[Private Wire, Roath Bros. & Co.] Chicago, Sept. 7 .- Cables this morning were very unsympathetic to our little closing bulge of last night and had a tendency to throw a damper on whatever bull enthusiasm there was this morning. The market opened about at the closing figures of yesterday with a heavy and dragging appearance. There is an utter absence of outside orders and this fact alone encourages the local crowd to lay for an opportunity to make an occasional drive at the price, which up to the present writing has been fairly steady, and seems disinolined to give in without a struggle. While the market temporarily looks heavy it appears to us that it ought to be bought on any slight recession from the present

Corn is dull in sympathy with wheat There has been free selling of corn all morning by receivers and country houses, but with very little or no loss in price. There is quite a scalping trade manifest at present in corn, and we would not be surprised to see an active market in this commodity at any moment now with a decided unward tendency, although most of the local traders are apt to wait until after the government crop report on Monday next before putting out new call on the government to take strongest immediate action against the Boers, and the expected result of tomorrow's cabinet meeting is that some ultimatum will be presented to the Boers. Market depressed; mining shares particularly weak and American easier in sympathy. Monetary situation easing some. Only depressing feature is discord over the Transvaal situation. The Bank of England rate discount unchanged, 2½ per cent. Chicago, Sept. 7.—The government crop report will be issued today at 3 p.m., Chicago time. It will give the September condition of corn and the condition of wheat and oats at harvest. Chances are that there will be some drop in the corn condition, which was 89.9 in August because of the recent dry weather.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT REPORT.

[Private Wire to Roath Bros. & Co.] Washington, Sept. 6 .- As a whole the week has been very favorable for early corn, which has been less favorable to late crop, premature ripening being generally reported. While conditions have been fairly favorable for stacking and threshing of spring wheat in Red River Valley, reports of injury from excessive moisture to grain in shock and stack continue from portions of Minnesota and South Dakota, as well as from portions of Washington. In Oregon threshing has been active, and grain has proved to be less injured than was expected.

"DARKEST RUSSIA."

"Darkest Russia," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House tonight. when it enters upon a three nights' stay, is a play that appeals to those who delight in the more substantial sort of theatric diet. Its story is of Russia and the Russians. It tells of plotting and counter-plotting, and incidentally of the Nihilist, whose home is the czar's domain, and yet there is a charming love story running through the play, and, above all, a wealth of comedy, that is clean-cut and decisive in its effects, for it engenders mirth by the wit of its lines and the complication of scene the author has constructed. In a word, "Darkest Russia" is a drama, -The first batch of long service me- fraught with strong scenes and clidals will be sent out this week. Ballantyne-Elliott Nuptials-An Important Social Event.

Description of the Ceremony and Cos tumes-The Guests.

September, the ideal month for weadings, on one of its ideal days, witnessed the most charming home wedding of the season. Yesterday the spacious residence of Mr. Charles H. Elliott, Craig street, South London, was transformed into a veritable bower of red roses, palms and maiden-hair fern, when his only daughter Millicent, one of London's belles, was united in marriage to Alexander Ballantyne, of CONGRATULATIONS FOR DR. BUR-Brantford. At 2 o'clock as the exquisite strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March stole through the drawing-rooms, the charming brunette bride entered, leaning on the arm of her father. Her gown was a creation of ivory duchesse silk, en train, with trimmings of rose point lace and chiffon, her only ornament being a pearl and diamond star, the gift of the groom. She carried a show-er bouquet of bridal roses. The bride was attended by Miss Nettie Wilson, Seaforth, who wore a fairy-like gown of white organdie with trimmings of mouseline de soie and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses. The groom was supported by Mr. John Puddicombe, jun., Bothwell. The nuptial knot was tied in the presence of a large number of guests, by Rev. W. J. Clark, First Presbyterian Church, London.

After partaking of the recherche repast provided the happy couple left for the east on the 4:40 train, followed by showers of rose leaves and congratulations.

The bride's going away gown was a suit costume of seal-brown broad cloth with watermelon silk front. With this she wore a brown picture hat. THE GUESTS.

Among the invited guests were the following: Mr. and Mrs. James R. Elliott, London; Mr. Fred Elliott, Kincardine, the Hon. by Ald. McCully, seconded by Ald, colored by his usual mannerisms, evoked outbursts of laughter. He said that he considered it to be established that missed from the city fire department Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. Discussions of his long absence from ing the correspondence of "A" (Col. Schwartzkoppen), Major Carriere declared emphatically his belief that Dreyfus had relations with the power of which "A" was the agent. He admitted Esterhazy was not a nice person, but said there was nothing to prove that he was a traitor, and he said that Picquart had utterly failed to convince him of the innocence of Dreyfus. "My belief in the innocence of Dreyfus," said Major Carriere, in conclusion, "has been transformed into a conviction of his guilt, which has been strengthened by the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution. day I come to tell you, on my soul and conscience, that Dreyfus is guilty, and to ask for the application of article 76 of the penal code." DREYFUS NOT DISCOURAGED. When Major Carrierre had concluded, Col. Jouanst ordered the adjournment street, met with a most unfortunate of the court, and Dreyfus rose quickly accident the other day, while operating, and apparently not dejected. As the prisoner was passing his counsel's table M. Labori stopped him and whis-pered "courage." Dreyfus smiled and nodded as he proceeded.

M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, and a number of others seated on the benches before which Dreyfus passed, repeated M. Labori's word of encouragement, POLICE MEASURES.

The most elaborate police measures will be taken during the last day of the trial. Eight gendarmes will be distributed in the court room. Twenty gendarmes and a detachment of infantry will be stationed in the court-yard, the cordons of troops and gendarmes in the vicinity of the Lycee will be tripled. and placed farther back. Detachments of gendarmes will be posted on the squares and the bridges of the town and mounted gendarmes will patrol the principal streets of Rennes. risons of neighboring towns will be held in readiness to be dispatched here at a moment's notice. If a cry is raised or a threatening gesture made by anyone in the audience before or after the verdict, the offender will be arrested and taken before the president of the court, President Jouaust, and will be then and there sentenced to punishment, the minimum penalty being two years in

A Novel Foot Rest. 25 cents invested in FOOT ELM will give more rest and comfort to the feet than a dollar invested in imitations. It preserves the leather, cools the feet, stops the sweating and blistering, and prevents corns.
