

cattle, one yoke of oxen, one span of horses, and a yearling colt, two yoke of steers, four years old, one yoke of two-year olds, four yearling steers, one bull, one two-year old steer, eight milch cows, six calves, six heifers, fifty sheep, and forty hogs. He has of crops this harvest, fourteen acres of wheat, six acres of oats, and nine acres of other crops, with above thirty acres of hay, and about twenty-six of pasture.

His sons took a job of turnpiking the main road, and saved money by it, which was a help, in addition to the sales of flour, wheat, and cattle from the farm. He would not take now $3500, or even more, for his improvement. His land is well watered, the river Avon passing through part of it.

He is an elder in the Scotch Presbyterian church. In his neighbourhood the settlers have a meeting-house, and are in contemplation of building a framed church. The same congregation have a church erected in the village of Stratford. A clergyman officiates regularly at both the church and meeting-house.

John Crerar, in
ur sons, all able ays his was the
main or Code-
venty-three and
venty-four aud

as a small one,
adow, with the
a of the "hill
ifferent, having
a acres chopped.
24 on lot 25,
h covered with

when the many
only in money
n the land.
ed land consist
all which has
ns. He is an
e of his boys
d. He has in