Directional Wireless.

SPECIAL LECTURE BY EXPERT.

A lecture on this special phase of Wireless Engineering will be given by Mr. A. Coade, the Wireless expert from Ottawa, who is at present examining a number of wireless men for their First Class Canadian Wireless Operators Certificates. Those who successfully pass this examination will be eligible for Wireless positions on all British Ships. This subject should prove of special interest to the inhabitants of this Maritime Nation of course, as it enables ships to locate their positions on the foggiest days or darkest of nights by means of Cross Bearings from Shore Stations. It has therefore materially minimised the danger of ships being dashed to pieces on treacherous rocks which abound along these coasts. Directional Wireless was also used to great advantage on our aeroplanes during the war, and in the raids over "Hunland," enabled our machines to locate their position and to return to their dromes safely after dropping their bombs. This lecture which is under the auspices of the British Radio and Electrical Engineering Institute will take place tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Grenfell Hall. Admission will be free, and it is expected that a large audience will be in attendance.

Mission Circle

CONCERT AND CANTATA.

A very enjoyable concert and cantata was rendered last night in the Lecture Room of Gower St. Methodist Church. The affair was under the auspices of the Mission Circle, and for the occasion special arrangements were made. The concert consisted of nine numbers, as follows—Piano solo by Miss Oates, solos by Misses Hutchinson and Wornell and Mr. W. H. Peters; duets by Misses Calvert and Crocker and Mrs. Davis and Yetman and readings by Mrs. Pratt. The various items were splendidly rendered and greatly appreciated.

Following the concert was the Cantata "Judith." The scene was laid in the garden of Joseph of Arimathea, and the theme, the inspiring Easter Story. The songs and choruses were prettily rendered, and the different characters nicely portrayed. The whole production being excellent in every detail. The characters were as follows—Judith—daughter of Joseph—Miss M. Dingle; Miriam—Judith's Foster Mother—Miss M. Foote; Lois—a friend of Judith—Miss F. Soper; Reuben—the gardener—R. Hearder; Sons of Reuben, Joseph, Peter and Cecil Baggis; women visiting the tomb, Misses Porter, Barrett and Atwill; Roman Soldier, L. R. Curtis; Joseph of Arimathea, H. Joyce. Solo parts were taken by Miss S. Moore and Mr. L. R. Curtis, with a duet by Misses Moore and Kendall and a trio by Mesdames Forbes Peters, and Miss Soper. The Cantata, which reflected great credit on the young ladies of the Mission Circle, will be repeated to-night, when those who were prevented from being present last evening will have an opportunity to spend a pleasant and profitable hour.

"THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS."

The moonlight reflected from "the Palace of Darkened Windows" and it presented a beautiful picture of barbaric splendour. But as the alligators lurked beneath the surface of the limpid pool in the palace courtyard, so did a fate worse than death lurk in the shadows of the Rajah's home.

Roughing it in Newfoundland.

WINTER TRAVEL BY DOG TEAM.

Passengers arriving this morning, (April 10) on the steamer Kyle, tell of the great handicap business as well as other people were put to during last winter owing to the immense quantities of snow that fell. Among the passengers was Mr. W. A. Frobie, a merchant at Bonne Bay, who is on his way to Halifax on business. Being unable to take a train for several days, owing to its inability to cross the mountains, he was obliged to employ the services of a dog team and drove the forty miles intervening between his home town and the railway depot at Deer Lake, where he came the remainder of the distance by train to Port aux Basques. Considering the lateness of the season this constitutes a record by this means of travel. Another passenger arriving here was Mr. Phil Forghash, an extensive buyer of furs who has frequently journeyed from New York to his home town, to remote sections of Newfoundland in quest of furs. When the train he was riding on came to Millertown, mountains of snow prevented the train from going any further. After waiting for some time, and anxious to proceed on his journey, Mr. Forghash secured the services of a man who hitched up a team of eleven dogs to drive him to Howley. It took them 18 hours to make the 46 miles between the two points, and for this service the traveller was obliged to pay the sum of $45. "It was not the price that bothered me," said the fur buyer to the Herald, shortly after he stepped from the Kyle, "it was the desperate experience of ploughing through the mighty banks of snow, which blew with biting fierceness into your eyes, freezing on the eyelashes and at times taking one's breath away. Dog Team! Never again for mine!"—North Sydney Herald.

We have basic slag in bags containing about 200 lbs. which we are selling at $2.00 per bag or equal to one cent per pound.

Fads and Fashions.

Taffeta dresses are trimmed elaborately with lattice work. Morning frocks continue to be straight from shoulder to hem.

Embroidery of seed pearls is used on the sleeves of bridal gowns. The short coat has become the triumph of the present tailleur.

Parasols of fine pleating are frequently used at the sides of frocks. Paris is fond of the draped gown of lame worn with a gorgeous wrap. Some evening gowns show the normal waistline, and are extremely long.

A novel sleeve fits tight to the elbow, then flares into two circular flaps.

A wreath of camellias, placed low, girdle a wedding gown of silver cloth.

The long sleeve, rather tight, is in high favor, even for sports garments.

Hop sucking sports dresses are fast taking the place of the linen frocks.
