Obituary

Mrs. Rebecca Willis.
Mrs. Rebecca Willis, widow of William Willis, and one of the oldest residents of the city, passed away at her home, 117 Thorne, avenue, early yesterday morning, after a brief illness. She was ninety-four years of age and was a life-long resident of St. John.

Mrs. Willis was ill only four days and retained all her faculties right to the end. She had a wonderful memory and could recall with precision events which transpired during the early part of the city's history. She was next to the oldest member of the congregation of St. Mary's church, and the oldest member of the Trinity Church Mothers' Association. She always took a keen interest in the work of St. Mary's and will be missed by a great many friends.

She is survived by three sons, all residing in the city—Samuel, James and Charles. The funeral will take place from St. Mary's church on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

L. Archibald Reicker.
Many friends will regret to hear of the death of L. Archibald Reicker, which occurred early yesterday morning at the residence of his uncle, Louis P. Logan, 66 Kennedy street. He was twenty-six years of age and was employed for some years with Vasey & Co. He was a member of the Mission Church of St. John Baptist. Mr.
Reicker was the only child of the late John and Emma Reicker, and the only grandchild of the late Charles and Elizabeth Logan. Besides his uncle, he leaves three aunts, Mrs. Logan, and Misses Clara and Bertha Logan.

Mrs. Sarah Kennedy.
The death of Mrs. Sarah Kennedy, widow of Thomas Kennedy, occurred yesterday morning in the Mater Misericordiae Home. She formerly resided in Restigouche, and was the sister of Joseph Kennedy, of Quebec, and one brother, Francis P. Crocker, of Husband Shot By Wife In Dispute Following Party

Woman Claims She Fired in Self Defence as She Feared Beating.

New York, Mar. 1.—A dispute that began at an all-night party in their home on the top floor of a little two-family house at 159 42nd street, Brooklyn, came to an end early this morning shortly after the guests had gone home, when Mrs. Helen Eysel shot and killed her husband, George Eysel. She said later that she fired in self-defence just as her husband came through the door of the dining room with a blackjack to strike her.
This was corroborated by the police by the finding of the weapon with the strap around the wrist of the dead man. The shooting was witnessed by Albert Ding, a neighbor, who said Mrs. Eysel by her former husband.
After her arrest on a charge of homicide, Mrs. Eysel was taken to the office of Assistant District Attorney Reuben Wilson and to him she told the whole sordid story of her married life and of the killing. She opened her fur coat and showed bruises as evidence of a beating she said she had recently received at the hands of her husband. Eysel was 38 years old, and his wife is about the same age. She married him in 1917. Her first husband was a lieutenant in the British Royal Artillery, by him she had a son, Albert, and a younger daughter.

Picking up the blackjack from Mr.
Wilson's desk, Mrs. Eysel illustrated how the dead man had threatened her when she was alone in the room. She said she had been in the room for space the one bullet which dropped him to the floor.
"I called to him twice, George, are you dead?" she told the assistant district attorney. "I thought he was taking. I could see no blood. I thought he was going to get me. 'If you are dead, I am going to kill you,' I told him."
There was no response, Mrs. Eysel said, and she dropped her husband's head and went down the stairs into the street. When she got to the sidewalk, she met Policeman John Patten running toward the front door. She handed him the revolver and told him she had shot her husband.

Identity of Man Stabbed To Death Remains Mystery

All Possible Marks of Identification Had Been Removed from Clothing.

White Plains, N. Y., Mar. 1.—County detectives working on various clues for 34 hours are still in the dark as to the identity of the well-dressed young man who was found stabbed to death on the Mount Calvary cemetery road, near the White Plains Fair Grounds, on Sunday, or the cause that led to the murder.

Coroner Edward Fitzgerald and Sheriff Geo. J. Wagoner made a minute examination of the clothing of the murdered man today and could find nothing that would help solve the mystery. It was announced that the name of the maker of the dead man's collar had been removed by some kind of an acid, and the makers' tag had been overcast and the man's hat had been stolen. The police first received word that a cap, believed to have belonged to the man who met his death at the hands of at least four men, who slashed his back and head in eight different places, had been seen near the place where the body was found. After the body had been taken to the Lyons and Harnett morgue at White Plains, Coroner Fitzgerald sent an officer to get the cap, which the police had failed to pick up in the first instance, and then it was discovered that some one had taken it away. Detective Frank Cherico, who has run down many famous murders in Westchester county, believes that friends of the murderers, or one of them, returned to the scene of the crime after the officers had left, and took the cap.

Remained Tense.
Late this afternoon Sheriff Warner and Coroner Fitzgerald, accompanied by fingerprint experts, went to Ouellette, where a New York detective had been abandoned last night, which the officers are of the opinion was used

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up.
I tried medicines I saw advertised, and was treated by doctors but the rheumatism always came back.
In 1916, I saw an advertisement, matism and took a box, and got relief; by the slayers. The car had a New York license, the number of which has been withheld by the police. Several fingerprints were found inside the taxicab and these were photographed.

No bloodstains were found, however.
This leads the county authorities to consider, as the most probable theory, that the man who was slain was in the car; that his companions picked a quarrel with him as the culmination of a gangster's feud, and when he got out in the road he was attacked from behind.

Detective Cherico says the wounds in the body show that the murderer was of the "butcher" type, as a double-edged knife, the kind carried by Sicilian bandits, was used, and turned in a half circle after entering the flesh.

An Italian who was a stranger in the neighborhood was arrested as a suspect today, but the police say they have nothing definite on him, and declined to reveal his name.

HARVEY

Harvey Albert Co., Feb. 25.—Some time ago there was organized a sewing circle in connection with the Harvey Baptist Church, with the following officers: President, Mrs. W.
H. Brewster; vice president, Mrs. W.
J. Alexander; recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur Brewster; financial secretary, Mrs. Raymond Pearson. The circle meets regularly each week at the home of Mrs. Jud Bishop, Harvey Bank. Last week the circle decided to pay a surprise visit to one of their members who has been confined to her home for some time on account of sickness, so procuring sleighs they drove to the home of Mrs. Sam Wilbur and there spent a very pleasant and profitable afternoon in working, as the ladies brought with them the necessary parts for a lunch. This was disposed of, the ladies then returning to their homes. Since that time these ladies held an ice cream and social sale of fancy work in the Public Hall, Harvey, realizing a good amount from their sale.

Mr. Elmer S. Smith, who recently underwent a serious operation at the hands of Dr. Carvath at Riverside, in progressing very favorably, and is now considered to be out of danger.
Mr. Mel Dow, of Harvey Bank, is also under treatment with Dr. Car-vath and is also progressing favorably.

Mr. Fred Stuart, of the Midway road, had the misfortune to meet with a rather serious accident while operating a wood-cutter at the home of the Smith Brothers, recently, losing three fingers of his left hand.
