THE LONDON TRUTH DISCOURSES ON

London Truth, of which the clever nd well known Mr. Henry Laboure is editor, deals in a recent issue with the Canadian farm pupil business aking the exposures recently made by the World as a text. The matter was ight up by the writ entered by a young Englishman named Greenwood nst F. F. McArthur, the Canalian superintendent of the International unpaid wages. Greenwood and a numunpaid wages. Greenwood and a number of other young Englishmen had been brought out by one A. L. Atkinson, who represented himself to be the managing director of the International Emigration Association, 1td., of 47 Victoria-street Westminster. London Truth now gives some valuable information with reference to the per-don Truth now gives some valuable information with reference to the personnel of this concern. In 1894 the same journal made an exposure of the frauds perpetrated by a man named Pointing, who carried on an employment agency on the Strand. The result of this exposure was, according to Truth, that the agency business collapsed, and Pointing started out in a new line, furnishing "adis to beauty" to those of the female sex who were faodish nough to patronize him. Subsequently he formed the International Emigration Association, of which London Truth gives the following account:

"The concern was registered in March, 1894, and it is based on an agreement between Pointing and three other persons, one of whom is the individual named Atkinson referred to by The Toronto World as taking out the victims to America. By the agreement, Pointing and Atkinson are to sell the business previously carried on by them to the company. A third party named Todd was to find the working capital. Akkinson, I am told, was formerly himself a pupil of the man Aappin, of the Anglo-Canadian Farm Pupil Association, well known to readers of Truth; and if that be so, he could not have been initiated into the omitant and whereas and the matter are Messrs. J. Treblicock, J.P. Wheeler, and F. Deene.

to the Anglo-Canadian gang, and the folly of paying premiums to such people. Nevertheless, Aspdin and Hawden, to my knowledge, continued to fatten on farm pupils, and the Rev. Mr. Moore also, for anything I know to the contrary, and this is kept up with the assistance of newspapers in Sheffield, London and elsewhere, which deem it consistent with their duty to publish these advertisements—though their doubtful nature are known to every pressman.

"People are also found who, with only the slightest knowledge of the business, will allow themselves to be used as references, and thereby assist in the trapping of other victims. A correspondence was handed to me the other day, in which a Mr. Scales of Queen Victoria-street and Sidecup, and a Mr. Lewis of Richmond-road, Cardiff, the testify to their confidence in the firm of Aspdin & Co. I doubt not that both of them speak honestly and conscientiously according to their knowledge and experience, but I am sure that, as honest amd conscientious gentlemen, if they knew all that appeared in Truth about Aspdin & Co., they would regret having given these people even the mildest recommendations."

A Chance for the Government.

Tha recent issue of The London Advertiser (Ontario) I find it stated that the Dominion High Commissioner in England is contemplating steps to have 'farm pupil' swindlers put down. It strikes me that such steps should be taken by the Canadian Government on the other side of the water; but there can be no question that steps there can be no question that steps.

"About two years ago a great deal of space was devoted in Truth to a concern called the Anglo-Canadian Farm Pupil Association, run by one Hawden of Sheffield, one Aspdin of Tewksbury, and a queer sort of a Doctor-of-Divinity, named Moore, of Various addresses in Ontario. The facts set forth in Truth coupled with the absolute silence of the three individuals concerned should amply suffice to show the danger which any parent incurred by entrusting his sons to the Anglo-Canadian gang, and the folly of paying premiums to such people.

ought to be taken on one or other. The mere circulation of official warning against farm pupil agents is clearly not enough. It is not possible to declare the whole business illegal; it would be quite practicable to require all these agents to take out licenses, and, so far as I can see, if this were done, at present who would be likely to obtain a license, or, at any rate, to retain it long.

FIRMING'S CONFIDENCE.

THE MING'S CONFIDENCE. "If the High Commissioner has any better plan in view, I shall be glad to hear it; but when we have a man like Pointing, who, if he had his deserts, would have gone to jail a year ago, engaged in this trade, it is clear that the time has come for something to be at the Auditorium on Friday.
