Co's who have gone to the front. The commanding officer expects to have the Battery in good shape in a month, when it is expected that drills will be discontinued for the winter, and a course of lectures substituted for those anxious to learn the mysteries of artillery work.

No other city competing in the empire has the signal distinction of two organizations being mentioned.

parcels to take with them to the front. The men were greatly pleased and gave three hearty cheers for the "lads."

A large crowd were present at the armories from both Brantford and Paris. George ("Bike") Evans, who has won many hearts on the baseball diamond, was given a send off by his friends. "At all the time, Bike" was heard on all sides, and the good-natured smile that will never wear off, brightened "Bike" was one of the most popular baseball players who ever played in Brantford, and it is safe to say that if he gets a change at the Germans, he will "put 'em over" all right.

HOW GIBRALTAR
GUARDS THE WAY

Occasionally a shot Rings Out Warning Ships to Heave to—Eternal Vigilance Exercised

"I do not remember ever seeing a more beautiful sight than Gibraltar as we steamed slowly in," says a correspondent of The Near East. "It was just beginning to grow light. Far away over the Sierra Nevada the sky was turning to copper. A searchlight picked us out, quavered a minute, and then settled down to glare at us steadily. A few minutes afterwards the port authorities were alongside. Take down your wireless, captain, and disconnect your receiver, shouted the officer in charge, and haul down all your flags except your ensign. And that was our first taste of Gibraltar under war conditions. "At first when we came in we all rushed to the bulwarks at the sight of an incoming vessel. Was it a British man-of-war? Had she got a German cruiser in tow? It is curious how soon we have all lapsed into state almost bordering on coma. That nerves are still on the stretch, however, was clear. A covey of inoffensive caiks bobbed by a neighboring ship. Germans, thought the officer of the watch, either with their clothes on a bundle on their heads trying to swim ashore, or pushing mines in front of them to sink our ships. A volley of revolver shots rang out, and the caiks unscathed bobbed on their inoffensive way. "Occasionally a distant shot booms from the Rock, a warning to a merchantman to heave to. Sometimes a host of hurried shots ring out together, something supposed to be lurking in the shadow. Otherwise, throughout the night no sound save for the ships' bells all around and perhaps the pant of a launch. The great searchlights on the Rock sweep the horizon incessantly, crossing and recrossing. The glare is so brilliant that if you gaze steadily into it something seems to detach itself from your eye or from the light and float away like a dark rag. Underneath Europa Point lie anchored five captured German merchantmen.

A German merchantman tried to run the gauntlet one night. A blank shot produced no effect, three live shots across her bows were unheeded, and then a minute torpedo boat shot out to bring her in. It is the picture of "Dignity and Impudence" over again to see one of those spider craft shepherding into port one of these steamers. Based on Gibraltar are a variety of naval craft, and to them the patrolling of the straits is entrusted. Each or nine mile stretch of sea across to the African coast, and woe betide any hostile vessel which, having dared to run the gauntlet of the guns on the Rock tries to break through the thin grey line of sentinels."

Commands Kaiser's Eastern Army

GEN. VON HINDENBURG

General Von Hindenburg is the quiet, forceful man of the Kaiser's general staff. He was the leader chosen to check the Russians in East Prussia.

Capable and resourceful, a stern disciplinarian, this German general retains wonderful control over his army and in his ability to move his men quickly lies the secret of his popularity with the Kaiser and his immediate military advisers.

Tommy's Naval Honors

The bluejacket often takes part in land fighting, as witness the doughty deeds of the Naval Brigade in the Crimea, and, in more recent times, in Egypt and the Africa. The amphibious Marine excepted, however, it is exceptional to find Tommy Atkins fighting at sea. Nevertheless, at least three British regiments bear naval battle honors. One is the 2nd Battalion the Welsh Regiment, which served Sir John Jervis at the naval battle off Cape St. Vincent, 1797. Lord Nelson christened the "Old Agamemnon" after his own ship the Agamemnon, and the nickname stuck.

They are also known as the "Ups and Downs" from the fact that their regimental number "69" can be read either way up. The other naval honor bearing corps are Princess Charlotte of Wales' Royal Berkshire Regiment and the Rifle Brigade. Both were embarked at Yarmouth on the fleet under Sir Hyde Parker and Lord Nelson.

Bugler Boy and Hero

He is only a bugler boy of sixteen, and he lies in the Royal Herbert Military Hospital, Woolwich, with his left arm off and his head and both legs swathed in bandages. But, to quote the words of one of his comrades, "He is a little hero and deserves a dozen medals. The little fellow stuck to it till he had four bullet wounds in him before he left off sounding his bugle."

The Austrians are adopting more rigorous measures against British citizens in their country.

PARIS YOUNG MEN
HELP THE BELGIANS

Successful Effort Was Held Thursday Evening by Sacred Heart Young Men.

One of the most successful and enjoyable entertainments, in the form of a progressive euchre party and social, was held on Thursday evening in the assembly hall of the Sacred Heart School, Paris, under the auspices of the Young Men's Club. The guests included many prominent business men of Brantford, and also a large number from Paris, the hall being filled to capacity. The entertainment was of a patriotic nature, the proceeds being donated towards the Belgian Relief Fund, the total receipts being far in advance of what was expected. There being a free-will offering at the door, it tended to show the generous and patriotic spirit of all in attendance. Everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and great credit was given to the young men for their successful efforts. After playing several games of euchre, a short but pleasing program was rendered, after which light luncheon was served. Then followed some interesting speeches, both humorous and patriotic, by Rev. Father Cassidy, Mayor Patterson, Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., Mr. T. Scott Davidson, M.L.A., and Mr. P. N. P. N. postmaster. All spoke of the terrible sufferings of the Belgians and praised the young men of the Sacred Heart Church for the success of the social, the proceeds of which were being devoted to such a worthy cause. The entertainment concluded with the singing of "God Save the King."

Obituary

William Stewart Wilson.

The death occurred on Thursday of this week of Wm. Stewart Wilson, an old and highly-respected resident of this city. Deceased was born in Belfast, Ireland, a son of Thos. Stewart Wilson, barrister, of that place, and came to Canada with his parents at an early age, settling at Newcastle, Ontario. Mr. Wilson was a draughtsman and expert machinist, and was possessed of unusual mechanical ability. During his lifetime he has been connected with various manufacturing concerns. In Toronto with the old-time Massey Co., in Ayr with the Watson Mfg. Co., who for years manufactured a horse-rake of his invention. From there he went to Ingersoll as junior partner in the Machine Screw Co. Here again his mechanical genius manifested itself in the invention and patenting of a process for hardening bolts and rivets. In Brantford he will be remembered for his long connection with the old Good Bicycle Works, where his inventive genius did much for the success of the once-famous Red Bird bicycle. Latterly Mr. Wilson has been employed with the Cockshutt Plow Co., where his kind and jovial disposition and ready Irish wit won him many warm friends. Besides a loving wife he leaves to mourn his loss four children, Mrs. Wm. Vary of New York city, Thos. of Scotland, Misses Jennie and Aileen of the public school teaching staff. The funeral is taking place this afternoon from his late residence, 111 Sheridan street.
