Rispin now announces via Grand Trunk and Wabash Rys. return tickets to Buffalo, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, at $2.85 each, good to return six days from date. This liberal arrangement by the railways should induce a heavy travel to the exposition for the balance of the month.

To be seen in E. J. MacIntyre's window this evening will be three very handsomely engraved silver trowels, which will be presented to T. L. Pardo, M. P. P.; S. F. Gardiner, and Judge Houston, when the above gentlemen lay the corner stone of the Wesley Methodist church in Raleigh on Tuesday next. The trowels are to be presented to the above named gentlemen by the trustees of the church. The church will be a very fine one when completed.

More Glasses Are Worn.....

Now-a-days than ever before. No doubt of it. People used to think that the wearing of glasses should be put off as long as possible—it was an old age necessity only.

We know more now. We know more of the relief and cure known agency for the relief and cure of eye sickness—and there are methods in common use to-day which weren't heard of even ten years ago.

Now we commence to right eye-sight just as soon as it commences to go wrong. Now school children by the hundred wear glasses. And it's wise and proper.

DOUBLE DEFEAT.

The Chatham ball team that journeyed to Ridgeway yesterday met a double defeat, as they played in both morning and afternoon. Arnold and Howers pitched for Chatham in the morning game, in which the score was 12-3. WAS RATTLED

Deluded Dentist Got Somewhat Mixed and Early Loss is Pain.

"Fargo" Changes cars for the Michigan Central."

These were the words shouted by a L. E. & D. R. R. brakeman, which aroused one of our Maple City dentists from a tranquil slumber, which he was enjoying while en route from Chatham to some place on the line of the Michigan Central.

He awoke with a start, and thrust his head out of the window. He did not think that he had been sleeping long, surely the train had not gone as far as the M. C. R., and really the place did not look like Fargo.

But he had as much time to think the matter over as the train had already stopped. So he made a grab for his grip, his cigar stub, which had previously become extinguished, dropped from his trembling lips, and it was not long before he stepped off to get to the platform, for there was none there.

He thought it queer, but before he could finally get straightened out he heard the command, "All aboard!" shouted by the same brakeman.

He walked hastily up to a bystander and asked excitedly, "Is this Fargo?"

"Why, no," said the man, evidently a farmer, "this is Ridgeway."

By this time he saw through the whole thing. The brakeman, who was a new man on the route, made a slight mistake, and called out the wrong station.

He had barely time to catch the train before it pulled out, but he did, and walked boldly back to his seat in the smoking car.

"I thought you got off at the last station," said a fellow passenger.

"Oh, no," said the deluded dentist, "I only wanted to speak to a friend."

The other wondered why he needed his grip to talk to a friend, but it was none of his business, so he leaned back in his seat and was soon lost in his newspaper again.

The train soon pulled up at Fargo and this time the brakeman made no mistake.

Again the dentist got off and this was the last heard of him. It is supposed, however, that he reached his destination without any further mishap.

ROW IN RANKS

Trouble Reported to be Causing Sad Rampage Among the C. C. I. Cadets.

"Jealousy, thy name is woman," somebody said. Perhaps it was Shakespeare. He generally gets blamed for all he did and more. That's probably true of the women also.

What has all this got to do with the trouble in the C. C. I. cadet camp? Nothing—perhaps.

Captain Will Tackaberry, who for the past year has been the popular and efficient captain of the C. C. I. Cadets, has left the school and resigned his commission in the splendid corps.

By the order of promotion First Lieut. Will C. Mounter should be given the captaincy, and second Lieut. Garnet Brackin and Color Sergeant J. R. Waddell, should both go up a step.

Some of the members of the Company, however, think that they would make just as good a captain as Lieut. Mounter, and not being versed in military ethics and unaware that the first proper soldier should learn to obey, they have created trouble in the camp.

The principal is said to hold an appointment by promotion is the only fair manner in which to deal with the vacant office, and matters are now at a standstill, so murmurs report.

This is too bad, and it would be worse should the efficiency of the corps be impaired by the good opinion the privates have of themselves. The C. C. I. cadets are a splendid organization and make an excellent appearance in their fine new khaki colored uniforms. It is to be hoped that the differences said to exist will be removed, and the C. C. I. cadets, of which the school and citizens are proud, will be again found in the front in military manoeuvres.

FACE ON THE FLOOR

J. W. Wilson, the well-known bass soloist, who has just returned from a pleasant trip east, has an interesting fact to narrate in connection with his trip to the Buffalo Exposition.

Mr. Wilson had visited the enclosure where President McKinley was shot, but had noticed nothing. While going through the Mines Building, he met Miss Hagan, a young lady well known in this city. She asked Mr. Wilson if he had noticed the features of a man outlined by the grain of the wood. Mr. Wilson went back, and found that by looking diagonally across the enclosure, the features of a man could be plainly distinguished. Some there are who say that the picture resembles the late President, but Mr. Wilson could find no resemblance.

FATAL ERROR

Unfortunate Englishman Desired to Pay Compliment, but it Wasn't Taken That Way.

"Some people may not think there is as much difference in the use of words in England and in Canada as there is," said an Englishman the other day while chatting in The Planet Office.

"I, however, had a very interesting and unpleasant realization of the difference in the meaning of one word. Recently I was invited by a friend of mine in Chatham to spend an evening at his home. I enjoyed myself greatly and was much taken with the perfect presence of my friend's wife in her own house."

"Meeting my friend the next day I thanked him for the pleasant evening and I added, 'I liked your wife. She is so lovely.'"

"I couldn't understand why my friend looked hurt and left me so abruptly until I learned that in Canada the word 'lovely' refers to looks in not a pleasing sense. In England it is a term of praise and means just what it should mean—a person who plays the queen when she has a home for the stage setting. Of course, as soon as I learned my error I rushed off to apologize, but we two don't meet just the same as we used to."

The drainage dispute between Tilbury East and Romney on the Government drain has been settled, whereby Romney accepts its assessment, less $100.
