A Marvelous Medicine

Whenever Given a Fair Trial Hood's Proves Its Merit.
The following letter is from Mr. J. Aldeid Chausse, architect and surveyor, No. 138 Shaw Street, Montreal, Canada.
C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.
"Gentlemen:—I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for about six months and am glad to say that it has done me a great deal of good. Last May my weight was 152 pounds, but since Hood's Pills cured my liver, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion, etc., I have gained 25 pounds and feel like a new man."

Now it happens that there was just such a man, Giuseppe Calasanzio by name, and strange to say, by profession a Catholic priest, and it was in the year 1597 when he did this very deed. And not only once, but ever so many times. The fact is, he is the founder of the first free school system. What did Rome do to this man? Only this: she canonized him as a saint, and named him as the only patron of all schools for the common people, and especially of all free schools. Every priest in the world today celebrates at the altar the festival of this Catholic saint of free schools. But, if this Saint Giuseppe Calasanzio brought free schools under a system, then such schools must have existed before? Most certainly. Rome had always been solicitous to provide for the education of children, and here is good evidence of it, evidence standing for over four hundred years before the saint himself was born. In 1179 Pope Alexander III., at the third Council of Lateran, had the following decree passed: "Since the Church of God, like a tender mother, is bound to provide for the poor, both in those things that appertain to the aid of the body, and in those which belong to the advancement of the soul; lest the opportunity should be wanting to these poor children who cannot be aided by their parents, let a competent benefice be founded in every cathedral church and assigned to a teacher, whose duty it shall be to teach the clerks and poor scholars of the same church gratuitously, by which means the support of the teacher may be assured and the way to instruction opened to learners. Let this practice be restored in other churches and monasteries if, at times past, anything was set apart for this purpose. But let no one exact a price for granting permission to teach." Pope, prelates, and priests have always shown themselves to be of one mind ever since with this Pope Alexander. What is the result as witnessed to-day? Free education, in Rome people, but to be reviled for the cunning of it in spreading knowledge among them as the surest means of binding them more securely with the "trammels of its popish superstition!" That is, the education of the people is sure to result in the "spread of Catholicism," and as a champion of Catholicism, the stoutest form of Protestantism, he is opposed to this powerful means, devised by wily Roman priests, of keeping up and securing from the Protestantism—he is opposed to this powerful aid to his popish superstition. That is what he meant in saying that the statistical facts, apparently witnessing the glory of Rome, were "destructive as well as amusing." The long and short of it is, the Catholic Church must be reviled and downed in any case, in their own countries, where Protestants have the floor, she is to be reviled, and falsely, for keeping the people in ignorance; and lo! the travelled Protestant philosopher, finding Rome leading the most enlightened countries in the world in teaching the people, tells us she is to be reviled because she does not keep them in ignorance.—Exchange.

Epps's Cocoa

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a deliciously flavored beverage which may save us many doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal ailment by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets by Grocers, labelled thus.
