STARS TO COMPETE

English Varsity Athletes Work Will Be Closely Watched-Toronto Entry.

Philadelphia, April 29.-With the Oxford-Cambridge track team as the star attraction, the University of Pennsylvania inaugurates its annual two-day relay carnival here tomorrow. Every indication points to the meet being the greatest intercollegiate track and field games ever staged in the United States. In addition to the entries of the leading British varsity athletes almost every college or university of prominence in the country will have team or individual entrants. An additional international aspect is added to the games by the appearance of a competitor from Toronto University. relay carnival here tomorrow. Every in-aspect is added to the games by the appearance of a competitor from Toronto University.

The keen interest evinced in the contests is reflected by the largest advance sale of seats in the history of the relays which covers a period of 25 years, Officers of the University of Pennsylvania predicted a larger attendance than was the case in 1914 when the Oxford team won the four-mile race, the feature event of that year's carnival. Weather forecasts tonight were for fair and warmer weather and the high wind and warm sun dried out the track at Franklin Field today to an extent that promised a fast track and possibly new record in several events.

Chief interest centres in the performances of the visiting English runners. Oxford and Cambridge will compete in three events tomorrow, having one entrant in the 440-yard low hurlles, the three-mile run and the medley distance relay championship. (Captain B. G. D. Rudd of Oxford, a Rhodes scholar from St. Andrew's' College, South Africa, will be the English representative in the 440 yards hurdles race and will face among other star hurdlers Thompson of Princeton, and Kilby of Redlands University, California. All these runners have covered the quarter in close to 50 seconds. Rudd, while he has had little experience over the hurdles, ran a close second to Butler, of Cambridge, who won the 440 yards race in the dual Oxford-Cambridge games on March 27 in 49 3-5 seconds.

Montague of Oxford will be the British Montague of Oxford will be the British ford-Cambridge games on March 27 in 49 3-5 seconds.

Montague of Oxford will be the British entrant in the special three mile run, which has been placed on the program to give the English runner a chance to show his ability in his specialty. Montague is said to be one of the greatest distance runners developed in England in years. His leading opponent tomorrow, it is thought, will be found among the quintet composed of Bond and Campbell of Cornell; McMahon, Massachusetts Tech.; Nightengale, New Hampshire State, and Hisler, Drexel Institute of this city. In the Oxford-Cambridge meet Montague won the three-mile race by more than 80 yards in 14 minutes 45 3-5 seconds.

In the distance medley relay in which four men will run respectively 440 yards, 880 yards, % mile and one mile, the combined Oxford-Cambridge teams will face the best quartets available, at more than a dozen eastern and middle western uni-
