KAISER IS DELIBERATELY PREPARING FOR CONFLICT

Sir George Daughy Says Germany Means Fight -- Blow will be Struck when Preparations are Completed -- Mr. Borden Creates Profound Impression in England.

Montreal, August 9.—Sir George Daughy, one of the most prominent merchants and ship owners on the east coast of Great Britain, and member of Parliament for Great Grimsby, arrived in Montreal last evening. Sir George stated that every sensible man in Great Britain, no matter to what party he belonged, was now firmly convinced that Germany was bending all her energies to prepare for war with Great Britain.

"The Germans," he said, "have never done anything without a design. They prepared for years for the Franco-German war, and when they were ready they struck. Similarly they are preparing now for war with Great Britain, and because that war must be on the sea, they are building up, at tremendous sacrifice to themselves, the great German navy which we see evolving before our eyes."

"They are doing that, despite the fact that the present relations between the German and the British Governments are of a friendly character. They are doing it despite the fact that they are allowed to trade quite as freely in every port of the British Empire, and on every sea in the world, as are the British themselves."

"To say that the two governments are now on friendly terms has nothing whatever to do with it. No man in his senses who is cognizant with the fact that Germany is deliberately building up a navy with the ulterior motive of a conflict with Great Britain, but also with the object of taking advantage of any critical situation, in which Great Britain may find itself, to step forward and dictate terms which England would be very loath to grant."

Great Britain is Aroused to Danger.

"Look at what Germany is doing! In 1898 the German navy consisted of 30,000 men and 17 ships; in 1910 it consisted of 60,000 men; under the new Naval law it is to be 80,000 men, and 41 vessels. All these vessels are being built with small coal capacity, showing that the 'North Sea' is the centre of operations in which they are designed to be engaged. That means simply one thing—that the Germans aim to strike at the very heart of the British Empire."

"Great Britain is now thoroughly aroused to this danger. It is a characteristic of the British people that they are apt to be lethargic at first—apt to let things go for a time in the belief that everything will work out all right. But when they are aroused they act in a very determined, a very whole-hearted, and a very solid way. They are aroused now, and they are determined at all costs to keep the British Navy overwhelmingly superior to that of Germany. The feeling is very different to what it was six years ago, when I created a sensation by stating that a squadron of German gunboats had paid a visit to the Humber to study the situation for landing a striking force, and had got away unobserved by the British Navy."

Sir George proceeded to say that every sovereign in Great Britain, and every dollar in Canada, was worth its face value simply because of the protection of the British Navy.

"We are beginning to realize this in Great Britain now," he remarked, "and the Dominions are beginning to realize it. We are beginning to realize, too, that our freedom, our homes, and the lives of many of us depend on the continued supremacy of the British Navy. The freedom of Canada to trade on terms of equality with the other nations depends on it. In fact, the whole fabric of our freedom and prosperity depend on it. Is any wonder that, in face of this new danger, we are increasing our insurance premium?"

Mr. Borden Made Profound Impression

Before he left England, Sir George Daughy met Mr. Borden and the other Canadian ministers. He declared that Mr. Borden had made a profound impression on all classes of the people by his Imperialistic utterances and by the courage and discretion of his remarks.

"I have no hesitation in saying," said Sir George, "that in my opinion his visit to England marks a new epoch in the British Empire. His suggestion that the overseas Dominions be admitted into the councils of the Empire is generally welcomed, and his offer of help in maintaining the supremacy of the British Navy, has greatly encouraged Great Britain in the efforts she is making. It is not that Canada's share will be a large one for Great Britain is immensely wealthy, and can yet make great sacrifices to keep her fleet supreme. The important point is that the whole Empire shall be united in spirit, intention and determination, because if the Empire is so united, it will be more powerful a force than anything else on earth in the maintenance of peace and liberty, and ultimately in the decrease of expenditure on preparation for war."

Mr. Borden's utterances have done much to promote such unity. What we have to do now is to settle the policy on which we will work for the next five years and the way in which the various parts of the Empire are coming together in regard to the policy make the future full of hope and encouragement. Instead of full pessimistic forebodings.

