

T H E
ROYAL CONFERENCE
O R
A DIALOGUE &c.

---

KING OF E — D.

IT is rare thing, Brother L — s, to see two Crown'd Heads meet in a private conference; and since an event so unusual (and that we may render also so important) has now happened, it would be criminal not to improve it to the best purpose, for our own true honour and the good of our subjects. Our Fleets cover the Ocean; our Armies strike terror even thro' those Nations that are not interested, immediately in our Quarrel, and a horrible scene of blood, wantonly shed, is going to shew to the world, that either in You, or in Me, the Sentiments of Humanity and Justice Yield to the dictates of lawless Ambition. Would it not then be wise, before we strike the fatal Blow, to reflect, for a moment, upon the Principles that direct the measures we are taking, and upon the Consequences that must naturally arise from them? Would it not

A 3

er, indeed,
been inter-
subject, is
be said for
instrument
to expose,
ineffectual
pernicious,
o unworthy
discredit of virtue. If
, you may be Wife.

rant.

The

DITOR.

THE