BULLS AND BEARS.

Finance Notes The Northwestern Miller (Minneapolis) says:
The flour output last week was 121,170 barrels, against 114,100 barrels the week before and 100,600 barrels for the corresponding time in 1839. The flour market is strong, but sales are restricted to comparatively small limits, and do not equal the manufacture. The export shipments for last week were 35,270 barrels, against 27,630 barrels the proceeding week. The spring wheat crop has gone into the ground under the most promising condition. It is late, but otherwise there is now no justifiable complaint from any large section of an unflavorable situation. There appears to be no place now suffering for rain.

Reported by A. M. Hamilton & Son.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.

The attendance of sellers on the market today was small, the only line supplied in quantity was hay, sales of which were dull at $\fota$ to $\fota$. Wheat and all kinds of grain were firm and receipts only moderate, seeds were searce and prices active and a shade higher.
There was a good inquiry for buckwheat and rye, but no sales. Provisions steady and unchanged in most lines. Eggs were a shade easier. All other lines unchanged. Quotations settled here by May 1.

The City Hall improvements of the present year have been numerous and the offices and apartments are now far more creditable in appearance than ever before. The most recent renovation is the new upholstering and renovation of the furniture of the Council Chamber, which is now made comfortable and neat, Mr. W. J. Bryanton having completed the work very satisfactorily.

Yesterday's meet of the London Hunt, which, by permission of Lieut.-Col. Smith, was held at the Barracks, was one of the most enjoyable of the season, as the officers did all in their power to make the members of the Hunt and their friends enjoy themselves. The run was from the Barracks eastward for three miles, thence northward, the finish being about Mr. Henry Dreaney's. The air was bracing and the day a clear one, so the event proved very enjoyable.

so the event proved very enjoyable.

One of Mr. Adam Beck's horses had a liverly time this morning on Talbot street. It ran away, turned down the extension of Lichfield street and rolled over the steps leading to Blackfriar's Bridge. There are about 50 steps and that such a heavy animal could fall such a distance without being fatally injured was remarkable. A lady was ascending the steps at the time. She saw the horse rolling down on her, so turned and fled to the bottom, getting out of harm's way barely in time.

R. E. Allen, of Westminster, has been arrested on a charge of unlawfully taking possession of a horse, which was included in a chattle mortgage, given to Mr. M. J. Kent, of this city. It is claimed that Allen borrowed the horse from Constable Ward, and then asked what the price would be to buy it. He was told that $85 would be the amount. It is alleged that he then took the horse for a short drive, as he said, and did not return, but left it at his sister's in London South. Squire Jarvis remanded him to Tuesday.

"The Boston Ideals."

The plan for the production of "Lucia di Lammermoor" by the great Boston Ideals on Monday evening at the Grand Opera House is being well taken up, and the audience will undoubtedly be one of the largest as well as the most representative of the season. The fact that "The Gondoliers" will not be produced here this year by Stetson's company makes it almost certain that this will be the best remaining opportunity of the season to see a first-class operatic performance. Mme. L'Allemand in the title role is declared by Chicago journalists to be only rivaled by Patti. Companions "At Home."

Last evening an enjoyable time was spent in the lodge room of the City Circle of the Companions of the Forest, where a large representation from the other circles was in attendance. The occasion was a welcome to visitors from Pride of Elgin Circle, St. to visitors from Pride of Elgin Circle, St. Thomas, who came in response to an invitation from the London companions to attent their "at home." The visitors were met at the M. C. R. by a reception committee, escorted to the lodge room and warmly received. The time was pleasantly passed in speech-making, social chat and singing, while the recitations and readings caused considerable amusement. In the latter part of the evening refreshment was served and at a seasonable hour the company broke up, each satisfied that Londoners cannot be excelled in the matter of hospitality and willing to repeat the visit.

The Firemen Have a Hard Fight at the Imperial Oil Company's Works.

About 12 o'clock last night a fire started n the large works of the Imperial Oil Refining and Parrafine Company in East Lon-don. The alarm was sounded by P. C. Gall about 1:15 o'clock and the boys turned out with their accustomed promptitude. The fire originated in the northern end of the works in a building in which was stored five large tanks of wax. This speedily ignited and burned with great fury. A high wind was blowing at the time and the department had great difficulty in preventing the spreading of the fire to the aljacent buildings, a large frame structure on the west of the burning works having caught fire four different times. Fortunately it was finally saved. The firemen did not get back to the city until about 6 o'clock, having had five hours' hard work. The buildings were all of frame, and the loss to the company is estimated at about $6,000. A couple of large tanks of benzine in close proximity to the fire made the position of the firemen a very unenviable one. out with their accustomed promptitude.