The purpose of Sir George Daughy's visit is to go to Queen Charlotte Island, off Prince Rupert, where the British Columbia Fisheries Company, Ltd., of which he is president, is beginning operations on a large scale.

CANADIAN OPEN GOLF COMPETITION

Toronto, Aug. 9.—George Sargent of the Chevy Chase Club, Washington, won the Canadian open golf championship over the Rosedale links today by the good score of 299.

Sargent owes his victory to the consistency of form as will be seen from the fact that his lowest score of 72 was only four strokes better than his highest. When play commenced this morning he led Charles Murray of the Royal Club, Montreal, by three strokes. Murray, however, fell off in the last stage for which he turned in a score of 81, and was thus relegated to sixth position. J. Barnes of Tacoma, was second, three behind Sargent, and George Cumming, the popular Toronto golf professional, third, with 304. Cummings finished strongly but his 80 on the afternoon of the second had him out of the running.

The scores of the first ten men were:

George Sargent, Chevy Chase, Washington, . . .	148	151	239
J. Barnes, Tacoma, . . .	154	148	302
Geo. Cumming, Toronto, . . .	153	151	304
A. Z. Cummings, Toronto, . . .	152	151	304
A. Smyth, Wyke, . . .	156	150	306
H. Thompson, Hamilton, . . .	152	155	307
Chas. Murray, Royal, Montreal, . . .	151	157	308
A. H. Murray, Outremont, . . .	154	157	311
Karl Koffer, Ottawa, . . .	153	156	314
Percy Barrett, Lambton, . . .	158	159	317
W. Freeman, Toronto, . . .	164	154	318
P. E. Rickwood, St. John, N. B., . . .	167	167	334

tion and determination, because if the Empire is so united, it will be more powerful a force than anything else on earth in the maintenance of peace and liberty, and ultimately in the decrease of expenditure on preparation for war."

Mr. Borden's utterances have done much to promote such unity. What we have to do now is to settle the policy on which we will work for the next five years and the way in which the various parts of the Empire are coming together in regard to the policy make the future full of hope and encouragement. ## "DUCKY" HOLMES, DEVELOPER OF MARQUARD AND WALKER.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 9.—While Rube Marquard has been overwhelmed with praise as the result of his famous "nineteen straight," no one has given a thought of the man who started the Rube on his career—who made him a pitcher.

Marquard says it was "Ducky" Holmes of the Grand Rapids who started him in the major leagues, and investigation reveals that in a quiet way the Grand Rapids backstop is something of a king-maker, inasmuch as he developed not only Marquard but Dixie Walker, the Washington pitcher, and at present has a chap named Bowman in the incubator.

Holmes is one of the gamest men that ever wore a windup. He has been backstopping for eight years, and is a regular "iron man." He is a fair hitter, of the kind that gets hits when they are needed, a splendid fielder and a grand thrower. But better than all, he is a wonderful developer of pitchers.

When Marquard left the Cleveland sand lots and reported to Indianapolis he was so green that Manager Carr sent him to the Canton team in the Central league, to ripen.

Holmes was catching for Canton, and he took the big left-hander in charge and made a regular pitcher out of him. From Holmes' hands Rube went to Indianapolis and the rest is history. Had Holmes been catching for New York, when Rube first went to the Giants, the chances are the southpaw would have made good much earlier.

Dixie Walker, now with Washington, went to the Zanesville, O., team in 1909, directly from the mines at Birmingham, Ala. What Dixie didn't know would make Webster's unabridged look like a vest pocket notebook.

Walker looked so much like nothing at all at Zanesville that Manager Roy Montgomery purchased a ticket back to Birmingham for him, but Holmes persuaded him to keep the big fellow for him until he was a pitching sensation. He went to Washington that fall and made good.

Bowman, the pitcher Holmes is now developing at Grand Rapids, never saw a street car until he reported this spring. Holmes has confided to friends that Bowman is a future great. Holmes is 28 and is one of the players against whom the breaks of baseball have gone. He should be in
