The Battles of Every Day. Ho, for the battles of every day. Ho, for the battles of every day. Ho, for the courage that meets the fray.

A Young Hero.

He was a youth of seven, bare-footed and ill-clad. The poor lad, through some misadventure fell into the river near Patrick's bridge recently. Helpers to rescue the drowning child were not wanting, and he was brought to the shore, wet to the skin, and shivering with the cold.

A Guilty Conscience.

In an Ohio town a saloon keeper was seen by a friend walking back and forth before his saloon, as if in deep thought. The friend asked him what was the matter. He answered: "Oh, nothing."

Paddy's Letter.

Those fond of Irish bulls may find some amusement in the following letter, which was written by an amorous swain of the Emerald Isle to his lady fair.

Twenty years ago England produced 46,000,000 hectolitres of beer, Germany 42,000,000, and the United States 19,000,000.

Firemen's Horses.

Charles Lewis Shaw, in the November Canadian Magazine, gives a bright description of the horses used on fire-fighting appliances. "Horses," said one of the firemen, "throwing open a door that had mysterious springs and mechanism attached to it, 'are as different as human beings, and the intelligent eyes of a magnificent horse looked inquiringly at us from his stall at the end of the main hall containing the engines and hose reels."

LONDON TRAGEDY.

New York, Nov. 11.—A sensational love tragedy has been enacted in this city, in full view of hundreds of people, cables the London correspondent of the Herald. A young woman named Kitty Byron, stabbed to death her lover, Arthur Reginald Baker, a well-known member of the stock exchange.

Baffles Surgeons' Skill.

New York, November 10.—Surgeons sawed into Nellie Corcoran's skull yesterday and explored her brain, to discover, if they could, the secret of the trance in which she had lain for 21 days. They had their labor for nothing.

Wants a Divorce.

A New York woman in her application for a divorce charges that her husband has pulled her out of bed 1,800 times by her hair. The charge is an unfortunate one: the husband should be the applicant, not the wife, for the woman who would permit her husband to drag her out of bed by her hair more than 1,750 times has not the qualifications which are essential in a wife.

Astor Snubbed.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The positive dislike with which the prominent American citizen, William Waldorf Astor, is regarded by the King, was emphasized a few days ago when Mr. Astor received a semi-official intimation from the Lord Chamberlain's department in London that it would be well for him to drop the prefix of "Honourable," to his name.

Heavy Loss of Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 13.—The steamship Newport, from Panama, brings particulars of the recent eruption of Mount Santa Maria, in Guatemala. According to the officers of the Newport, the destruction of life and property has been immense and necessitous for relief is said to be urgent.

Awful Chain of Consequences.

Once upon a time a man got mad at the editor and stopped his paper. The next week he sold his corn for four cents below the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the treasurer's sale. He was arrested and fined $8 for going hunting on Sunday simply because he didn't know it was Sunday, and paid $300 for a lot of furred moose that had been advertised two weeks and the public cautioned not to purchase them. He then paid a big American with a foot like a forge hammer to kick him all the way to the news-paper office, where he paid four weeks advance and made the editor sign an agreement to knock him down and rob him if he ever ordered his paper to be stopped again.

COFFIN DROPPED IN CHURCH.

OHIO, Nov. 11.—From the church in which she was found ap- plying to the pastor's study by the corpse of the Rev. W. S. Kate, the body of Miss Augusta Busch, missionary of the church, was borne to Forest Lawn Cemetery. Her coffin bore the words "At rest." Four youths acted as pall-bearers. Eight had been selected, but four failed to appear.

The Rev. Thomas Anderson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, conducted the services. He asked the two stanzas of "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" as being.

"We feel the shame the calamity has brought upon us and upon our church," said the minister, "as Christians we have profound condemnation for evil whenever it exists but it is a slander on the church to point to this instance as a sample of what the Church produces among mankind."

"It is best to leave the dead and their doings in the hand of God. We are in no mood for moralizing when around the bier of the dead. Anything like a formal speech or sermon is singularly out of place. I always feel silence is more appropriate and expressive of our sorrow and sympathy than rasping words, so my remarks will be unobtrusively brief. The minister asked that Miss Busch be remembered for her good deeds, not for her yielding to temptation."
