Sad Sea Waves," at the Grand (matinee and night) on Saturday. That they have a novel performance, filled to repletion with bright material, a large supporting company, gay costumes, picturesque scenery and everything in the way of wit, song, music and beauty, should prove sufficiently potent to attract a big audience, and present one of the most enjoyable performances that the heart of the most blase theater-goer could desire, and the company being made up of sterling worth, and including such farceuers as Ned Wayborn, W. H. Macart, Bob Vernon, Gus Mortimer, Gilly Gregory, Will West, Nellie Hawthorne, Josie DeWitt, Rose Melville, Eva Leslie, Julia Ralph, Agnes Say Wayborn, Elizabeth Berbervale, Bessie Challenger, Lizzie Sanger and Lottie Ettugen truly an assemblage of wonderfully clever people-"By the Sad Sea Waves should prove one of the most desirable of the season's attractions.

"THE GIRL FROM CHILI." "The Girl From Chill" is the title of brilliantly humorous and quick-actioned farcical comedy by William L. Roberts, author of "The Commodore," which will be presented at the Grand on Friday. As may be imagined from the title, "The Girl From Chili" is a young woman of fiery temper and excitable disposition, whose spare moments are spent in such peaceful occupations as tiger-taming. She is in pursuit of a young man who has flirted with her, and who in his endeavors to escape is compelled to assume a variety of disguises, including those of an old woman, a Patagonian savage and a foot-In each his troubles increase, man. and the complications grow greater, till at the end he is released owing to the girl falling in love with his friend.

near his home yesterday morning. He had been visiting Albert Langlois, his step-son, on the Essex farm, and started for home in the evening. His body was found in the morning by a member of his family. He was 79 years old. The cause of death was heart disease. James Hindmarsh, a 14-year-old

He was skating on the river and gained such impetus that he went Schreiber & Co., the manufacturers of completely over the dam into the the famous "Spot" cigar, in a charac-stream beneath. The little one while playing around got hold of a bottle of carbolic acid and drank a quantity of its contents. The child was seized with convulsions and frothing at the mouth. In this condition he was driven rapidly to the city and to Dr. Philip's surgery, where Drs. Heath, Nichol and Bier were called in consultation. While John Evans and his two sons were gleaning coal the other day in less than half a bottle cured me; I the G. T. R. yards, Windsor, between the depot and the roundhouse, the old man had a narrow escape. A freight to a trial, as I was reduced to such a train was going out and an express state that I doubted the power of any coming in, but John was so absorbed in his occupation that he did not notice the latter, about 200 yards off. The engineer on the express frantically pulled his whistle, but John kept his nose to the ground, and was blissfully unconscious of his danger, so brakes were applied and the train stopped within a few yards of the old man, who just then woke up to the situation. So sudden and violent was the application of the brakes that the passengers were thrown out of their seats and swarmed to the platforms to see what was the matter. An amusing incident transpired in a well-known Brantford hotel this week. The proprietor had purchased a number of the long defunct Bank of Brantford bank notes, and had his advertisement printed on the blank side. A couple of hours after the first lot had been distributed, he went to the till in the bar and discovered that one of the notes had been worked off as legal tender on the barkeeper. The boniface's feelings can be imagined. He marshaled the staff and read the riot act, winding up with the remark: "If I knew which of you was the lobster, break the china." Bank of Brantford notes will not be worked off in that hostelry again for some time.

Windsor Record: Horse sense and providence saved an unknown man from a watery grave here early Thursday morning. About 2 o'clock Night-watchman Gilbert, at the malt house, noticed a rig standing on the pier at the ferry landing, and upon investigation he found the horse with his forefeet resting on the edge of the wharf, and its driver, an old man, fast asleep in the buggy. He was roused up and, it is said, that he was so drunk that he knew not what his name was. It is a miracle that the horse did not plunge Woodstock-Galt Boy Goes Over a into the river with buggy and man Dam While Skating-An Old Man's after him. The animal showed good "horse" sense in stopping where he did. Immediate steps are to be taken to have the dock guarded in such a way as to prevent any possible drowning fatality, which might otherwise result from similar circumstances attending the episode of Thursday morning.
