A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON
MANY SPORTSRED SOX WALLOP REITZMANS
AND WOVE INTO SECOND PLACE

Indians Play a Miserable Game After Reitzman Had To Be Removed in Second Inning, and Kane's Men Have An Easy Time Winning the Game.

[BY JINK.]
Mr. Bowerman's Bingers started out in the first inning of yesterday's little occurrence at Fenway park with the cruel intention of beating Mr. Kane's would-be pennant snatchers off the face of the premises. But cruel fate, ably assisted and abetted by Mr. Chas. Nichols, ruled otherwise. That is why the Red Sox won by the score of 11 to 1.

It was presumed that the real picnic day of the London baseball team had taken place on Tuesday, July 2, but it appears that the day was postponed until the next day. This deduction is arrived at after a minute inspection of the box score, and the application of the methods used by the great Skyline, Bama and Lockjaw, the famous detective.

It will be observed that Mr. Nichols spilled the beans no less than twice in the same course, and his conduct was such that he should have been ordered from the table and put to carrying water for the rest of the afternoon.

It all started when Southpaw Ernie Reitzman, who began the game and working like a galling gun with just as much effectiveness, had to retire at the end of the second inning owing to an injury in his side. He had been suffering for the past two days with it, and was kept out of the game at St. Thomas yesterday because of the pain it caused him. However, today he thought he could work all right, but it became worse and he was in a serious condition when removed at the end of the second chapter. It was necessary to call a doctor, and Reitzman was removed from the park. He is suffering from a strain in the groin, and it will be at least two weeks before he will be well enough to pitch again.

Kane's Men Wake Up.
When Reitzman departed, the Indians were two runs in the lead, while Mr. Kane's Kanines had failed to get even a look-in for that eleven that eventually won them the game. In the third inning Mr. Reitzman made them walk the plank and fall off backwards, while in their half of the spasm the Redskins went in and rounded the circuit for a duet of tallies. After Lindburn had gone out, Blake squeezed a pass from Mr. Donovan's assortment and stole second. Herbauer punctured the atmosphere three times without making an impression upon the ball, but Mr. Elcock very obligingly fumbled Powell's grounder long enough for that gentleman to get safe. Powell stole second, and with third and second occupied, Coeshah singled to left, Blake and Powell coming in. Nichols struck out.

"Fitz" Was Not Mad.
Mr. Fitzpatrick, St. Thomas castoff, went into the box in the third inning for the locals. This was because Mr. Matt Hynes, who has been spending the past two days vacationing at his home among the Palmerston wilds, did not get through telling the natives how he lost Tuesday's game in time to catch the only train out of the burg for the next day and a half. He should have been at the local back lot yesterday afternoon, but he did not put in an appearance. That is another reason why London lost the game. Fitzpatrick already pitched two games this week, and a third one was just a little too much for him. He did not do so bad at all after that, but he did not hit him "come clean" with the support in the pinches, the story might have been different.

The Red Sox gave him a great reception in the third inning by connecting safely three times for hits of runs. After Lamond had struck out, Donovan, with two strikes on him, singled to left.
