Aero Cushion Inner Tire Co.,

Wingham, Ont.

Dear Sirs:

We have used your Aero Cushion Tires on two Studebaker sedans and a Ford Sedan during the past year and have pleasure in testifying to the genuine satisfaction derived from them.

Trouble with punctured tires is now a thing of the past, and what we save in cost will alone pay for the cushion tires, as we can now wear our castings down to the last thread. We certainly give Aero Cushion Tires the preference over all tubes and heartily recommend them to all users of cars and trucks.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

What He Came To.

The passengers in the smoking compartment chatting on many subjects, finally reaching a common opinion. "Yes, gentlemen," said one, "real ambition starts in childhood. And if we obey its impulse we not only attain it, but we are far beyond our wildest dreams. Look at me. In my boyhood I was anxious to become a pirate. Today—and he gazed proudly round the compartment—"I run a successful hotel."

Doing Dublin.

It was the Englishman's first visit to Dublin, and he was driving round on a jaunting car seeing the sights. When they got near the river, an Irishman told the story, he was struck with the unpleasant smell, and asked the journey: "What is this horrible smell?"

The journey replied, proudly:

"Shure, an' don't you know that the smell of the Liffey is one of the sights of Dublin?"

Business.

Father (to son who has been taking a course of salesmanship)—"Well, my boy, what do you know about business now?"

Son (who has the root of the matter in him)—"Only this, that it's simply making people think that they can't get what they don't want."

London Morning Post.

Needless Expense.

A traveling man came of an hotel he observed in one of the towns of Georgia. He was seated in the waiting room when a typical negro of the backwoods type appeared at the ticket window and asked the agent for a ticket to Macon.

"Straight or return?" asked the agent.

"Straight or return?" repeated the negro.

"Yes," continued the agent, "a straight ticket will take you to Macon only, and a return ticket will bring you back here."

"Macon," he shouted, "How come you think I want a return ticket when I'm already back?"

The Pledge.

In that time when it was now some years referred to as "the good old days," Pat and Mike had been imbibing entirely too much. Father Reagan met them on the street and made them promise to go to his house the next day to take the pledge.

Early the next morning Pat met Mike; they linked arms and started for the priest's house. Their way took them past a saloon.

"Hut, hut!" says Pat. "What say we stop in an hour (but mean more hours) we sign the pledge?"

"Now," replied Mike. "His vivvance might smell our breath. Wait till we're comin' back."

Long Sleeves Fashion To-day

(Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner from Dominion News Service.)

Paris, April 30.—No more bare arms is the latest dictate to the Paris fashion world, which has come to the conclusion that bare arms must be strictly reserved for evening frocks.

This was clearly to be seen lately at Longchamp, where in glorious sunshine the opening meeting was the occasion for a glorious display of summer frocks.

The new sleeved walking costumes are wonderful combinations of simple lines and gorgeous embroidery. One prominent model of the new style was in black with long sleeves closely fitting down to the wrists, and with frills hanging over the hands and plainly pleated skirt; it would have been almost too severe but for its tunic of many colors.

The tunic, which was white, was embroidered almost like a tapestry with a floral design in red and gold and purple.

With different color combinations, the type of frock was certainly in the majority. But all the frocks without exception had long sleeves.

Hats were all of the small "cloche" type.

FRENCH ELECTION CAMPAIGN ACTIVE

The Monarchists Pick the Duke of Orleans as Leader of Party.

Paris, April 29.—Two of the four teen political parties of France have boldly decided to recommend a "good dictatorship" to the French voters as the best solution of the problems of the day. One of them picks the Duke of Orleans, pretender to the French throne, as the proper Mussolini for France, while the other chooses that While the sentiment which prompts the erecting of a Memorial is a worthy consideration, the purchase is a financial proposition, and few people have any great knowledge of values.

There are many differently priced Gravestones, any of which, good or bad, can be made up into any design.

Queensport Grey Granite costs a little more and is worth the difference. It is of close even texture and takes a lustrous polish; being of a medium dark shade the lettering shows up distinctly. The design shown is priced at $150, $175 and $200, according to size.
