161 MILES OF TRACK WAS LAID LAST YEAR

(Montreal Gazette.) During the last year there were only 161 miles of new track laid down in the nion. The length of mileage actusuffered decrease by the lifting of ally suffered decrease by the litting of rails to the extent of some 400 miles, and sending the rails to France. This is the first year in connection with Canadian railway history in which that could be said. We have gone on before the war, laying down fresh rails, here and there, all over the country. Especially in the west did the C. P. R. lay down branch lines even before the advent of the settler, who, nevertheless, made his appearance in due time—thus confirming the foresight of the C. P. R. Before the war there was a perfect riot of railway building, with the result that we have more than one white elephant on our hands. The war put an end to track laying; but now we are discovering that we want more rails, not on the prairies, but in the more densely populated districts,
