

was in relation to her Sisters and to the benefactors of the Community ;—the trials of the common life ;—Mother Caron's kind-heartedness towards her Sisters ;—various instances ;—Sisters in the distant missions ;—the novices ;—Mother Caron's words (Retreat of August, 1874) ;—a letter to the Sisters ;—the family spirit ;—extracts from her correspondence ;—on the occasion of the death of Sister Vincent and of Sister Mary Bonsecours ;—address on St. Emily's day (1878) ;—she gives her photograph to the Sisters ;—her gratitude to the benefactors of the Providence ;—an anecdote from the West ;—several young people supported by her ;—letters of thanks to Madame Joliette and to a Superior ;—instances of her delicacy ;—towards Mgr. Prince ;—to mention such details is to detract from them ;—who gives to the poor lends to God.

CHAPTER XVIII

1878 — 1888

LAST YEARS OF MOTHER CARON. 221

Her Retreat ;—touching scene ;—at the St. Janvier Home, Mgr. Bourget ;—at Belœil ;—interesting details ;—at the Mother House ;—her serious illness ;—testimony of Father Antoine of the Oblates ;—a discourse to the young Sisters ;—return to Belœil ;—the spirit of the foundation ;—at St. Isidore at Longue Pointe ;—Mother Caron and Sister Zotique ;—touching attentions to the aged Sisters ;—Mother Caron's occupations at St. Isidore ;—she cured the physician ;—her correspondence ;—letter to Mother Amable ;—letter to Sister Michel Ange ;—letter to her cousin, Sister Emily of the Sacred Heart ;—beau-