THE MANOR HOUSE AT SANTA ROSA BURNED

It Was Built by Thomas L. Harris, Founder of the Fountain Grove Colony.

SANTA ROSA, Calif., June 19.—The Manor House, the central dwelling of the Fountain Grove Colony, founded by Thomas L. Harris, the English Mystic, was destroyed by fire caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp yesterday. Harris came here from London in the seventies and established the Fountain Grove colony, building a magnificent manor house at a cost of $40,000 for his residence and the most prominent of his followers was the late Oliver Oliphant, the well known English writer and diplomatist, who became a member of Harris' colony about 1884. The Manor House has been occupied by Dr. F. B. Webley ever since Thomas L. Harris removed his headquarters to New York.

HAD MORE DEGREES THAN ANY OTHER MASON

CHICAGO, June 19.—Gilbert Wadsworth Barnard, well known to the Masonic Fraternity, died at his residence here early today after a lingering illness of several months. Heart disease was the cause of his death. "Gil" W. Barnard, as he was known to his friends, held more active Masonic offices and had more degrees than any other member of the order so far as is known. His degrees numbered more than 300, a large proportion being conferred by collateral orders. His connection with Masonry began in 1864. Mr. Barnard was born in Palmyra, N.Y., in 1834.

STEAMSHIP SURGEON COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEW YORK, June 19.—Dr. Thos. W. Small, chief surgeon of the American liner St. Louis, committed suicide in his cabin on the steamer early today by shooting himself with the act known. Dr. Small had been employed by the American line nine years, and had an extensive acquaintance among ocean travelers. When ashore he lived with his wife in this city.

SHERIFF FREEZE HONORED.

(Sussex Record.) As Sheriff Freeze is known to his intimate friends as the only real fisherman that Kings County has ever boasted, the one man who really knows how to cast a fly and not exaggerate what he has landed his fish, it is not surprising that when it became known in Hamilton that the Sheriff was about to visit the waters once again, there was an almost involuntary movement on the part of citizens of the capital city to see that their leading citizen was well fitted out for the trip. Headed by Mayor H. R. Smith, a committee was authorized to raise a public subscription in an effort to make the departure of the Sheriff a memorable one. Not a single refusal was met with and on Thursday last those having the presentation of the gift of the fishing outfit of the kind with produced a fine although nearly overcome by smoke, he managed to arouse the family. In getting down stairs he fell and lay helpless. His mother dragged him to safety.

Then the daughter was missed and the mother went back into the house and brought her out.

The property was totally destroyed, and the family is in destitute circumstances. A subscription is being raised for their benefit.

THE DEATH ROLL

CHICAGO, June 19.—William Hamilton Young, Manager of the Washington office of the Western Union Tel. Company, and familiarly known to newspaper men throughout the country as "Colonel Ham" Young, died today at the home of his son, Frank M. Young, in New York. He came here on duty connected with the Republican National Convention and was taken ill yesterday at the Coliseum. Mr. Young was one of the oldest telegraph operators in America, and was the retiring president of the old-time Telegraphers' Association. He entered the Telegraph service in 1850 and during the civil war served in the war department.

CRIPPLE SAVED FROM FIRE BY HIS MOTHER

Columbia Man and Sister Dragged Out of Burning Home

COLUMBIA, Pa., June 18.—Lynn Barefoot, a crippled railroad worker, and his sister were rescued from their burning home Monday morning by their mother. Barefoot was unable to find his way out of the house, but his mother, who was a strong and brave woman, managed to get him out. The house was a two-story building, and the fire had spread rapidly. The mother was seen dragging her son out of the burning building. The fire was caused by a kerosene lamp which had tipped over. The family had been sleeping in the house. RUSH OF LADIES TO PAY THE DUTY

Scare in Chatham Is Enriching Country's Treasury

Customs Collector Says Next Batch Delected Will Suffer Full Penalty of the Law

CHATHAM, Ont., June 18.—Ten more notices were sent out today by the local Customs officers to Chatham women who have been smuggling goods from Detroit, making a total of 30 notices issued. The women notified are all settling their cases by paying the duty on the goods smuggled. Already 15 of them have paid up, in amounts ranging from 50 cents to $5. Several women who did not receive notices, but who were guilty of smuggling, have been so frightened that they have gone to the Customs office and have paid the duty on the stuff they had purchased over the border. The present campaign has made smuggling very unpopular. The present officers are being allowed off by paying the duty only where they are legally liable to pay also the price of the goods and a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $500.

