Were it not for this bridge, there could be no doubt regarding the construction of the com pleted line, since one hundred and fifty days will lay all the track. Work on the Battle River bridge cannot, however, be well bgeun until the line of rail has reached that point from Saskatoon, a distance of two hundred and four miles. Three to four months will be required to complete the permanent bridge over the river. Should it appear that in view of the length of time required for the construction of bridge there is danger that the line will not be completed into Edmonton this year, the track-laying machines will begin work from the Edmonton end and will push on the track laying from the Clover Bar bridge eastward. Rushing Track , Laying. In order that the track laying may be hastened this year, the G.T.P. have strengthened their track laying ma-chine, so that instead of laying three miles per day, four or more miles may be layed. The difficulty with the machine in use last year was that the shafting was not of sufficient strength to work well on a train of more than twelve cars length.
