

CHINA SECURED CONCESSIONS AT CONFERENCE

Resolutions Adopted Looking to Abandonment of Foreign Courts in That Country.

Washington, Nov. 29.—China was further conceded today in the conference of the nine powers on the questions affecting the Pacific and the Far East.

In conformity with the Root resolutions, declaring for the territorial and administrative integrity of China, the Pacific and Far Eastern Committee adopted resolutions looking to abandonment of foreign courts in China.

Resolutions, drafted by sub-committees headed by Senator Lodge, provided for an international commission of jurists, which is to report within a year whether the Chinese laws and court procedure warrant abandonment of foreign courts.

Immediately these resolutions were adopted the Chinese plenipotentiary presented another of their "ten points" that declaring withdrawal of all foreign troops from Chinese soil, and also for abandonment of foreign telegraph, radio and police systems.

Dr. Sun, Chinese Minister here and a delegate to the conference, presented detailed information regarding the number of troops and the extent of foreign wire systems, in which the Japanese predominates, and there was wide discussion of the question by all the delegates.

General adherence, it was said, was given to the principle of retirement of foreign troops and wire systems from China in conformity with the principles of the Root resolutions.

Qualifications were presented, however, by Japanese spokesmen who felt with the necessity of political, financial and telegraph lines. Discussion of the troops and wire questions are to continue tomorrow with prospects that a solution will be worked out by the delegates of the nine powers without reference of the details to a sub-committee.

Steps were laid by the Chinese plenipotentiary before the Far Eastern Committee today on the question of foreign troops in China. Their presence, Dr. Sun declared, was a violation of Chinese integrity, inasmuch as the troops were sent into the Republic without China's consent and over her protest.

Dr. Sun asked that the conference "specifically discommemorate" the alleged violations. He gave minute details regarding the number of troops, police stations and other features which China is protesting.

Halifax Explosion Wrecked Her Nerves. The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N. S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and property, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Hill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at the time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves, the effect as follows:—"I was living in the hospital at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my household work. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

I saw Milsberr's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve troubles.

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our Milsberr's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best remedy to tone up the entire nervous system and strengthen the weakened organs. SYMPATHY OF AMERICAN PUBLIC CLEARLY ON SIDE OF FRANCE

Satisfied Briand's Country Takes Such Steps for Self Protection as It Believes Necessary.

Washington, Nov. 29.—On the eve of M. Briand's departure, it is now possible to define the general American reaction that followed his speech of Monday. The matter is too important for the future of Franco-American relations not to deserve to be frankly dealt with. As I came out of the last meeting of the Conference on Monday morning, a distinguished American journalist told me:

"The quotations from Ludendorff's book will make a poor impression here. However, everybody will understand henceforth that France has the right to be the only judge of what she ought to do in the matter of land armaments. This remark, it seems to me, exactly expresses the American state of mind."

However impressive Mr. Briand's arguments may have been, it is not least certain his speech will have succeeded in convincing the American public of the reality of the German or Russian menace. Judging the other people from themselves the American people who at the present moment think of nothing but disarmament will willingly believe Germany is forever fed up with the war. At least a considerable part of the public will read that part of M. Briand's speech with sympathy mingled with some skepticism.

Public With France. On the other hand there is one point on which, after the truly admirable appeal of Briand, I believe one may consider France has won her case. Without clearly understanding the European situation the American public see today that France, having been left to her own devices, has the unquestionable right to say what she deems necessary for the maintenance of her security. The whole of America, with the exception of a few fanatics, stands behind Mr. Briand when he assures at Briand that France has no ground to fear, as a result of her armaments, a moral isolation.

Some will say such an assurance is, negatively, therefore, negligible. I believe this would be a mistake only comparable to that of the optimist who still hopes to induce America to tie herself to some form of alliance. In order to measure the importance of such a mistake it will be enough to recall that it is true political tradition and popular instinct prevent the United States from accepting any permanent foreign commitments, they do not prevent a temporary American co-operation with a foreign nation in view of a specific object. The common goal on both sides of the Atlantic, therefore, must be to make it possible for such a co-operation to take place.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion falls and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me to lose my appetite. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For six months I ate nothing but hard-boiled eggs and toast. I could not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried many different remedies as well as doctors' medicines, without obtaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box I was improving. I continued the treatment until I was now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with excellent results. We are glad to recommend it to others."

"Way Down East" Packing Imperial

Greatest Film Production St. John Has Ever Seen—Weather No Hindrance to Crowd.

There is one real actor in D. W. Griffith's master film, "Way Down East," which is being shown at the Imperial Theatre, who will never appear in any other film. This was an old-fashioned Down East blizzard.

It will probably not be a surprise to anyone who sees "Way Down East" to know that the big storm in which Ann was lost was a real storm—the first one ever put on any screen.

In the old play, the outraged Squire sent the heroine out into the storm when he learned of her hapless "pass." Mr. Griffith had been able to buy so many drawing-rooms in toto he had transported into the real natives thereof. He had imported old New England sleighing parties and real country dances and real country houses.

His staff happily telephoned all over the country pleading inquiries for blizzards, but every action reported the blizzard did not seem to be any blizzard in the making. With his scrupulous fidelity to detail, Mr. Griffith scorned the mechanical kind of weather which is the staple of the cheap theatre.

It was like the bell chiming a general alarm in a fire engine house and cameramen began pouring out the road. The camera was on the roof through a blizzard storm and discharged Miss Gish who had not wanted to be caught.

The great picture is being played all week at the Imperial. It should be seen by everybody.

POLITICAL REFLECTIONS. To the Editor of The Standard: People who are sufficiently interested to read the political arguments advanced today by both parties and at the same time possess the Liberal and Conservative papers, will find the arguments therein put forth by the Conservative party are an emphatically denied by the Liberals.

Members of both political forces will surely agree without a dissenting word that the situation of Canada has been that of a state of emergency since the Liberal party put forth its policy. The Conservative policy will be the first to be considered, as they are the party in power and appealing to the people. We find that since protection became the policy of the Conservative party it has been steadily and consistently upheld by that party. They have never been found opposing to the people's policy of protection in any way to that of the Liberal party. Business interests have never been agitated, disturbed or apprehensive over the success of the Independent party. The coming in Canada has been that of a state of emergency since the Liberal party put forth its policy. The Conservative policy will be the first to be considered, as they are the party in power and appealing to the people.

The Liberal party are unshaken and uncertain of this trade policy to be advanced and argued before the country. It is not the Liberal party for the United States on each occasion when discussion before the people has had a most disturbing and unsettling effect, especially with the business world of Canada, where stability of tariff and soundness of principles are so necessary to carry out successfully. We all and all support Mr. Hanson and W. H. Giddings, relating to the purchase of the tariff and stability for the time being the progress of the country. The welfare and progress of Canada is what we are all most interested in, and we all support Mr. Hanson and W. H. Giddings, relating to the purchase of the tariff and stability for the time being the progress of the country.

International Body For Controlling Price Fluctuations. Would Regulate Movement of Crops for Benefit of Farmers in Wheat Belt.

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—Coincident with an announcement that members of the Royal Grain Commission, appointed by the Canadian Government, would immediately resume sessions, Mr. Justice Hyndman, chairman, stated today that the present Board of Commissioners might grow into an international organization to estimate and stabilize fluctuations in prices. This would be done, it was explained, by regulating the movement of crops, thus assuring fair prices for farmers. Judge Hyndman said correspondence had taken place between the Commission and the Government of the United States and the Commonwealth of Australia with a view to arranging a Conference of grain exporting countries.