The Collector Customs, D. R. Parquharson, announces that the next lot of people caught smuggling will have to suffer the full penalty of the law, as he intends to make Police Court cases out of every future offence.

Capt. Demers, Here, Scores St. John Ship Owners—Don't Want Sailors

Capt. L. A. Demers, F. R. A. S., of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, chief examiner of masters and mates, was in the Royal city yesterday. Captain Demers leaves this morning for Yarmouth where he will, together with the examiner stationed at Yarmouth, conduct the examination of Captain Leubury, of Halifax, who is the only candidate for the position of examiner at Halifax. Captain Demers, besides being chief examiner of masters and mates, is also in charge of the marine schools established by the Dominion Government. On his present visit to the Maritime Provinces he will go to Canoe, N. S., for the purpose of arranging for the establishment of a marine school there next winter.

In reply to a Sun reporter's question, Captain Demers said that New Brunswick was entirely without marine schools. "You had one here in St. John up to two years ago," he said. "It was here for three years, and during that time not a single sailor presented himself for examination or applied for permission to take the course of lectures. The government goes to the trouble of fitting up the offices and lecturers for one hour and a half twice a week during a course of thirty-two lectures. Still no one takes interest. The government goes to the trouble of fitting up the offices and lecturers for one hour and a half twice a week during a course of thirty-two lectures. Still no one takes interest."

"Now," continued the captain, "there is neither a school nor an examiner in St. John and there is even no applicant for the position of examiner. I don't know what is the matter with the sailors about St. John. Perhaps they know it all. I followed the sea for twenty-seven years and I find that I am still learning."

Continuing, Captain Demers said that the present backward condition of shipping in the Maritime Provinces, and St. John in particular, was due to the fact that the ship owners took no interest in their sailors. "They don't want sailors now," said the captain. "They take anything they can get that will go to sea for the lowest possible wages. There was a time when Canada stood high among the sea-faring nations of the world. She doesn't now. Yes, of course, Nova Scotians and New Brunswickers are manning Yankee ships. Why? They don't? The Americans have fine vessels fitted with the latest labor-saving devices. They give the men the best of food and good wages. However, I think the time will come sooner or later when the Maritime Provinces will be a great shipping country just as they were in the past."

Four years ago Capt. Demers began his first marine school in Montreal. The government took over the work and established four schools, in Yarmouth, St. John, Montreal and Victoria. Now there are twelve schools, some of them on the Great Lakes, and in all of them large numbers of sailors are trained.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

CHICAGO, June 19.—To nominate a candidate for Vice-President and go home constitute the programme for the fourth day of the Republican National Convention scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. The dry coolness which characterized the weather of the first two days has given way to sweltering heat and to a suffocating southwest wind off the prairies laden with the dust of the streets, the thick black smoke of the railroads and factories as if by way of hinting that Chicago was withdrawing which she had greeted the convention hosts earlier in the week. Yesterday afternoon was a time of breathless sweltering in the great convention halls, today's early hours broken even worse in store. Still it is the delegates weary with the strain of yesterday's session and with the wild racket of last evening's celebration that constitute the main task remaining. It was with ill disguised impatience to get it over with and it is the delegates weary with the strain of yesterday's session and with the wild racket of last evening's celebration that constitute the main task remaining. FED ELEPHANT A BOMB

Stranger's Malleous Trick in the Bronx Zoo

NEW YORK, June 18.—An unknown man caused great excitement among the crowds that thronged the Bronx Zoo yesterday by feeding a bomb to Sultana, the big elephant. Sultana is very fond of sweets, and will throw away peanuts to make a quick dash for candy or cake. Some man whose identity was not discovered concealed in a piece of cake, a small box of parlor matches, the kind that crackle when lighted. Then he held out the "bomb" for Sultana. She made a joyful reach for it with her trunk, put it in her mouth and presently her teeth crunched down on it. Instantly her wild cries alarmed the visitors for a radius of a half mile. Fire and smoke spouted from her mouth, and she began to toss her trunk and squeal in pain and fright. Close by were two keepers, Edward Bayreuther and Walter Thurman. Bayreuther snatched up a hose and shot its stream into the elephant's mouth, giving her instant relief and allaying her fright.
