

A FAR JOURNEY RESOLVED ON—A DEEP BEHIND THE SCENES—"THE TEMPTATION" APPROACHES.

Half an hour later, when the lights were all out, and the mansion had been abandoned to utter silence, two forms stole stealthily forth by different doors and met in a secluded place among the shrubbery.

"Barnard!" she whispered, in a low voice. "I am here," answered her brother, from the deep darkness under the yew.

She came instantly forward and joined him, the intense gloom effectually concealing them from observation even had anyone chanced to be abroad at that hour.

"Well, Augusta, this is a pretty turn things have taken. All my former work goes for nothing."

"To help us?" repeated Hayes angrily. "But he is hindering us—thwarting us, throwing all his force on the other side. In a word, Augusta, the game is lost."

"Lost, Barnard! Do I hear you a-right? Lost!"

"I fear it is. If this man is found—this Jerry Just—a word from his mouth will reveal the place of the marriage. Thus, all is hopeless. The will can no longer be evaded; the girl gets Rockstone and—"

"Never—I tell you, never," burst forth Mrs. Langton. "Mean—must be taken to prevent such an issue."

"What can be done? We can't prevent Weston from going to America; we can't prevent him finding Jerry Just, if he is still there."

"Are you sure of that?" asked Mrs. Langton, in a low, fierce whisper. "I can't see how—do you?"

"You have heard what Philip Weston said about the American agent named Yorke. He is evidently no friend to Jerry. Could he not be communicated with?"

"To what purpose? What could we learn from him?"

"If he knows anything of the man, and where he is."

"What then? Do you contemplate getting at Jerry and bribing him before Weston comes across him? That is a vain project. The character given of him to night shows me so."

"Then what is it?"

"Yorke is evidently his enemy; he is unscrupulous, and might be induced to—"

PETRIE'S NEW DRUG STORE Nearly opposite the Old Stand.

NOW OPEN.

Mr. PETRIE takes this opportunity to thank the Public for their large and liberal support during the seven years he has been in business in Guelph.

The New Store is the one formerly occupied by Mr. H. Berry, and lately by Mr. J. R. Poirer, as a Confectionery Store. The store has been enlarged and refitted, making it a much more desirable place of business than the old stand.

Having secured the new store for a term of Ten Years, I hope, with the assistance of the Public, to prevent in the future as I have done during the past seven years, any monopoly in the Drug Trade in Guelph.

I have removed my stock to the new store, where business will only be conducted in future.

By conducting my business in the future in the same upright, respectable, and in the past, I trust to receive a continuance of your generous support.

I am, yours very truly,

A. B. PETRIE.
