WILL WOMEN BE GIANTS?

A woman's periodical published in London is worried at the size of the modern woman. "Whereas," it says, "a decade since the average size in women's shoes was 3, 5 being accounted specially large, 7 and 8 are now commonly asked for, while the average size has become 5. The little glove has likewise grown into a good-size hand shoe. My lady's hosiery has become bigger at the same time. In short, the average girl of 1904 could not wear any article of apparel that fitted the girl of 1874. And where, one now tremblingly asks, is this to end?"—Ex.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

SHEEP HARD TO SHEAR.

What is the reason sheep are so hard to shear. I sheared part of flock early in April, and they were not very bad to clip. After lambing, about middle of May, was going to finish flock, still without washing, but it was almost impossible to get shears through without leaving about an inch or more on skin. None of them are cotted. Sheep are in good condition; got plenty of exercise in winter, out doors when they wished, excepting in very stormy weather. Fed pea straw, clover hay, roots and a little grain. They are Leicester grades.

J. R. P.

Ans.—We judge it was on account of the sheep having gone back in condition at the later period. Probably they were ewes that had lambed, and the demands of the lambs upon them had made them thinner. If sheep were in equally good condition of health and flesh, there should not be the difference mentioned.

LEASING A CEMETERY.

I write you to ask, through your valuable paper, information regarding an old cemetery belonging to the Church of England. I understand they are about to lease it for 99 years to a farmer for farm purposes.

1. Is there any legal means whereby those who have people buried there can stop this party from taking possession? 2. The old fence has disappeared. Would it be legal for these persons who have people there to refence this property regardless of lease? 3. Would the farmer adjoining be compelled to build his half of fence?

Ontario.

Ans.—1, 2 and 3. This is mainly a question of title, and such as calls for investigation by a solicitor in the regular way. Going upon the facts stated alone, we could not venture any advice upon the points raised.

A PERSISTENT CANVASSER.

Last August, an agent canvassed me to purchase apple trees, and I gave him to understand very plainly I did not want any. In my absence, he canvassed my wife for three hours, and succeeded in getting a $25 order, to be shipped in November. Within a week, she cancelled order and told me about the matter. I immediately wrote him in strong terms, cancelling order, and saying we might give him an order at some future time. He replied, saying he would defer shipping goods until spring. Goods are now at station, and I have refused to take any notice of them. The station agent is going to notify him. Can the agent make my wife or me pay for the trees? We have a copy of order with November marked as time of shipping.

N. B. A SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—The agent's principal is probably in a position to insist upon payment by your wife, and to enter suit and obtain judgment against her for the amount of the order, if necessary, in order to the recovery of the money.

WORKING A FARM.

A worked on the farm till he was twenty-two years old, and never got anything but his board. Having got tired of working for nothing and with no prospects, he went away and stayed twenty years. In that time, A and B's father died, and everything was left to B, as B had stayed home. Two years ago, A came home and made an agreement with B to work together on the farm. B got a job in the section, and makes fair wages, and expends his money according to his own judgment and stays home, and lives off what A produces on the farm. Is A entitled to a share of that money? When A came home, two years ago, the place was in a pretty bad shape. A spent $375 on the place, besides any work. A bought stock and also a horse to mate B's horse. Please state in your next issue what A is entitled to. CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—It is impossible to judge from the foregoing statement what A's rights are. Much, of course, depends upon the agreement of two years ago, and the character and terms of same are not given. A ought to see a solicitor personally, submit for his inspection such documents, if any, as there may be in the case, and be advised by him as to his legal position in the matter.

Burdock Blood Bitters

Is the FOREMOST MEDICINE of the DAY.

It is a purely vegetable compound possessing perfect regulating powers over all the organs of the system and controlling their secretions.

It so purifies the blood that it cures all blood humors and diseases, and this combined with its unrivalled regulating, cleansing and purifying influence, renders it unequalled for all diseases of the skin.

Mr. Robert Parton, Millbank, Ont., writes: "Some time ago I was troubled with boils and pimples, which kept breaking out constantly. After taking two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I am completely cured."
