How did you get Miss Bounce out of your bridge club? Did you ask her to resign?

"No, we didn't like to do that, but we all resigned except Mrs. Bounce, and then we all got together and formed a new club."

Parke—What's wrong? You seem very worried.

Streeter—I am. I wrote two notes, out to my brother, to ask if he took me for a fool, and one to Miss Bounce, asking her if she would be mine.

A DEAL IN HATS That veteran sportsman and fine old English gentleman, the Earl of Coventry, who is still hale and hearty, though nearing his seventy-ninth year, has been entertaining a number of wounded at Grooms Court, his beautiful place in Wiltshire.

Lord Coventry is one of the old school, and is never seen in London without silk hat, the glossiness of which is something to marvel at.

These hats he used, before war economy became the fashion, to buy by the dozen; and once a certain West-End hatter had the temerity to write reminding him that his account for them was "overdue."

Whereupon the earl, so the story goes, visited the shop in person and gave the proprietor the following reply to his request for payment:

"You state," he said solemnly as he stood over him shaking his finger as though warning him to be careful, "that this account is overdue. Remember that a bill of exchange or a bill of acceptance may become overdue, but a tradesman's account never. A gentleman pays when he thinks he will or when it happens to be convenient; but to show that the account exists I will settle the bill—and take another dozen hats."

How Russian Revolt Will Help Allies Win the War

The crucible of war has produced the Russian revolution, and others are apparently expected by observers who note that the peoples of all the belligerent nations are taking stock of their rulers with a clear-eyed vision

"The Russian people," says Russkoye Slovo (New York), "are opposed to war and to militarism, but they believe that their own success as revolutionists will mean revolution on the part of the Germanic peoples.

You should read THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 24th to form an accurate opinion of the cause and result of the Russian Revolution, and the effect it will have in deciding the fortunes of war for the Entente Allies.

Other features in this number of immediate and pressing interest to the Canadian people are: Arming American Ships With American Guns and Gunners

Both Sides of the Railway Fight. The Extent of Hunger in Europe. Effects of Germany's Retreat on the Somme.

The Red Cross "Dogs of War." The Naval Smoke-Screen. Who Writes American Plays? "War-Sunday" in New York.

Two Years' Sobriety in Russia. New Illustrations, Including the Most Humorous and Pointed Cartoons.

What is Good for the Child Should be Good for the Parent In educating our children we do not follow the policy of insisting that they shall confine themselves to a narrow and one-sided view of things.
