

ONLY A Common Cold

BUT IT BECOMES A SERIOUS MATTER IF NEGLECTED. PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH or CONSUMPTION IS THE RESULT.

Get rid of it at once by taking
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep, and often effecting a permanent cure.

We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent it reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady.

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.

Mr. Wm. O. Jenkins, Spring Lake, Alta., writes: "I had a very bad cold settled on my lungs. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup but it only required one to cure me. I have never met with any other medicine as good."

It was undoubtedly true that the stout man took up more room in the crowded car than is often occupied by one person. The exceedingly thin man next whom he sat heavily down gave a sound of disapproval.

"They ought to charge by weight in these cars," he said to his neighbor on the other side, in so clear a tone that the stout man could not help hearing him.

"Maybe 'twould be a good idea, my friend," he said, turning a calm, dispassionate gaze on the thin man. "but if they did you'd have to walk. The car would never stop for you."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

TREES DYING.

I have an orchard, twenty years old. The bark is peeling off almost all the trees on the south-west side, and the trees are dying. The bark peels right off the trunk, and the wood is bare.

Ans.—It is impossible to say definitely from your description just what may be the trouble with your trees. The injury may be due to the work of flat-headed borers, which usually work upon the south-west side of the tree, and sometimes cause the bark to peel off in the way you have described. Or, it may be the result of sun-scald, which also shows mostly on the south-west side of the tree, and sometimes kills the bark the whole length of the tree. If the injury is due to the work of borers, their burrows may be seen in the wood. If none of these are found, it would be reasonable to suppose that the injury is due to sun-scald. I would advise you to apply to the Ontario Agricultural College for copy of a bulletin on "Apple Culture," in which you will find both of these injuries referred to, and directions given for treating them.

CROPPING OLD SOD PASTURE—CROP FOR GREEN MANURE—DRAFT OF DOUBLE-TREE, ETC.

1. I have been thinking of breaking up a field of sod (clay loam), which has been in pasture for over twenty years. Would it be best to do it this fall, or in the spring? What would be the best crop to sow? Would oats or barley be suitable?

2. Have a field which I would like to summer-fallow next year, but have not sufficient barnyard manure to apply to it. Would it answer as well to sow buckwheat and plow under? If so, what time should it be sown? Also, how much seed should be sown per acre, and when should it be plowed under, in order to sow fall wheat in the field next fall?

3. Would like to sow a field of rape, to turn cows into for summer pasture. Please tell me how and when it should be sown, how much seed per acre, etc., etc.?

4. When two horses are drawing on an even doubletree, should one horse be slower than the other, does the slow horse necessarily draw any more than its share of the load by being behind?

5. Is salt, sprinkled over the ground, or any use to stop the working of wireworms? If not, can you tell what is?

YOUNG FARMER.

Ans.—1. Oats might be sown, but corn would be better, sod being the ideal preparation for corn, but not for oats. For oats, it would be preferable to fall-plow. For corn, spring plowing is rather better, although, if time permits, it is better to plow now so as to lighten the spring rush of work.

2. Experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College, as well as experience of farmers, is that peas, sown in April or early in May, are decidedly better than buckwheat for plowing under to enrich the land for wheat. Peas, used in this way, gave results not much inferior to manure. If the land were very dirty, buckwheat would be better to smother the weeds. For this purpose, sow three or four pecks per acre.

3. Rape should not be sown as a pasture crop for dairy cows, as it taints the milk.

4. No.

5. No. Early fall plowing tends, in time, to reduce the numbers of wireworms, or, rather, we should say August plowing, followed by a second in September. Follow a short rotation of barley, clover and corn, leaving the land only one, or, at most, two years in sod. Barley, rye and clover are among the crops least affected by wireworms, as a rule. When sod is plowed down, the larvae of the wireworms, during the first year, feed chiefly on the decaying grass and its roots. By planting corn the first year, followed by barley, seeded to clover, a fairly successful fight may be made against this troublesome pest.
