CANADIAN-BRED CLYDESDALES.—There are many right good Canadian-bred Clydesdales in the country. Each year the line-up at the exhibitions are getting stronger. Not only do the entries have draft characteristics, but quality and good action are shown as well. The aged class at Ottawa was a little disappointing. There were only five in it, and some of them were scarcely up to the mark. Royal Montrave, a horse with quality right to the ground, was placed first. While he moved well, he does not carry enough middle to please most breeders. Eastfield Charles, in second place, was a thicker, blockier horse that moved particularly well, and would not have looked out of place at the top. While his feet were checked a little at the bottom, they were deep and broad, and supported a good set of legs and a heavy body. In the three-year-old class Sir Garnet Hood was first. He is a big, strong horse of good conformation with a splendid head. He is the making of a right good horse. He carries nice quality. Oakhurst Baron's Pride, in second place, was in ordinary flesh but he showed well. While he might have used flesh, but he showed well. While he might have used his hocks better he went straight and possesses a lot of quality and character. Sir Baron Mac, in third place, lacked in fit, but he is a heavy-boned, nice-quality horse that will thicken out. March Past, a son of Dunnottar and Manilla, won the two-year-old class and the championship for Rothwell. He is of excellent draft type, with breed character and quality. He is well-coupled, and picked himself up like a Hackney when trotting. Prince Herminius, a strong-topped horse choke-ful of quality, went second. He went as straight as a line. Woodside Seal, a well-ribbed colt with neat, springy pasterns, was third.

Favorite Blend headed a quartette of aged mares. She is favorably known to Clydesdale men. Her quality, weight and character make her an outstanding mare. Very little fault can be found with her underpinning. Not only did she win her class, but was the grand champion mare of the show. Sweet Peggy, a neatly-turned, well-quartered mare, was second, with Daisy Spencer, a trappy, promising mare, in third. There were four useful mares in the two-year-old class. Nell Ivory, the thickest, deepest-bodied mare of the class, with deep, broad feet and clean, flinty-boned legs, was an easy first. The other three, while possessing splendid quality, had not the scale of the winner. Flora ansdowne, a breedy, flashy mare with extra good feet and ankles, won the two-year-old class with Janet W., a black mare of quality, in second. Woodside Norah, a right good bodied colt, was third. Her feet are call celly as large as those of her competitor.

PERCHERONS.—The Percheron classes were particularly well filled with typey, drafty, nice quality horses. It is doubtful if there has been a better exhibit of the breed in Ontario. The La Fayette Stock Farm Co., of London, had a large entry, and materially helped the show. The aged stallion class was ten strong, Tango a stylish black horse with a thick, heavy body and good feet, won the class. He moved very free. This horse and also his three stablemates which got in the money have a good deal of quality along with their heavy draft conformation. Arnold, of Quebec, had a very good grey in fifth place, but he did not move with the elasticity of the four placed above him. The champion stallion was found in the three-year-old class. Tigue, from the La Fayette Farm, is an outstanding individual. His given magnificative grieflity and style individual. His size, masculinity, quality and style commands attention. He uses his hocks and knees to advantage when showing the steel in the ring. Arnold had three useful horses in this class, but their quality was not on a par with the winner.

Ten aged mares made keen competition. Mildred, a deep, thick, breedy mare of excellent quality secured the red ribbon and the championship. She showed magnificent action. Next to her stood Belle, shown by the Experimental Farms. She is of much the same build as the winner. In fact, she won her class and was champion at Guelph in December. She is a thick, well-ribbed mare but has none too large feet. Floro F. is a beautiful mare, but she doesn't carry as much middle as the two placed above her. Beatrice, also shown by the Experimental Farms, won the three-year-old class. Her three competitors, while big, thick, useful mares did not have quite as much quality.

Tigue and Mildred.

Belgians.—This heavy-draft breed was more strongly represented than usual at an Ontario show. J. E. Arnold & Son and C. W. Gurney & Sons brought out several splendid entries. Gurney's entries showed more quality than did Arnold's and were well brought. Arnold was second in both the aged stallion and mare classes, and first in the class for mare foals. Gurney had one or two entries in all other classes. His two-year-old stallion, Boulder Grange Eman, and the mare Ginger, both of which won the championships, are particularly good representatives of the breed.

* Light Horses.

The classes of Hackneys, Standard-Breds and Thoroughbreds were not particularly well filled, but the quality was all that could be desired. The Hackney mares in harness made an excellent class. There were five entries and each one showed particularly good action. Dunhill Wild Rose, shown by Crow & Murray, of Toronto, carried off the red ribbon. She was a trappy bay with a good deal of life. Bert Axworthy, also shown by Crow & Murray, was first in a class of six Standard-Bred stallions. This horse was also champion. The class of four Standard-Bred mares will long be remembered by those privileged to see them in the ring at Ottawa. It was a wonderful class and was won by C. A. McCaffrey, of Russell, on Queen of Lewis. R. J. French, of Toronto, had the second place with a very pretty chestnut.

The evening show was considered by many to be the best that has been staged in any Canadian show-ring. There were from ten to thirteen competitors in classes of roadsters, ponies and saddle horses. A particularly good performance was put on, and the hunter classes held the attention of the large crowd each night of the show. The light was none too good for the horses jumping, but even with this handicap the bar was cleared at six feet four inches. HACKNEYS.—Exhibitors: Crow & Murray, Toronto; A. Watson & Sons, Forest; R. W. Smiley, Ottawa; H. B. Dowler, Billing's Bridge; A. B. Mann, Peterboro; Sheep.

Sheep breeders staged the largest and best showing seen in Ottawa for many a year. Not only, were classes well filled, but the quality was good. Last year there was a total entry of 68 while this year there were 224 entries, which conveys some idea of the expansion. Southdowns were possibly the strongest in numbers, with Shropshires a close second. The type and quality of the entries gave visitors a splendid idea of what to look for in these two breeds. Hampton Bros., of Fergus, won in the class for best four lambs, grade or cross, any breed on a pen of Southdowns which were of marked uniformity with even fleshing and fine quality fleece. Kelsey led in the Shropshire classes with entries of extra good type carrying a high degree of finish and splendid fleeces. The special prizes offered by the Dominion Government helped increase the entry. For instance, in a class for three wethers there were eleven entries, and was won by Hampton Bros. For the best group of ten lambs there were ten entries which gave the judges an unenviable task. Kelsey was first in the the judges an unenviable task. Kelsey was first in the class. In yearling wethers, Arkell won on his trio. In some of the long-wooled classes there was little competition between flocks, although classes were filled by individual breeders. John Kelly, of Shakespeare, and D. E. McEwen, London, officiated in the sheep classes.

Corswolds.—G. H. Mark & Son, of Little Britain, were alone in this breed except for A. Ayre, of Hampton, having an entry in the wether class, on which he won second. Mark & Son had a representative lot in all the classes and secured the prizes. The various entries were of good type and were well brought out.

Lincolns.—J. W. Balson, of Hampton, had no competition in this breed. He brought out three entries in the ewe under one year class, but had single entries in the other classes.

LEICESTERS.—The battle for honors with the Leicesters was among entries of A. & W. Whitelaw, Guelph; Experimental Farms, Ottawa, and A. Ayre, Hampton, with the former leading throughout
