Divisions from East.

It is reported that at least three German reserve divisions have been brought up from the eastern front since April 8, and that one, and perhaps two of these, formed part of the forces which attacked the Le Mort Homme position on April 12. As much as 40 per cent. of the youth of the 1916 class has been fighting with the army of the crown prince.

General Petain has not brought forward all his reserves of heavy artillery of which the newest addition is the monster 15-inch gun. Great masses of artillery stand hitched to their traction engines so as to be ready for throwing into the conflict at the moment chosen as most favorable. Every counter-attack of the French has be launched at the time determined by the general in command and every one has been successful in attaining its object. COLD RECEPTION
