According to Dr. Schuller, of London, the bad effects of chloroform on the piu mater are neutralized by nitrate of amyl. This substance, it is stated, even in cases of complete anæsthesia, arrests suffocation reestablishes normal respiration, and allows the pulse to regain its vigor. This, if de monstrated beyond doubt by further ne cessary investigations, will be an importan ery, since it tends to neutralize the serious danger which now in many inst ances attends the use of chloroform.

A USEFUL CLEARANCE.—Last week over seventy liquor-saloon-keeper's were arrested in this city for selling intoxicating drinks without a license. WEATHER AND CROPS .- The Colonial Farmer speaking of the crops says: "So unfavorable has been the weather for some time past, that some of the crops are still unhoused. We are R. Ross. told that in some parts of the upper Counties on the St. John River, oats and buckwheat are still out-doors, and there are well grounded fears that much will be irretrievably ruined. Some buckwheat and a good many potat es have yet to be gathered in the lower Counties. The buckwheat has been so long exposed as to become of little value. The growing crops through the summer and early autumn looked splendid, and the prospects of an abundant crop are somewhat clouded by the continued unpropitious weather for harvesting.
