

INDIVIDUAL CARE BEATS HERDING

Dr. Dwight Chapin Shows
How Unit System Saves
the Babies.

Information along new lines was given in an exceptionally interesting address by Dr. Henry Dwight Chapin, M.D., New York, under the auspices of the Child Welfare Council of Toronto at the Physics Building of the University of Toronto yesterday afternoon. The outstanding feature of the lecture was that a home was always to be preferred for the child in preference to an institution. The speaker did not blame institutions, but the system. "Babies are born individually, not in droves," said Dr. Chapin. "And the system of herding them in droves is wrong. The infant mortality under institutional conditions is from 35 to 75 per cent., and as a result of epidemics and cross-infections many who do not die have established the basis of tuberculosis. Almost everyone in some stage of existence, has had tuberculosis in some form, and the institution in such cases establishes it."

The newness came into the address when Dr. Chapin told of his plan for obtaining suitable homes properly watched. This is accomplished in what the speaker termed the unit system. Here homes are chosen, the principal thing recommending same being a motherly woman as occupant. A number of these form the unit to which a nurse and doctor are attached.

Speedwell System.
During the last sixteen years in New York 4,000 children have been boarded in individual homes. The method is specifically known as the Speedwell system, three unit areas being in operation. These are Morristown, New Jersey; New Rochelle, N.Y., and Yonkers, N.Y. The cost of maintaining a child in a private home is $18 a week, the milk being also supplied at an additional cost of about $5. The economic side was explained when the doctor said: "Our entire investment is in human service and not in bricks and mortar."

Soldier's Chance Better.
The chance of life for a child in the institutional home in infancy was defined when the speaker stated that "the soldier on the battlefield has nine times as good a chance as the baby in the institution." Rev. Father Bench, seconded by Dr. Hastings, expressed appreciation for the address.

Mrs. Adam Ballantyne presided at the meeting and a large audience among whom were many of the medical profession and social service workers were present. Reports from the Child Welfare Council were read, and the officers for the year appointed as follows: President, Mrs. Adam Ballantyne; Vice-president, Rev. J. J. Bench; Treasurer, Miss A. Hodgkins; Secretary, Miss Hilda Burns; executive, R. E. Mills, F. N. Stapleford, Judge Stott.

There was a birthday cake with pink and white icing and pink candles, and a second one at the other end of the table—a present to the young host. The children looked lovely in their pretty summer frocks, pale pink, blues, white muslin and lace. Her hair was of white tulle with ostrich plumes and she carried a shower of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. DR. BLAND NON-COMMITTAL.
The labor and the veteran elements in the city have selected their candidates for the seat in the legislature vacated by Dr. Cody, for Northeast Toronto. Neither Major Stoddard, the veteran nominee, nor the Rev. Dr. Bland, who is labor's champion, would commit themselves to any statement when interviewed by the World yesterday.

Dr. Bland confessed that he received a labor deputaion last night, but would not give any information as to what transpired, or whether he would accept nomination. Major Stoddard also considers that a disclosure of his platform or policy, at present would be premature.

MARTIAL MIDGETS INVADE ARMORIES

Separate School Cadets Show
Precision of Soldier Fathers.

Nearly 1,500 children from the various separate schools throut the city met in the armories yesterday afternoon for a demonstration and competition in military drill, physical training and folk dancing. The occasion was the first annual meeting of the separate schools cadets, a corps which was organized last year and has since had great progress. The judges were Col. R. K. Barker and Col. S. J. Higgins, and the direction of the military manoeuvres was in the hands of Quartermaster Sergeant B. Hornbeck, who also directs the training at the various schools.

The demonstration seemed to lack something of its stern military dignity as the miniature warriors executed intricate movements of the compass of diminutive officers and n.c.o.s. The hard cobbles floor, which, for the last five years has resounded continuously to the drilling and tramping of heavy feet being initiated in the mysteries of forming fours and marching at ease as a necessary preliminary to wading the oceans of mud in France, presented an altogether new aspect under the twinkling feet of our new elfin army.

The precision and technical faultlessness with which the boys carried out their movements and the girls their folk dancing and physical drill, spoke volumes for the thoroughness of the training and the diligence of both teachers and pupils.

The demonstration covered two days, Thursday and Friday, and the prizes for the winners of the various contests are to be presented at St. Michael's Hall on Tuesday, June 22nd.

The winning schools for the entire demonstration were: 1st St. Clare, 2nd St. Helen's, 3rd St. Michael's. The winners of the boys' drilling were: (Senior) 1st St. Clare, 2nd St. Michael's, (Junior) 1st St. Helen's, 2nd St. Paul's. Other competitions were won by St. Mary's (4th Toronto Separate Schools Regiment) and St. Anthony's. Boys' physical training (senior) contest winners were: 1st St. Michael's and 2nd St. Clare; senior girls' Strathcona drill and folk dancing 1st St. Anthony's, 2nd St. Clare; junior boys' 1st St. Anthony's, 2nd St. James; junior girls, 1st St. Michael's, 2nd St. Peter's.

"What's in a Name?"

Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

By MILDRED MARSHALL

RHODA.

Among the flower names which have been under discussion in past weeks, appears one name which is not generally recognized as belonging to the list. It is Rhoda, the graceful Greek name, which has completely lost its identity under importation and is now regarded as purely English and American. The name signifies "rose." It is taken from the Greek word for the flower.

It was apparently transplanted intact to English shores, as there is no record of its evolution from a Greek root. The Rhodans which appeared in France and named the wife of Gilbert de Gaunt, is thought by etymologists to have arisen from the Latin rhos, meaning fame, rather than to have been taken from the flower. Indeed, most of the derivatives of the feminine name, Rose, are believed to have come from this source rather than from the bloom. Thus Rhoda is almost unique in her place and significance; likewise it has never suffered contraction.

The ruby is Rhoda's talismanic gem. It possesses the deep red color which is likewise her talisman, and symbolizes the fulfillment of her ambitions, bodily and mental health, and peace of bearing. Tuesday is her lucky day and 8 her lucky number.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Woman is taking up so much of the new spirit these days, that the only place where man is any longer at all, appears to be this little column.

Alcohol was, at once, the friend and the rival of a woman. In every bachelor's heart. It inspired him to slop over with sentiment—but it made him so happy and contented, that it took all the edge off his desire for a sweet home life.

Now that there is no stigma attached to spinsterhood and no special premium on a wedding-ring, marriage has become a sweet luxury instead of a bitter necessity.

When a man tries to be as good half the time as a woman has to be, all of the time, he is either called as a saint or scorned as a "dolly."

Where is the sweet old-fashioned girl who used to wear pink dimity and roll pie-crust? Down in the garden with Father, Algernon, wearing overalls and rolling a lawn-mower!

Love is the only luxury in the world for which we must pay in advance (with sacrifices) at the altar (with our freedom); and forever afterward, in daily installments of devotion and renunciation. But then, it's the only luxury worth all that!

Long after a man has forgotten a sweetheart's parting words, he can remember the foolish little thing she said at their first meeting—about his eyes, cravats, or his resemblance to Napoleon.

According to most of the masculine writers in the satirical magazines, whatever a woman is in wrong! That's why she's so interesting to write about.

The best that the average wife can hope for, is to be one of the only women her husband ever loved!
